AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

GOOD EVIDENCE FOR A DEMOCRATIC VOTER.—In Ward One, on the morning of election, before the opening of the polls, a prominent lawyer of our city and a resident in that ward, sought to lace on the check-list the name of a friend of foreign birth, who, he claimed, was a nataralized citizen. The selectmen desired to see the papers, and with an air of triumph and with a look which spoke a whole volume of Pages, he presented them. The smile which illuminated the benign countenance of the chairman of the selectmen was scarce reflected by the worthy lawyer, when the papers proved to be an exemption from draft, during the rebellion, of the would-be democratic voter.

Leave Portsmouth at 9, 11, A. M., 12.15, 1.45, 3, 4-45, 6, 9.30 10, P. M. Sundays, leave Yard at 9.30, 10, A. M., 12.30, P. M., returning at 9.45, A. M., 12.15, 12.45, P. M. ON THE WRONG TRACK.—Having occasion to go to Boston last Saturday, I went; and not having attended to my business until it was too late to do anything about it, I decided to leave it undone—went to the Eastern Railroad depot, jumped into a train that was just starting, and (sweetly anticipating the pleasures I was to enjoy from keeping my Saturday and Sunday evening engagements,) was soon in a peaceful slumber. I was aroused by the conductor shouting, "Danversport."

"Hallo! Conductor," I called; "where's Danversport?" "Here 'tis—outside o' this car; all round here." "Well, where am I going, then?" "Don't know, I'm sure; don't you?" "No; I want to go to Portsmouth, if I can." "You can't—not to-night; you're on the wrong track. But there is a train back there will take you to Salem, if you can catch it, and you may catch a freight train there to Newburyport."

I jumped off the down train and managed to catch the other, and was soon back in Salem. No train went any further east than Beverly that night, I was told; but I was bound to get as near home as possible, so I took the Beverly train, and got out at that place about 9 o'clock at night. I walked along the street for some distance, and then asked a passer-by, "where's there a hotel, sir?" "In Salem!" was the answer. "But I mean here." "No hotel in Beverly, sir." "Well, ain't there a hay-stack, or a tree with soft moss under it, somewhere 'round?" "No; no convenience of any kind for lodging travellers. You'll have to go to Salem."

Here was a pretty go. Saturday evening engagement gone up, a cold, bleak night, last train gone, man awful hungry, hour late, and no hotel! But I was determined not to go back to Salem, so I hunted all my pockets for money. Newspaper men will at once suppose that my search was fruitless; but it was not, for I found no less than $4.80, in scrip, nickel and copper. With that lot in my hand, I boldly knocked at the first door I came to; and when a big man opened unto me, I said, "I want to stop here to-night; I've got lots o' money—look here;" and I tempted his cupidity with the $4.80. He looked at me a moment, remarked "You'd better leave," and slammed the door; on which I did leave.

As wealth seemed to have no effect on the Beverly people, I concluded (as I knocked at the door of the next house) to try the pathetic; so I addressed the woman who answered my knock, as follows: "O! madam—dear, dear madam, have pity on a poor orphan single gentleman, who has got no one to love nor to caress, no money, no grub, no come-from, no belong-to—whose children are all gone to sea and whose wife deserted him because he lost both arms and both legs in our cruel war by the explosion of a shell, which also unsettled his intellect and made him deaf and dumb and averse to work—have pity, and just let us have a feather bed anywhere in your best chamber, and virtue will be its own reward." She observed, somewhat tartly, "You'd better book it with your blatherin', you swindlin' rascal;" and then that door was shut, too.

The next door I knocked at the man was drunk, and offered to either fight me or play me a game of euchre; but the fourth house was hospitable, and took me in. Sunday morning I got a team and drove home—didn't I have to pay for it, too? But I don't care—I kept my Sunday evening engagement; that's something.

I have found much sympathy among my friends. Lord James Zephyr told me that he heard that some Portsmouth man was "on a nice little rinktum in Boston, Saturday;" Wye Tasche enquired if the track was not unusually crooked that day; and Mr. Sandwood kindly undertook to excuse my little mistake by saying that they "do sell some awful stuff in Boston—bad enough to make a man do anything." I do not understand what they mean, and besides, I scorn their insinuations. My misfortune was solely owing to the demoralization of the railroad—for when the six o'clock train to Portsmouth starts at twenty minutes to six and goes to Gloucester, it's enough to make any man go astray. I was never too early at any place before, and never will be again; it don't pay. PAKEHA.

☞ A Washington despatch says: It is understood that the administration has commenced a correspondence with the British government relative to the international differences on the Newfoundland fishery question.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT. — Mr. Caleb Woodbury, conductor on the Eastern Railroad, while passing under the new iron bridge at Somerville, Mass., was struck in the head by a post and seriously injured.

☞ The situation in France remains unchanged, but important events are evidently near at hand. The Army of the Loire is watching for an opportunity to attack the Germans at such a time and place as will enable Gen. Trochu to co-operate. The German generals continue to call in their troops north, south and west of Paris, preparatory to battles which are likely to be fought at an early day between armies larger than any that have been yet engaged during the war.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Shall Nature Be Sustained?

To give debilitating medicines to the weak is about as sensible as it would be to try to help a man to his feet by kicking him when he was down.

That sort of practice is going out of fashion. It has filled so many graveyards that people no longer believe in it.

If those who are not strong by nature expect to avoid the attacks of disease, they must endeavor to acquire the vigor necessary to resist it.

How is this to be done? Common sense suggests by the use of invigorating medicine.

The great object is to STRENGTHEN THE SYSTEM WITHOUT EXCITING IT.

This object is accomplished by the judicious use of the most potent and genial of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Many valuable properties are combined in this preparation. It improves the appetite and renders digestion easy and perfect.

It gives steadiness to the nerves, induces a healthy, natural flow of bile; prevents constipation without unduly purging the bowels; gently stimulates the circulation, and by promoting a vigorous condition of the physical system, promotes, also, that cheerfulness which is the truest indication of a well-balanced condition of all the animal powers.

Summer leaves both the body and the mind more or less exhausted. Now is the time to restore them, and thus forestall the future fevers and other complaints which prostrate so many thousands every Fall.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to buildings one year ago, thereby saving ourselves, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

which are for sale at the Freedom Notice—Hiram P. Beede.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION was a tame affair. The question of voting aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad was carried by a large majority, the general interest in its success precluding any extensive opposition. The Republicans had "Yes" printed on their ballots in each Ward, as did the Democrats of Wards One and Two. The Democratic slow coaches of Ward Three went to the polls with no printed answer on their tickets. They care little for improvement, morally, physically, intellectually, or in a business way. They prefer the old Democratic days of stage coaches and last year's news. The less informed people are, the more Democratic they remain. Ruts and rubbish, tumble-down houses, a departed glory, a grave-yard stillness best represent thee, oh! Democracy of Sebastopol.

In Ward Two, the Democrats had the name of Geo. L. Treadwell, Esq., on their ticket, for Alderman, and a bogus Republican ticket was circulated with Aldermen Marvin's name left off and Mr. Treadwell's in its place. Mr. Marvin who was unanimously nominated at the Republican caucus, was chosen by a plurality of 32 votes, about 90 Republicans supporting Mr. Treadwell.

The result of the voting in the city is the re-election of Mayor Adams, by a plurality of 280 votes. Last year there were 1562 votes cast; this year 1571. The Board of Aldermen will be composed of 6 Republicans and 2 Democrats, and the Council will have 8 Republicans and 3 Democrats.

The result of the balloting on the question of aiding the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad will be gratifying to all who desire to see the Road built. Portsmouth gives 1035 majority in the affirmative.

Communication.

EXETER, Nov. 22.

Messrs. Editors: You say in your issue of Oct. 29th "the Chronicle has expressed no preference for a Congressional candidate," and therein you have the company of most of the Republicans of Rockingham County.

You include in your list the name of W. H. Y. Hackett, and the wonder to me is that the name had not been mentioned before. If to be the architect of his own fortune,—if a long life of honesty, of high character in his profession, if large experience in officirl and legislative life, if financial standing, if the maturity of age, added to the vigor of manhood, and the vivacity of youth, if to be well known and favorably considered by all the people in the State where he had his birth and has spent his active and useful life, if these, and all of these combined make a proper candidate for Governor, let him take the field. EARNEST REPUBLICAN.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—Permit me through your columns to call the attention of the Republicans of this city to the near approach of the time for the selection of delegates to the various Conventions. The Ward Committees have called the caucuses for Friday evening of this week, three weeks before the meeting of the Congressional Convention. Let the friends of a Portsmouth candidate agree on lists of delegates that can be presented at these meetings and represent the masses of our Republican voters.

☞ Sagamore's boys have a grand Ball to-night at Congress Hall. They know how to conduct such an affair, (and are also good at fires, and understand chowder muchly,) and all who go will have a good time. Their adv't will be found in another column.

☞ G. H. Jenness advertises a good time at his Saloon at Rye. All warriors and carriers of the bow and spear, tomahawk and pop gun are invited, to help out the Thanksgiving festivities.

☞ The Congressional candidacy seems to have resulted in two cliques in this city—Ela and anti-Ela. If the opponents of Mr. Ela wish to defeat him, they must combine speedily.

GETTING READY FOR THANKSGIVING. One of our neighbors "pi'ed ten columns of type on Tuesday. A more provoking accident cannot be imagined in a printing office.

☞ Poultry has been plentiful of late. Chickens were selling for 20 cts. per lb., and turkeys for 25 to 28 cts. per lb., on Tuesday. Thanksgiving comes apace.

☞ Leslie & Locke's theatrical company will provide lots of fun for the audiences at the Temple, Thanksgiving afternoon and evening.

☞ Somebody in the Washington Republican names Hon. John Lynch of Portland for President. B'ha'a!

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA, Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul. NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION —OF THE— FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO ALL WHO WEAR ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use DR. STRAIT'S "PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE." With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of eating, coughing, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

'Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon Dr. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

GOODALL'S "SPRING PLATE,"

For Partial Sets of teeth has been highly successful. The demand for it constantly increasing.

DR. STRAIT'S "FLEXIBLE EDGE"

Can be applied to Goodall's Spring Plate, With Complete Success.

DR. GOODALL will be happy to give particular information concerning the above, to his Patients and the Public, and to solicit the most difficult cases to prove what he has stated.

Concluded from first page.

plied I suppose," said she turning her back on Mr. Burch, and looking intently into the heart of a calla-lily.

"That depends on you," he said.

"On me!" exclaimed Sallie, facing him now; "how can that be?"

"Because unless you consent to marry me yourself, I shall still remain single."

"Impossible!" said she.

"Have I presumed too much?" he asked, regarding her earnestly.

"I meant impossible that you could think of me," stammered simple Sallie, blushing rosily.

"But seeing that it is not impossible—what then?"

"Why then—"

"I shall fill up the blank to suit myself," said he bending lower, and taking her hands in his, but to his surprise she drew back.

"There are some things that may cause you to alter your mind," she said.

"Well?" said he, and waited for what else she had to say next.

"I have been engaged before," she said.

"I know it."

"To your foreman."

"I know it."

"I have two old people dependent on my care."

"I know it."

"And I can never leave them."

"And I never wish you to. It was hearing of your devotion to them, that first led me to seek your acquaintance. I know so dutiful a daughter must make a true and faithful wife, and so I set myself to the task of winning your affections. Have I succeeded?"

Sallie was again wrapped in contemplation of the calla lilly. But Mr. Burch was a man who was not to be put off with any evasions, so he repeated, "Have I succeeded?"

"Yes," said Sallie.

Then he kissed her, as it was high time he should do, and said a great many lack-a-daisical things to her, of which this is one:

I won't say that your personal graces had no effect upon me, but then I must have loved you if you had been as gaunt and grim as—"

"Mrs. Burdock," suggested Sallie. Both laughed, and he finished his sentence—"instead of the sweetest little lady in all the world as you are."

So Mr. Burch fulfilled the prediction of Mrs. Burdock, and brought a wife to Riverbank, but that good woman was sorely disappointed that the expected "Queen of Sheby" should turn out to be nobody but little Sallie Deering.

Mr. and Mrs. Deering were very happy in their new home, nor do I think their son in-law ever regarded them as a burden or wished them away, for he was more than once heard to remark—"There is nothing which gives such dignity to a house as the presence of serene old age."

No special misfortune befel David Morrison, and the world called him a prosperous man, yet when sometimes vexed to the soul by a vain, frivolous and heartless wife, he thinks of one whose steadfast spirit might have been his stay and comfort.

And sometimes, when returning home at evening, he fancies that he sees standing on his threshold in the crimson light of the setting sun, a figure with one hand raised to Heaven, and these are the words it utters:

"And David, when you shut me out of your life and home because I refuse to break the fifth commandment, take care that you do not shut out God's blessing at the same time."

—In Charlotte Bronte's recently published letters she thus expressed her views regarding marriage: "Do not be over-persuaded to marry a man you can never respect—I do not say love; because, I think, if you can respect a person before marriage, moderate love, at least, will come after; and as to intense passion, I am convinced that is no desirable feeling. In the first place, it seldom or never meets with a requital; and, in the second place, if it did, the feeling would only be temporary, it would last the honeymoon, and then, perhaps, give place to disgust. Certainly, this would be the case on the man's part; and on the woman's—God help her if she is left to love passionately and alone."

—A hymn book lately published makes an attempt to combine an index of authors, and an index first lines, occasionally abbreviating the latter to save space, with some very curious results. References are given to:

"Do not wound the heart that loves—Dexter Smith."

"Have ye heard the beautiful—Amanda T. Jones."

"Oh, I love the sparkling—Mrs. Cora Daniels."

"We come, we come from—Hudson Tuttle."

☞ At The November terms of the Jefferson County, Kentucky, circuit court, sixteen murder cases came up, and in addition to these, there are a number of others not acted upon.

☞ At Mauch Chunk, Penn., Enos Snyder, while attempting to shoot a cat, accidently discharged the revolver; the contents entered his heart, killing him instantly.

—J. J. McElhone, shorthand reporter of the Washington Globe, says it is said, write with both hands at the same time, the left taking notes and the right transcribing. He is said to be the only man in the world who can do this.

—Mrs. James Nolan, of Indiana, is asking for her seventh divorce.

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.
THE ETNA
is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

A KENTUCKY COON HUNT.

The sharp bark of a dog could be faintly detected, though, as it seemed, at a great distance, almost out of hearing.

"Don't ye hear old Loub? She's treed a coon shure. Yer can trust dat dog all de time, an' he'll nebber tole yer a lie," exclaimed the enthusiastic contraband.

The distance was so great, and the yelp of the dog so obstructed by the hills, that some trouble was at first experienced in locating the direction from which the sound came. Leaping to our feet and straining every faculty of hearing, we were finally convinced that it was up the ravine to the front. Then began a scramble over rocks, bushes, briers, into gullies, over narrow ledges, up steep banks and through pools of water in the exciting chase. Onward we went at rapid pace, every moment hearing the quick yelps of Loup growing clearer and louder and more musical at every step. The blood coursed through the veins with swifter speed, the pulse beat quicker, and we cheered with the loudest as it became more and more evident from the round notes of Loup that she had treed some "varmint" of the four-footed species. Then came the vigorous yelps of Fifer as he joined his mate and sent up his echoing cry.

Turning a sharp point, bursting through a clump of grape vines and saplings, and climbing the sharp side of a hill, we came upon the half-frantic dogs at the foot of a tall, but rather slender, ash tree. The bark had been half-stripped from the roots by the teeth of the hounds that seemed thus to vent their rage towards their nimble enemy, whose sharp claws had conveyed him out of their reach. The vicinity was thick with under-growth of hickory saplings, grape vines and oak bushes. Whatever animal might be in the tree above was concealed by the bushy top whose shadows were only here and there pierced by the starlight.

Without hesitation the climbing George attacked the tree and went up like a squirrel. The dogs hushed their yelps and stood eagerly gazing upward. We stationed ourselves around the tree at different points, ready to pursue the chase when the animal should leap out.

Up and up went the climber until he seemed really small and almost hid. The top of the tree now began to sway with the new and unusual weight.

"Da he is! I see him! O yer gray-headed old coon! I know yer! Ya, ya, ya! Way up in de top, like yer 'spected we couldn't find yer. Bress yer heart, honey, we done come arter yer. Dey waitin for yer below dar. Come out o' dar, now, you ringtailed varmint!" With such ejaculations the contraband, who had discovered the coon in the top branches, began to shake him loose.

"Look out, down dar! He mos' loose. Sumthin' drap d'rectly and then skedaddle. O yer ole pisen critter, dem dogs takin' yer pictur for to carry home! Da' he cum!"

A black spot suddenly darkened the air, a whizzing rush, then a blow on the ground, and with wild yells, mingled with the yelps of the dogs, we made for the place where the coon had fallen. He had gathered himself up and made off through the bushes, with the dogs in hot pursuit. Back and forth for a few moments the chase led, when finding that he was in close quarters, the coon again treed in a tall oak. Up again went his pursuer to the top, where he found him nestled in the branches. Again he shook him out. Hardly had his coonship touched the earth when Loup was upon him, grasping him by the back. The other dogs rushed in.

Then the fight. Through the bushes, down the hill, over logs and weeds, in the fence corners and out again, fought and growled, and scratched, and yelled the coon and dogs, while we made the air vocal with words of encouragement and wild excitement. The coon was true grit, a fifteen-pound fellow, and tough as leather.

"Hole him, Loup! shake him, ole gal!" shouted the delighted darkey Josh.

"Catch him by the ears, Fifer! make him into sassidge-meat!" yelled Yellow Sam.

"Hooray! dat's it, dat terrier know what he's about! jes hear him tar de ribs," said the third contraband.

For full ten minutes the tearing fight went on. The coon had the odds against him, but he was game to the end. The yells, the howls, the confusion, the frantic struggles, the smashing of bushes and briers were awful; but finally tenacity and courage gave way, and that old coon was laid out. The hunt was over.

—A public meeting was held recently in a room used as a printing office for the Stockton (Mo.) Tribune, and the table on which the forms were lying was needed by the secretary. The gentleman, finding that the forms were heavy and decidedly unhandy to lift, said he "supposed the printers wanted to save their types," and accordingly brushed the "matter" off the table into a box. We can imagine the publisher's feelings on being acquainted with the fact.

7 PER CENT. GOLD
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ISSUED BY THE
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co,
The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds, while the balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 30 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, runnings it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4¼ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9¼ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease was apparently settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the emergencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THURSDAY, NOV. 24, 1870.

THE ANNUAL THANKSGIVING returns with favorable opportunities for its observance. Families will gather again to join in the festivities around the hearthstones which from childhood have been the dearest spots on earth. Happy greetings will be theirs and joyous reunions will mark the day which has become a National holiday. The people of this country have cause for thanks to the Ruler of all things for exemption from the great troubles that other nations are afflicted with, and the individual who can find nothing to thank his Creator for in the year just passed must be indeed an unhappy mortal. While enjoying the blessings received let not any forget from whence they came.

WAR NOTES.—Parties have arrived lately at Versailles on the hopeless mission to effect an armistice — hopeless because the provisioning of Paris is made one of these conditions.

The French succeeded on Monday in driving a thousand Prussians into Belgium, where they were promptly disarmed. Several French successes of little importance are reported.

Balloon intelligence from Paris reports the city quiet, horse-flesh abundant and the people courageous.

The World's correspondent admits that De Paladine's strategy is understood at Versailles, and has been met by a counter movement on the part of the Prussians.

Garibaldi's army is reported to be in excellent spirits.

The latest report is that the plans have been changed so that Prince Frederick Charles is to march to the aid of the armies surrounding Paris.

Bismark denies that Switzerland is compromised by the correspondence found in captured balloons.

Russia denies the purchase of any iron-clads. Later dispatches intimate that Gortschakoff's reply to England is of a most pacific character; that he was a little awed at the firm reply of England; and that everything will be satisfactorily settled without war.

New Hampshire Items.

Corn is selling in Concord for about $1 a bushel and hay for about $28 a ton.

On Saturday 12,550 pounds of poultry were shipped from Wolfeboro', and 4,830 pounds from Centre Harbor.

Concord had a "corner" in eggs last week. The price was run up to 50 cents, but the hens got ahead of the operators on Sunday, and on Monday the "ring" was broken and the price fell to 35 cents.

John R. Yarney, Esq., one of the editors of the Dover Inquirer, has been appointed Register of Probate for Strafford county. Glad of it.

Conductor Aborn of the Boston & Maine railroad had a young waif mysteriously put upon him at Dover last week, with a request that he would leave it at the home for little wanderers in Boston. The humane and obliging Aborn at once telegraphed Superintendent Merritt as follows:

"Please have an officer to take charge of an infant boy, six months old, on arrival of the train in Boston. It don't belong to me. (Signed) Aborn."

The child is now a happy and contented inmate of Baldwin place.

A FARMER'S MEETING will be held at Concord, Nov. 29th and 30th inst., under authority of the Board of Agriculture, to discuss various topics connected with Agriculture. Senator Patterson, Congressman Ela, Hon. Simon Brown, and others will make addresses. Railroads leading out of Concord, and their branches, will return, free, persons who attend the meeting.

☞ Gus Fristram, a notorious thief, who served five years in prison for the $200,000 robbery of the Adams Express car on the New Haven railroad in 1863, has been sent to Sing Sing for 20 years, for burglary.

☞ The P. M. L. A. Concert, Tuesday evening, was largely attended, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, and gave general satisfaction.

☞ It is reported that Spanish emissaries have gone to Cuba to make arrangements to permit the island to become independent.

☞ The Democrats of Boston have nominated Hon. William Gaston for Mayor.

New Publications Received.

The Lady's Friend for December; this holiday number is one of the best ever issued. The steel-plate, "Olive Plants," is a pretty domestic scene; the beautiful frontispiece, "Sorrow Under the Sun," is a romance in itself; the colored "Pattern for a Slipper" furnishes just the design for a holiday present; and the colored Fashion Plate, as usual, is unsurpassed. We like the wood-cut—"An Idyl on the Ice," and the patterns for dresses, winter wraps, &c., are uncommonly elegant. Great inducements are offered to new subscribers. $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving). Published by Deacon & Peterson, Philadelphia. Sample copies sent gratis.

COUGHS AND COLDS; or, the Prevention, Cause and cure of Various Affections of the Throat; with Cases Illustrating the Remarkable Efficacy of Out Door Activity and Horseback Exercise, in Permanently Arresting the Progress of Diseases of the Chest. New York: Published by Hurd and Houghton. Cambridge Riverside Press, 1870.

Such is the title page of a 12mo vol. of 362 pages, just issued, from the pen of Dr. W. W. Hall, whose fame as a writer on hygienic subjects has been national for years. At this time, when coughs and colds are so frequent, this volume is a timely guide to the afflicted. How often and how many of our readers have been troubled with a tickling sensation at the little hollow at the bottom of the neck in front. Says the author in his preface to the book under notice: "Sometimes this tickling disappears of itself in a week, a day, an hour. Sometimes it lasts a score or two of years, as in bronchitis, without seeming to shorten life. Then again, if it always comes on in the morning, not necessarily at other times, with two or three other symptoms, it means consumption begun, and death within two years, on an average.—The object of this book is to show how to ascertain the character of these ticklings in the throat, in their beginnings, and to point out the unmedicinal means of alleviation, eradication and cure, in all curable cases." It is the work of a lifelong student of his subject; and should merit the attention of all seeking reliable information on this special subject. Price $1.50. For sale by Foster Shores & Co.

The Atlantic Monthly for December. Harriet Beecher Stowe has a pleasant article on Oldtown Fireside Stories; Bayard Taylor continues Joseph and His Friend; John G. Whittier contributes a poem, The Prayer Seeker; and H. H. tells of the Miracle Play of 1870 at Bethlehem, N. H. Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. $4 per annum.

The Uses of Wines in Health and Disease by Francis E. Anstil, M. D., F. R. C. P. Published by Hurd & Houghton, Cambridge, Mass. A valuable and interesting book of 84 pages. For sale by Foster Shores & Co.

The Riverside Magazine announces its discontinuance with the December number. It unites with Scribner's Magazine. The closing number is a good one. Scribner's Magazine is furnished at $3 per annum.

Collection of "Crazy" Contributions to a country journal, &c., indicating the coming man-form nation, or "Kingdom of Heaven" on Earth. Being a natural successor to the republic of the United States of North America. A point of difference, consisting in a representation of classes instead of localities. Also, a discovery of the human soul, by national correspondence. By Robert Sinnickson. Printed and published by the author at Salem, New Jersey.

Our Young Folks for December has the conclusion of "We Girls," and seven or eight other articles that will be read, besides "Our Young Contributors," etc. The January number, which begins a new volume, will be "a sumptuous holiday number."

The November part of Oliver Optic's Magazine has come to hand, and is filled with its usual number of excellent illustrations, and entertaining reading. This is the only magazine in the country which is published in weekly and monthly parts, thus giving readers a choice of weekly installments of Oliver Optic's stories, or a large amount of them once a month. It is an excellent magazine. Lee & Shepard, Publishers, Boston. $2.50 a year.

The Nursery for December has more than its usual large number of nice illustrations, which please old and young. This number closes the eight volume, and the publisher, John L. Shorey, Boston, proposes to make it better next year than ever before, if it is possible. It should go to every family of children.

The United States Patent Laws, with instructions how to obtain Patents, is the title of a work of 112 pages, sent by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

☞ The English yacht Cambria has arrived at Cowes, after a rough passage.

☞ The steamer City of Bridgeton was burned to the water's edge at Philadelphia Tuesday morning; loss $65,000, and one passenger is missing. Linseed oil works at Brunswick, N. J., were burned on Saturday night, causing a loss of $140,000.

☞ Chief-Engineer Mortimer Kellogg of the iron clad Terror was killed at Key West, Tuesday, in a quarrel, by Surgeon William M. King of the Dictator. King was arrested by the civil authorities on a verdict by the coroner's jury.

☞ It is rumored that a movement is on foot to have Gen. Butler appointed Secretary of State.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IT IS AN ESTABLISHED FACT, that Consumption can be cured; but it is far better to prevent the cruel disease from fastening itself on the system, by the timely use of a remedy like Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. This standard preparation will speedily cure a cough or cold, and even Consumption often yields to its great power.

Thieves! KNAVES!! SWINDLERS!!! These are mild terms with which to designate those mean cotemporaries and imitators who have been induced by the high reputation which Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has won, to put up and offer for sale a worthless imitation of this celebrated medicine. Remember that Dr. R. V. Pierce's private Stamp, which is the only Positive Guarantee of Genuineness, should be on every package. This private Stamp, issued by the U. S. Government expressly for stamping Dr. Pierce's medicines, has upon it his portrait, name and address, and the words U. S. Certificate of Genuineness." Don't get swindled by men calling themselves Dr. Sage; Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y, is the only man now living that has the right and can make the original Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Shall Nature Be Sustained?

To give debilitating medicines to the weak is about as sensible as it would be to try to help a man to his feet by kicking him when he was down.

That sort of practice is going out of fashion. It has filled so many graveyards that people no longer believe in it.

If those who are not strong by nature expect to avoid the attacks of disease, they must endeavor to acquire the vigor necessary to resist it.

How is this to be done? Common sense suggests by the use of invigorating medicine.

The great object is to STRENGTHEN THE SYSTEM WITHOUT EXCITING IT.

This object is accomplished by the judicious use of the most potent and genial of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Many valuable properties are combined in this preparation. It improves the appetite and renders digestion easy and perfect.

It gives steadiness to the nerves, induces a healthy, natural flow of bile; prevents constipation without unduly purging the bowels; gently stimulates the circulation, and by promoting a vigorous condition of the physical system, promotes, also, that cheerfulness which is the truest indication of a well-balanced condition of all the animal powers.

Summer leaves both the body and the mind more or less exhausted. Now is the time to recruit them, and thus forestall the malarious fevers and other complaints which prostrate so many thousands every Fall.

GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Melrose Park and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less inclined to take cold since than when there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of cold, invalids east of the Alleghanies, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average fifty patients a week. As a physician so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of victims yearly. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and thinks that unless the patient is walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a fever may exist, when the Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach, so as to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good digestion; and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by healthy action of the lungs, when the cough loosens and ceases, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided the aforesaid rules are followed.

Now, there are many consumptives who have the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regular by the aid of the means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The foregoing stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have a purpleish tint to your face, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a strong cold, and the too free influence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat what you please, pork, green pears, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in sunny situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who with a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But it is better it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicine, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

The Congressional Candidacy.

A few days since we stated that laying aside the question of a candidate in this city for the Republican nomination for the First District, we had no preference among the contestants. A Portsmouth man had been mentioned for the position, but it was not known that he was seriously a candidate, and "if Mr. Emery wants the nomination, Portsmouth will try for him."

There are men in this city who would represent their constituency ably and faithfully. Such are Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, Hon. Marcellus Bufford, Hon. Wm. H. Y. Hackett, Hon. Horton D. Walker, Hon. John H. Bailey and others—all well and favorably known. But none of these gentlemen have indicated their intention to enter the lists against the candidates already in the field.

The caucuses for the choice of delegates will be held on Friday evening of this week, and we understand that the name of JAMES W. EMERY, Esq., will be presented for the endorsement of his fellow Republicans, among whom he was an enthusiastic worker years ago. We hope the Republicans of the various wards will unite in sending delegations which will present the claims of Mr. Emery as the candidate of Portsmouth. He is an active business man, in full sympathy with the Republican party, is right on the vital issues which divide the parties of the day and if nominated will be faithful to the interests of his constituents.

Mr. Emery has frequently represented Ward One in the Legislature and was an acknowledged leader in the House, where he had no superior as a parliamentarian or legislator. During an absence of several years from Portsmouth he has engaged in extensive railroad operations in which his untiring energy and business qualities have led to success. Since his return, he has not been prominently before the people until now, when his friends, recognizing his capabilities and the need of his services, propose to put him on the Congressional track, with the conviction that his extensive business acquaintance and his soundness on matters of public importance will aid in acquiring an influence in Congress which is needed by a Representative who has the interests of his constituency to care for. We urge all friends of Mr. Emery to be at the caucuses on Friday evening at half past 7 o'clock.

THE PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.—Erroneous ideas are held by some of our citizens in the matter of the proposed aid to the P. & D. R. R. The city is not asked to take any stock by the issue of bonds, but is expected to guarantee the interest on the amount of stock to be voted. After the completion of the road, the stock may be disposed of to individuals and the city relieved from any responsibility of guaranteeing interest. The purpose of voting the aid requested is to lead capitalists to invest in the stock with the surety of receiving interest on their investment.

☞ The Ball at Congress Hall, given by Sagamore S. F. Engine Co. No. 2, Wednesday night, was the occasion of a decidedly good time to the pleasure-seekers present, who were numerous enough for pleasant dancing, though the number was less than on former occasions. The chowder at the engine house was perfect, and the dancing lasted till a late (or early) hour. Twos don't do anything by halves, and their guests are always made at home, —tho' they don't always get home very early.

☞ We presume there will be no opposition at the Republican caucuses, Friday evening, to delegates who will advocate the nomination of Hon. HORTON D. WALKER of this city for Governor. The sentiment of our citizens points unmistakably that way.

☞ Mr. David Rodrick has his Hair Dressing Room in the Franklin House Reading Room. A door has been cut through, west of the entrance to the House, and the Room is tastily fitted. Mr. Rodrick is now prepared for a rush of his old customers.

☞ Kate Reignolds' Dramatic Troupe give two entertainments to-day—afternoon and evening. Miss Reignolds is a fine actress; and well supported; and two good audiences will probably assemble at the Temple to witness their performances.

☞ We shall publish no Daily Chronicle to-morrow, as there are fifteen persons connected with this establishment who propose to observe Thanksgiving properly.

SOMETHING FOR THANKSGIVING.—Our streets on Wednesday contained many juvenile pedestrians, mostly with baskets on their arms, who moved quickly from house to house with the stereotyped enquiry, "What'll you please to give me for Thanksgiving?" The near approach of the great New England family festival, with its associations of reunion and social joys, let us hope so warmed the hearts and opened the hands of the more fortunate to their less favored fellows that the applicants' baskets were filled,—and that for to-day, at least, while long-sundered family circles are once again united and happy meetings between friends and acquaintances enable many to feast in gladness and with praise, want and hunger may be banished from our midst, and all have cause to feel that thanksgiving is indeed due Him who ruleth over all things.

If any one there is, who, with abundance of this world's goods, desires yet other cause of thankfulness,—let such an one hunt out a poor neighbor and hand in a nice turkey with trimmings to match, or send to some poor family a barrel of flour or a load of wood, and see how much better the dinner at home will taste for the experiment,—how much brighter the sun will shine and how much happier the world will seem. Try it—it is a safe way to invest a dollar, and yields a large return. Never mind if there are imposters in the world; do not let fear of them deprive you of one of the purest and most unselfish of human joys,—the pleasure of helping others. "He that giveth to the poor lendeth unto the Lord."

☞ Messrs. Parker & Pettigrew today serve up a nice Thanksgiving Dinner, at their Ladd Street Dining Rooms, for the benefit of those who may desire such accommodation—and for their own. Their patrons will find the food they offer well prepared and neatly served.

☞ An election will be held in Ward Two on Friday at 9 o'clock, A. M., to fill vacancies in the Common Council, caused by the declination of Messrs. Thomas Lewis and Robert C. Sides, Jr.

☞ Schooner Celia, Downs, arrived with seven tons of fish, Wednesday afternoon, after being out only forty-eight hours. This is a catch hard to beat.

☞ The Social Assembly at Irving Hall takes places this week on Friday evening, as usual, and not on Thursday evening, as erroneously announced.

☞ An order has been received at the Navy Yard to reduce the force now employed there about 50 per cent.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The components parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO ALL WHO WEAR

ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

DR. STRAIT'S

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, coughing, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

'Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at a short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

GOODALL'S "SPRING PLATE,"

For Partial Sets of teeth has been highly successful. The demand for it constantly increasing.

DR. STRAIT'S "FLEXIBLE EDGE"

Can be applied to

Goodall's Spring Plate,

With Complete Success.

DR. GOODALL will be happy to give particular information concerning the above, to his Patients and Public, and he solicits the most difficult cases to prove what he has stated.

KATIE'S LETTER.

Och, girls dear, did you ever hear, I wrote my love a letter,
And although he cannot read, sure I thought 'twas all the better;
For why should he be puzzled wid hard spelling in the matter,
When the meaning was so plain that I love him faithfully.

I love him faithfully,
And he knows it, oh, he knows it! widout one word from me.

I wrote it, and I folded it, and put a seal upon it;
'Twas a seal almost as big as the crown of my best bonnet;
For I would not have the Postmaster make his remarks upon it,
And I said inside the letter that I loved him faithfully.

I love him faithfully,
And he knows it, oh, he knows it! widout one word from me.

My heart was full, but when I wrote, I dared not put the half in,
The neighbors know I love him, and they're mighty fond of chaffing;
So I dared not write his name outside, for fear they would be laughing,
So I wrote "From little Kate to one whom she loves faithfully."

I love him faithfully,
And he knows it, oh, he knows it; widout one word from me.

Now, girls, would you believe it, that Postman, so consaited,
No answer will he bring me, so long as I have waited;
But maybe there mayn't be one, for the raison that I stated,
That my love can neither read nor write, but he loves me faithfully.

He loves me faithfully,
And I know where'er my love is, that he is true to me.

THE "COMING MAN" MARRIES THE "COMING" WOMAN.—The Virginia City (Nevada) Enterprise gives the following account of a marriage ceremony in that city, uniting two Celestials, who desired to be married in true American style. The knot was effectually tied in the "Pigeon English" dialect:

Yesterday forenoon a gallus-looking Celestial, with a well-oiled tail, hanging down to his heels, followed by a robust specimen of the Flowery Kingdom, with her hair dressed a la fan-tailed pigeon, came to Justice Ellis' court-room to be married "Melican" style.

"You have got license, John?" asked the Judge.

"Yes me hab got," answered John, "me got one cote housee, one law man, me heap catchee license."

"Well you likee me marry you Melican fashion?"

"Yes, likee all same one Melican man."

"You got any wife now, John?"

John, astonished. "No; me no hab got one wifee. Me likee catchee one wifee; me likee catchee him," pointing to the almond-eyed female at his side.

"Are you married?" asked the Judge of the Celestial: "you got one man?"

"No; me no got one man. Me one man China country—he come die one time."

"Well, all right. What's your name John?"

"Me namee Su-u-ung Fung."

"What? Some Fun?"

"No; me namee Su-u-o-ng Fu-o-ng."

"Oh! Sing Fung! Well, what's her name—the woman's?"

"Who, him? Him name Ho-ye Go-ye."

"Hoy Goy! All right, you stand up here. Take her by the hand John. No; stand this way. Not that hand; this hand. Now, John, what's your name?"

"Me namee Su-u-ung Fung."

"Now, John—Sung Fung, you takee him woman — what you callee him name John."

"Callee him Ho-ye Go-ye."

"You takee him, Hoy Goy, to be your wife, and promise to keep her heap good; heap plenty ricee give her eatee, no kick her; be good man all time, hey?"

John—"You bet me belly good man, Judge. Me no kick him plentee."

Judge—"Now, you here, Hog Eye, or whatever your other name is—you takee him to be your man, be one belly good wifee to him all time; no run away; cook him ricee all time—bet your life?"

Hoy Goy—"Me one belly good woman; cookee um ricee; no lun away all the time; stay housee allee time—bully wifee me."

Judge—"All rightee. Me plentee power; me big mandarin—two swordee man—me tellee you all one piecee—one piecee man, one piecee wifee. Plenty fix, all done. John, money—sabe?"

John paid up, but was determined (so pleased to find himself married "Melican" fashion) to have a bit of a blow-out. He sent out for wine and glasses and treated all hands. After this was over the pair struck out for Chinatown, remarking, "Hi yang chin powe, sang te pin chin tow-ee ling!" as they went, which shows that they were highly delighted with the "Melican" marriage ceremony.

LITTLE SAMMY'S ANGELS.—Sammy's mother wished to spend the evening at a friend's, and therefore put the little boy to bed, telling him about the guardian spirits who took care of good little boys. To further prevent the darkness from giving him fear, she left the light dimly burning.

The next morning Sammy was up bright and early, and full of news.

"Mamma, I saw the angels last night."

"Did you?"

"Yes, they got wings."

"Ah!"

"They sung to me."

"Is it possible?"

"And they bit me on my hands, the nasty things!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

CARROTS FOR HORSES.—The value of carrots for horses is thus stated in Youatt and Spooner's valuable work on the horse, and similiar statements are made in other horse books:

The virtues of this root are not sufficiently known, whether of contribution to the strength and endurance of the sound horse or the rapid recovery of the sick one. To the healthy horse they should be given sliced in his chaff. Half a bushel will be a fair daily allowance. There is little provender of which the horse is fonder. The following account of the value of the carrot is not exaggerated: "This root is held in much esteem. There is none better, nor grass, perhaps so good. When first given is is slightly diuretic and laxative; but as the horse becomes accustomed to it, these effects cease to be produced. They also improve the state of the skin. They form a good substitute for grass, and an excellent alterative for horses out of condition. To sick and idle horses they render grain unnecessary. They are beneficial in all chronic diseases connected with breathing, and have a marked influence upon chronic cough and broken wind. They are serviceable in diseases of the skin, and in combination with oats they restore a worn horse much sooner than oats alone."

TO TRAIN A HORSE TO STAND.—The American Stock Journal contains the following directions: Take your horse on the barn floor and throw a strap over his back and fasten it to his right fore foot; lead him along and say "whoa," at the same time pull down the strap, which throws him on three feet, and makes him stop suddenly. This is the best way known to teach whoa, though you can put on the war bridal, and say whoa, and give him a sharp jerk that will stop him about as soon as the strap to his foot. Then put him in harness, with the foot strap, as directed under the head of "training to harness," and drive him up to the door. The moment he undertakes to move take his foot and say whoa. Get in your carriage and get out again; rattle the thills, make all the noise getting in and out you can; give him to understand, by snatching his foot each time he moves, that he must stand until you tell him to go; and after a few times you can put the whole family in the carriage and he won't stir out of his tracks.

CHALK FOR STOCK.—When an animal is found licking his fellow, it is proof that uneasiness is present in the stomach, and the licking of his neighbor is a habit contracted by instinct, with a view of removing the unpleasantness. Unfortunately, instinct is not at all times sufficient to avoid dangerous practices, and if we take for granted that the stomach is at all times fully charged with acrid matter, we shall without hesitation find a remedy. It is only necessary to place within their reach shallow troughs, in which is kept a supply of common chalk. If an animal has a superabundance of acrid secretion, it will most certainly swallow some of the chalk, which will as certainly neutralize the excess of acrid. If an animal has not acrid in excess, and partakes of chalk, it will do no harm. It is often too late to administer remedies to young stock, and the placing of chalk within their reach cannot be made too early.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Dr. Miner remarked in a speech last Monday evening, that having known Gen. Butler from his youth he was convinced that there was "a strong, bold element of rascality" in his character. Having know Dr. Miner for many years, we are convinced that there is in his character a tough, sinewy, eloquent element of bigoted liberality.—Boston Herald.

☞ This is the way people talk about Horace:

Greeley can write more understandingly than ever of the beet, since his experience last election day.

The Mammoth Cave is advertised for rent. Greeley should take it. By subsoil ploughing it might be made a fine opening for strawberries.

THE WAY THEY HOLD ON.—Says the Psalmist:—"He maketh my feet like hind's feet." A negro preacher read it "hen's feet," and proceeded to say, "dat a hen in de henroost, when she falls asleep, tightens her grip so's not to fall off. And dat's how true faith, my breddren, hold on to de rock."

—A gentleman getting shaved in Terre Haute, was astonished to see the barber climb up on a chair to begin, and asking the reason was told that the darned snakes were all over the floor, and he was getting out of their way. The customer said he'd come in some other time for the rest of his shave.

—A boy belonging to a primary school assured his schoolmates that he would soon be able to indulge in his favorite sport on the river with the rest of them. Said he:—"Father has gone to the war, and when he gets killed, I am going to have his fishline."

—A resolution of expulsion didn't work well in the case of a Good Templar who went into an Oswego Lodge with a bottle of whiskey. He picked up a chair and expelled the whole meeting.

7 PER CENT. GOLD
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ISSUED BY THE
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.
The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and Chicago to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present business of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-Twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the stock to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us at their sale, at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR.
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

SATURDAY, NOV. 26, 1870.

WAR NEWS.—Thionville has surrendered to the Prussians.

The Prussians, under Gen. Manteuffel, advancing against Amiens, have been attacked and driven back by a division of the Army of the North near Domart and Beuchport, and the further movements of the Prussians checked.

☞ In modern missionary operations there has been nothing more remarkable than the results at the Hawaiian Islands. Rev. Dr. Peabody, formerly of this city, says of them, "at the arrival of the first missionaries, the people were in the lowest condition of savage life. Now, there is no country in Christendom, in which life and property are more secure." He says, that with some qualification, "the Hawaiians already merit a place among civilized nations; and they hold this place solely through the transforming power of religious faith and culture." Rev. Mr. Coan, for the last thirty years one of the prominent missionaries at these Islands, will be in this city on Monday next, Nov. 28th, and will give a narrative of his missionary labors, in the North Church, at 7 1-2 o'clock. All are invited.

POWDER ACCIDENT.—A special dispatch to the Chronicle over the Western Union Telegraph Line, informs us that on Friday afternoon, in Concord, some workmen came to an old log—they wanted to work up. It had been charged with powder before, and the men removed the plug to get out the old charge. Three boys, named Sylvanus Chandler, Smith, Sargent and Willie Locke, thinking there was little or no powder left in the hole, threw in a lighted match, when a serious explosion took place. Sargent's face and right eye, and the upper part of Chandler's face and both his eyes, were burned and blown full of powder; it is feared the latter will lose his sight. Locke suffered less, but had some powder blown into his face.

GOVERNMENT VS. RAILROAD BONDS. Sometime since a gentleman from Massachusetts visited New York for the purpose of selling $50,000 Government Bonds, and reinvesting in the best railroad securities he could find, desiring to secure the advantage of one-third more interest. After a week spent in the careful examination of the various enterprises in the market, he decided on dividing the amount between the First Mortgage 7 per cent. Gold Bonds of the Central Railroad of Iowa, and the Bonds of another railroad. Upon further consideration, however, he concluded to take the full amount in Central Iowas, believing them preferable to any other. Another party in Central New York took $36,000 of the same bonds, and another in Pennsylvania $33,000, in each case other securities being sold, which stood at a higher price in the market, but which were believed, upon full investigation, to be less profitable, and no more secure.—New York Evangelist.

☞ Rev. Mrs. Phebe A. Hanaford, a Universalist, is now successfully engaged in depriving the brothels of New Haven of their inmates. She seems to enter upon this business with her whole soul, and is not afraid to go wherever duty calls her. She has visited several places where ladies, as a general thing, would not dare to go; but she enters, and has never yet been insulted by any one. She has been seen walking on the street with fallen women, arm in arm, and heard pleading with them to turn from their wicked ways. Many of them have already taken shelter in the "Home for the Friendless."

Our Correspondence.

DEERFIELD, Nov. 24.

This week our people have special reason for Thanksgiving. Richard Jenness, Esq., of Portsmouth, has given to his native town, Deerfield, $5000, the interest of which is to be annually appropriated to aid in the support of Common Schools. It is to be called "The Jenness Educational Fund." We hope he may long live to see the fruits of his benevolence. He is setting a good example to many who are hoarding up riches that after their death may be sadly misused. J. C.

COD LIVER OIL.—It is no longer a cherished notion with the faculty that for a drug to be valuable it must be nasty, and the disgusting remedies which used to figure so largely in the pharmacopiea are no longer seen. Unfortunately there are a few highly valuable and specific vegetable and animal extracts which have nauseous and distasteful flavors peculiarly obnoxious to a delicate palate, while their curative properties are especially adapted to the most delicate patients. Among these Cod Liver Oil has hitherto held the first place.

Admitted on all hands to be one of the most valuable additions to modern and improved pharmacy, it has been so utterly repugnant from its fishy odor and rancid flavor to the organs of taste, that many fastidious persons have suffered and died sooner than undergo a tedious and constantly recurring exhibition of so revolting a remedy. The constant researches of medical and scientific men have been given to an amelioration of this difficulty, and many experiments have been made to disguise or eliminate the flavor without deteriorating the curative qualities of oil.

This, after years of labor, has been achieved, and Marvin's Cod Liver Oil has all the better qualities retained, while it is rendered palatable and odorless by a process peculiarly their own. This result has been arrived at from a careful treatment commencing with the catching of the fish, and carried out throughout the whole process of preparing their oleaginous substance for the market. Their livers are used only when in a sweet, healthy condition, and by a process peculiarly their own, so deprived of all unpleasant features as to be as palatable as the finest sardine oil, and yet superior in action upon the diseases for which it is specific, to any of the coarser kinds of oil already upon the market.

Testimonials of the highest character yield the palm of excellence to this preparation, and there is not little doubt that Marvin's tasteless and odorless oil is destined at an early date to be the only recognized form of administering the hitherto unpalatable oil for all cases where its exhibition is desirable.—Davenport (Iowa) Democrat.

—Cincinnati mourns the loss by suicide of the German who started the first lager beer saloon in that city.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a miserably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida. Cold down in the State, winter or summer, is rare, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, who were under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

Six hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the sea breeze, at Lake Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and people complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs mend fast.

Jacksonville Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places, are various points of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing cold winds. Lake Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a decided fever, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1855, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week; a practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and I caution in regard to the lungs until I know a person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. I have established quite a business in this place, in this disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many bilious attacks of sufficient force. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about coughing, every small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another and, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then allows the patient to be walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and good digestion of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. Is there any reason why they should suffer for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to select a warm room, with a southern exposure, a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a heater. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment pursued. The fact seems almost to have gone around, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been cured from the very jaws of death by their use.

As far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its horrid effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have jaundice, costiveness, dyspepsia, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take one of Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and you will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free use of tropical fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may drink rivers water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, peaches, &c., &c., without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live upon salt provisions against scurvy. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have announced my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. This instrument declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily turn weather cocks to their advantage. But I would it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly in accordance to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that persons who take my medicines, and then go out of doors and into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me. They can be bought from any druggist.

REPUBLICAN WARD CAUCUSES. The Republicans had lively times at their caucuses, Friday evening, 773 votes being thrown in the three Wards. We estimate the result as follows:—

For 1st choice, James W. Emery, Esq., 20; for 2d choice, Ela, 13, Wheeler 7, although it is said 3 of the latter may be for Gordon.

Ward One chose the Ela delegates as follows: Whole number of votes, 359. Necessary for a choice, 180. Ichabod Goodwin had 199, William F. Noyes 199, Joseph D. Pillow 198, John M. Hutchinson 198, John Pender 198, John Hodgdon, 2nd, 199, John A. Lamprey 194, William F. Ham 200, W. H. Y. Hackett, 158, A. Coburn Hoyt 158, Enoch J. Conner 158, Alfred W. Haven 158, John S. Harvey 158, Phineas D. Hoyt 158, Wm. F. Fernald 157, Benj. R. Walker 157, Scattering 2; and Messrs. Goodwin, Noyes, Pillow, Hutchinson, Pender, Hodgdon, Lamprey and Ham were chosen.

In Ward Two, anti-Ela delegates were chosen, as follows: Whole No. of votes, 319; necessary for a choice, 160. Chas. H. Sides had 165, Jos. B. Adams 161, John E. Giddings 161, John H. Broughton 161, Aaron H. Hill 159, Daniel L. Randall 159, Wm. H. Sise 158, Francis W. Ham 158, Geo. W. Marston 156, Chas. Robinson 120, Wm. Simes 119, Lewis W. Brewster 119, Henry F. Gerrish 118, Chas. H. Hayes 118, Eben F. Brackett 118, Marcellus Bufford 40, Wm. H. Hackett 38, Jonathan Dearborn 40, John H. Flagg 40, Nathan F. Mathes 41, Thomas S. Nowell 38; and Messrs. Sides, Adams, Giddings and Broughton were chosen. Messrs. Hill, Davis, Sise and Ham were then chosen by acclamation. The caucus voted unanimously to instruct the delegates to use all reasonable efforts to secure the nomination of James W. Emery, Esq.

Ward Committee.—George W. Marston, Nathan F. Mathes, Jonathan Dearborn, Thomas S. Nowell, Albert W. Rix, Charles H. Sides, John Sise, Lewis G. Davis, Howard M. Messer, Daniel L. Randall.

Ward Three chose Ela delegates by a vote of 59 to 36. They are Chas. N. Osgood, Wm. B. Randall, Jos. H. Glines and John H. Morrill.

We shall publish the lists of delegates to the other conventions on Monday.

WARD ELECTION.—At the election in Ward Two, Friday, to fill vacancies caused by the declination to serve of Messrs. Thomas Lewis and Robert C. Sides Jr., Common Councilmen elect for the ensuing municipal year, Messrs. Oliver Hanscom and Israel P. Miller were duly elected. The vote was rather lighter than at the regular annual election the Tuesday previous.

In Ward Three Horace Mudge and John A. Haraden declined, and William J. Fraser and Andrew P. Wendell were elected in their places.

☞ The gentleman who on Thanksgiving Eve made the ludicrous blunder of mistaking for his own another man's coat, and playfully took from a pocket thereof a meerschaum pipe, is advised (if he thinks his reputation would be injured by a public statement of the facts in the case, coupled with his name and residence—and desires to avoid any such unpleasantness,) to return the pipe to the owner, who wants it to use himself,—by sending it to City Marshal Frank B. Johnson.

☞ Dept. Sheriff J. P. Morse will sell at 10 o'clock A. M. this day, Saturday, at No. 18 1-2 Daniel Street, the stock and fixtures of a liquor saloon, and a variety of miscellaneous articles, among them two billiard tables—a rare chance for clubs or private parties to procure a good billiard table, cheap.

Also, at 12 o'clock, M., Mr. Morse will sell the house corner Austin and Union Streets, belonging to Mr. Woodbury Locke. See advertisements.

☞ Bishop Niles will administer the rite of confirmation in St. John's Church, to-morrow morning. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the children of the Sunday School will have their celebration in the church, and in the evening the Bishop will preach.

☞ The Keene Sentinel is of the opinion that Gen. A. F. Stevens will be renominated for Congress in the 2d District, (we hope he will) and that the First District is "very close." That depends on who is nominated.

☞ The Dover Local Record says that a merchant of that city is the greatest Dry Goods advertiser in New England.

☞ Commodore John C. Carter of the United States Navy, died of heart disease in Brooklyn, on Thanksgiving Day.

THANKSGIVING DAY passed off even more quietly than usual, in this city. Services were held in the various churches, and were attended by moderate congregations; and the turkey-and-plum-pudding dinners were partaken of by as many as usual, including numerous wanderers who muster around the family board but seldom, with the usual effect of making many of the partakers dull and drowsy throughout the afternoon. The day was lovely, and many pedestrians were abroad; but there were fewer teams on the streets than might have been expected. There was very little drunkenness visible, and the city wore the aspect of Sunday more than that of a holiday festival.

Most of our citizens found entertainment at their homes; and a Boston gentleman, Mr. Wm. S. Powers, took advantage of the general kindliness and home-feeling which prevailed to make an important move towards having a happy home of his own in the future, by getting united in the bonds of holy matrimony with Miss Clara A. Wilson, daughter of our respected townsman, Isaiah Wilson, Esq. That the happy couple will have the favorable auspices under which they have commenced the journey together happily fulfilled, we hope—they deserve it, for they remembered the printers.

Kate Reignold's Dramatic Company gave an afternoon entertainment at the Temple, which was not very largely attended; but their evening performance drew a rousing audience, and gave thorough satisfaction, (as indeed did that in the afternoon,) the amusing nonsense of the afterpiece making the people laugh in a manner that must have been highly beneficial to digestion after their Thanksgiving dinners. The time-markers had serious work trying to keep the run of the fine music produced by the accomplished pianist, Mr. Albert H. Fernald; who, whenever the stamping became offensively noisy, would quickly but almost imperceptibly change his time, utterly disconcerting the cow-hide swingers, and making every lover of music in the house his personal friend. We hope he will do so again, and that other musicians will follow the example.

Mr. Stavers' Bowling Saloon under the Temple was well patronized during the day and early evening, by parties of ladies and gentlemen; and a match game of billiards was played at the Empire Billiard Hall, Market Street, between two well known amateurs, in which one gave his opponent 150 points in 1000, and then won the game by 90, the match attracting a large number of spectators.

☞ The Kittery people are to have a grand Old Folks' Concert at the M. E. Church in that town, Tuesday evening, assisted by quite a large orchestra directed by Mr. Littlefield of the Navigation Department at this Naval Station, —with the addition of an Old Folks' Supper.

☞ A large three-masted schooner was successfully towed off Wood Island by the U. S. S. Speedwell commanded by master John Swanson of this Naval Station, Friday. The schooner sailed for Portland.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made in American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the emergencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the high qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF WILD CHERRY.

This well known preparation does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most medicines, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

Consumption can be Cured

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, approved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

THE

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by COBWEBS.

With feet that falter as I go,
Then slower step, and yet more slow,
Up the steep stair I clamber;
Just as the day dies down the west,
And night is born, and sombre guest,
I near the haunted chamber.

I stand before the silent door,
Where love has cried "come in" before;
To lift the latch my hand advances;
I look, I almost hope to see
The face I loved look out to me
With all its happy, old-time glances.

There on the door that once swung free,
Each golden hour to welcome me,
Some grief or gladness bringing;
In dusty shreds that float and fall
Like sorrow's shroud and coffin pall,
The cobwebs old are clinging.

I turn me once more down the stair;
I will not, will not enter there:
The dusty, floating cobwebs chide me,
Their curtain drawn before the door
That checks my entrance as before,
The shadowy stillness, all deride me.

By blinded eyes my feet are stayed,
My heart is once more unafraid,
My tears the shadows banish;
The cobwebs gathered on my heart,
By sorrow's rain are swept apart,
My foolish fears will vanish.

I open wide the long-shut door,
I step across the echoing floor,
And, swinging back the shutter,
The mellow, summer morning looks in
As if my lonely heart to win
From thoughts I cannot utter.

"Dear heart," I murmur then with tears,
"In all the busy coming years,
This room shall be my chosen altar;
Forever more its door shall be Left open wide to welcome me,
When up these stairs my feet shall falter."

AGASSIZ AND THE TIDAL WAVE—Dr. Francis, having addressed a letter to Professor Agassiz on the subject of the "Tidal Wave," received the following communication, which will allay the fears of many persons not easily alarmed:

My Dear Sir:—My reported prophecy about the "Tidal Wave" is a pure fabrication. I have never alluded to the possibility of such a phenomenon, nor is there any more apprehension of an ocean wave sweeping over our shore than of a comet knocking our globe to pieces. I am at a loss to understand how this report should have arisen; unless, indeed, from the fact that in my lectures on geology I have spoken of the slow and gradual encroachment of the ocean upon the coast. But this is an action which has been going on perhaps for hundreds of thousands of years, unnoticed by anybody, and which is progressing still so slowly that generations to come may not perceive any direct evidence of the change, though it is watched and understood by geologists.

It is a pity that the community at large is still kept in ignorance of the fundamental facts of the earth's structure, and the changes it has undergone and which are taking place. In absence of sound information; on these topics the wildest statement finds currency and believers. It would be easy to have these facts taught in every school, and I wish the panic to which you allude might be an inducement for adding those and kindred subjects to the studies taught in our common schools. I may add that it is tolerably well ascertained that in recent geological times, (that is to say, within the last two or three hundred thousand years,) a strip of the coast, varying from five to ten or twelve miles in width, has been worn away along our coast from Cape Hatteras to the British Provinces.

Very respectively yours,
L. AGASSIZ.

SOUTH BERWICK.—A barn belonging to Mr. Robert Fernald, situated near the M. E. church and containing several tons of hay, farming tools, &c., was utterly destroyed by fire on Sabbath evening last. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. A union temperance meeting was in progress at the church of Rev. J. F. Locke, and it is the general impression that the fire was set for the purpose of breaking up the meeting.—Dover Enquirer.

—Messrs. C. H. & A. Goodwin have been employed at their quarry in getting out some excellent granite, for parties in Portsmouth. Their principle work has been to quarry the granite and ship it, their ledge being the nearest of any to the river. GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

THE ILIAD OF SANDY BAR.

[Bret Harte, in the Overland Monthly.]

Before nine o'clock it was pretty well known all along the river that the two partners of the "Amity" claim had quarreled and separated at day-break. At that time the attention of their nearest neighbor had been attracted by the sounds of altercation and two consecutive pistol shots. Running out, he had seen, dimly, in the gray mist that rose from the river, the tall form of Scott, one of the partners, descending the hill towards the canon; a moment later, York, the other partner had appeared from the cabin, and walked in an opposite direction toward the river, passing within a few feet of the curious watcher. Later, it was discovered that a serious Chinaman, cutting wood before the cabin, had witnessed part of the quarrel. But John was stolid, indifferent and reticent. "Me choppee wood—me no fightee," was his serene response to all anxious queries. "But what did they say, John?" John did not "sabe." Col. Starbottle deftly ran over the various popular epithets which a generous public sentiment might accept as reasonable provocation for an assault. But John did not recognize them. "And this yer's cattle," said the Colonel, with some severity, "that some thinks oughter be allowed to testify agin' a White Man! Git—you heathen!"

Still the quarrel remained inexplicable. That two men, whose amiability and grave tact had earned for them the title of "The Peace-makers," in a community not greatly given to the passive virtues—that these men, singularly devoted to each other, should suddenly and violently quarrel, might well excite the curiosity of the camp. A few of the more inquisitive visited the late scene of conflict, now deserted by its former occupants. There was no trace of disorder or confusion in the neat cabin. The rude table was arranged as if for breakfast; the pan of yellow biscuit still sat upon that hearth whose dead embers might have typified the evil passions that had raged there but an hour before. But Col. Starbottle's eye—albeit somewhat bloodshot and rheumy—was more intent on practical details. On examination, a bullet hole was found in the door-post, and another, nearly opposite, in the cast of the window. The Colonel called attention to the fact that the one "agreed with" the bore of Scott's revolver, and the other with that of York's derringer. "They must have stood about yer," said the Colonel, taking position; "not mor'n three feet apart, and—missed!" There was a fine touch of pathos in the falling inflection of the Colonel's voice, which was not without effect. A delicate perception of wasted opportunity thrilled his auditors.

But the Bar was destined to experience a greater disappointment. The two antagonists had not met since the quarrel, and it was vaguely rumored that on the occasion of a second meeting, each had determined to kill the other "on sight." There was, consequently, some excitement—and, it is to be feared, no little gratification—when, at ten o'clock, York stepped from the Magnolia Saloon into the one, long straggling street of the camp, at the same moment that Scott left the blacksmith's shop, at the forks of the road. It was evident, at a glance, that a meeting could only be avoided by actual retreat of one or the other.

In an instant the doors and windows of the adjacent saloons were filled with faces. Heads unaccountably appeared above the river-banks and from behind bowlders. An empty wagon at the cross-road was suddenly crowded with people, who seemed to have sprung from the earth. There was much running and confusion on the hill-side. On the mountain-road, Mr. Jack Hamlin had reined up his horse, and was standing upright on the seat of his buggy. And the two objects of this absorbing attention approached each other.

"York's got the sun." "Scott'll line him on the tree," "he's waitin' to draw his fire," came from the cart—and then it was silent. But above this human breathlessness the river rushed and sang, and the wind rustled the tree tops with an indifference that seemed obtrusive. Col. Starbottle felt it, and in a moment of sublime pre-occupation, without looking around, waved his cane behind him, warningly to all nature, and said "Sh!"

The men were now within a few feet of each other. A hen ran across the road before one of them. A leathery seed-vessel wafted from a way-side tree, fell at the feet of the other. And unheeding this irony of Nature, the two opponents came nearer, erect and rigid, looked into each other's eyes and—passed.

Colonel Starbottle had to be lifted from the car. "This yer camp is played out," he said, gloomily, as he affected to be supported into the "Magnolia." With what further expression he might have indicated his feelings it was impossible to say, for at that moment Scott joined the group. "Did you speak to me?" he asked of the Colonel, dropping his hand, as if with accidental familiarity, on the gentleman's shoulder. The Colonel, recognizing some occult

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby adding the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
It wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a graceful portliure.

WAR NOTES.—An engagement is reported to have occured on Wednesday near Mezieres, in which the Germans were defeated and suffered a heavy loss.

The Russian troops in heavy force are concentrating upon the southern frantier of Russia.

A sharp engagement occurred at Demum on Thursday. Two French battalions attacked a force of 1500 Prussians who were entrenched at that point and had three cannon. The Prussians were routed and pursued as far as Quesnel.

POLITICAL.—It turns out that the Republicans have a majority in the Alabama Legislaiure, which will probably assure the return of Mr. Warner to the Senate of the United States.

Nevada has elected twelve Republicans and eleven Democrats to the Senate, and twenty Republicans and sixteen Democrats to the Assembly. There is no United States Senator to elect till 1873.

"WHO DID THAT?"—In Pittsburg there is a private boarding house which is a kind of rendezvous for young men. Some time ago the landlady made a purchase of some butter. Among the lot was a lump rather aged. It was put on the table, but no one there took the butter. The next day it was put on another table. Salt passed around unmolested, and at the end of the week, the landlady was puzzle to know what to do with it. It cost too much to be thrown away, so she took it and puddled it over into another shape, making it more round and in no respect similar to its former appearance. It appeared in its bran new dress at dinner that day, but met with the same cold reception. Around it went again day by day, from one table to another.

One day, a don't-care, jolly fellow, always ready and eager for some mischief, watched his opportunity, and when the landlady happened to step out of the dining-room for a moment, he took the big ball of butter, which was then soft enough to hold itself together, and threw it against the ceiling, where it stuck in a kind of hemisphere. The landlady entered just a moment later, and her attention was immediately attracted to the unusual situation of the butter by the giggling and tittering of the borders. "Who did that? she screamed in terrible rage. She repeated her weighty question several times without answer, when the fellow who had done the mischief looked slyly up at the greasy substance, and said, "speak, butter, you are old enough to talk for yourself."

IMPROVEMENT IN ENGINE BOILERS. Patrick Quinn, Esq. of South Newmarket, has recently patented a very valuable improvement in engine boilers. It consists of an arrangement whereby the smoke is consumed; there is also an attachment, by means of which the water is thrown into the boiler above the boiling point. His apparatus for consuming the smoke is ingenious. He brings a current of heated air in contact with the smoke at quite a distance above the fire, so that the commingling of air and smoke is almost perfect; and it is said by one who has tried the arrangement, that no smoke issues from the chimney to the furnace after the engine commences running.

Mr. Quinn is one of the best boiler-makers in the United States, and has, we believe, been superintendent of the works at South Newmarket for twenty-four years.

A gentleman connected with these works (we forget his name), has invented a very simple process for making gas from coal oil naptha. He passes a current of air through cotton waste, saturated with naptha, which waste is inclosed by an air-tight receiver, and from which protrudes a gas burner. As soon as the air is forced into the receiver, gas is generated and will continue to burn, when once lighted, four hours. The cost of both the apparatus and machine is very trifling. We think it will work quite a revolution when brought into general use and it will doubtless serve to lessen the price of coal gas.—Exeter News Letter.

BARN CELLARS. — Cellars under barns, for the purpose of storing many kinds of farming tools, mangolds, turnips and other roots, and especially where it is desired to make and preserve a large quantity of the very best of manure, are generally considered of the very first importance, so much so that there are very few progressive farmers who think of building a new barn without providing for some sort of a cellar beneath it. But they are objected to by many good farmers for the reason that the manure being directly under the cattle, they are badly affected by the unhealthy gases that are continually disengaging from the decomposing manure, and that the hay and other fodder is rendered unwholesome from being filled with the same emanations.

These objections are just and reasonable, and become of greater importance in cases where the cellar is made so tight and warm as to prevent the manure from freezing, and therefore keep it in a continually decomposing state, and especially so where swine are kept on the manure to root it over and keep it from over-heating or fire-fanging—being encouraged to do it from occasionally finding some corn or other grain that has been scattered among it for the purpose. I do not think the swine mend matters much. It is true they can keep the manure from fire-fanging, but instead of keeping down the mephitism, they rather add to it; for of all fetid animals, I think this pachydermotous sus the most disgusting. They sometimes, especially when "fatting," out-do "the fetid animal of the weasel tribe."

If they must be kept on the manure under the barn, I think it is best to keep them as quiet as possible by keeping their bellies full; keep the manure down level, scatter a little corn on the surface, just to encourage them to walk around for their health, and thereby keep the manure trodden down as compactly as possible. In this way the manure is kept from fire-fanging and the fetid odors from being disengaged; except from the hog, nothing will keep that down but sulphurous or carbolic acid.

If it were not for these disadvantages, a close warm cellar under the barn would be the very best place for making and keeping large quantities of manure through the winter; but they are not so highly esteemed as they were a few years ago, and are giving place to a sort of compromise between a close cellar and an open shed under the barn. Concord Monitor.

ROUND SHOES FOR OXEN.—When an ox has a bad claw by calking, or one claw gets lamed by sprain, gravel or stone bruises, take two of his common shoes, properly fitted, and weld them together at the toes, put on the toe calk, as on a horse shoe; let the claw of the foot touch at the toes; nail on your shoes, and go to work with your oxen. All will be right in a day or two. Shoes thus set will last as long as two or three setting of single shoes, when at work on a stone-quarry or other very rough place.

Brother teamster, don't let the blacksmiths frighten you on this subject. No dirt or gravel will work up between the claws to injure in the least. At first thought, perhaps you say that it is contrary to nature to thus file the claws of the foot of an ox. Be this as it may, you will find that such a shoe will greatly assist nature in curing a very bad foot. By thus shoeing one ox, that tore off a part of one claw, which had been badly cut by calking, I did not lose a day's work. The shoe was set with but two nails in the lame claw, and those at the heels. I have saved the work of three different oxen by shoeing, this season, I have no doubt.

Our cattle, which are heavy, work on a granite quarry which is as rough as need be. Friends try the round or whole shoe, and if not pleased with it, you can cheaply take off the shoe if it does not prove beneficial.—Cheshire Republican.

EXERCISING HORSES.—Old horses require but little exercise, although capable, without fatigue or injury too themselves, of doing a greater amount of work than younger ones. The young animal is not capable of enduring much work without fatigue and injury, but requires to be out of the stable daily, even though not much exercised. Young horses are stabled to much for their health, yet are incapable of standing much exercise without giving rise to splints, sprains, &c. When exercise is necessary for the young horse it should be confined to a walk, and in double the time that is allowed to the older animal.

It is the want of this physiological knowledge on the part of those who profess to be adepts in the art (I had almost said science) of training horses for the race course and turf, that destroys so many excellent and promising young horses, when placed under their charge. Indeed, so much is this the case, that as it is but few stand the unjust and cruel treatment in the daily exercise that is required from them. While, if a year or two older, or at least with a more judicious system in force, many that are injured would be more likely to show themselves animals of speed and value, instead of worn-out, crippled, broken in spirit, diseased in the bones of the joints, with spavins, ringbone, and other osseous deposits, before the animal has begun its career of usefulness and profit.—McCluer's Stable Guide.

—A clergyman, reading a chapter of the Bible for his congregation, found himself at the bottom of the page with the words "And the Lord gave Noah a wife," then, turning over two pages instead of one, he continued, "and he pitched her within and without with pitch."

—Anna Dickinson says she has taken enough slack jaw from the ridiculers of woman's rights; and hereafter she will give the men "tit for tat."

SNUG.—There is a man in Decotah Iowa, so penurious that when shelling corn a kernel flew into a wood pile, and he removed seven cords of wood to find it. A neighbor standing by dropped a kernel near where the searcher was looking, but when he found it, he said:—

"You can't fool me with that small kernel; the one I lost was a large one."

—The Scientific American says corned beef should not be put into a pot until the water boils, and not taken out until it is cold, unless you want it as dry as a chip.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Thieves! KNAVES!! SWINDLERS!!! These are mild terms with which to designate those mean ostemptible adventurers who have been induced by the high reputation which Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has won, to put up and offer forsale a worthless imitation of this celebrated medicine. Remember that Dr. R. V. Pierce's private Stamp, which is the only Positive Guarantee of Genuineness, should be on every package. This private Stamp, issued by the U. S. Government expressly for stamping Dr. Pierce's medicines, has upon it his portrait, name and address, and the words U. S. Certificate of Identity. Don't get swindled by men calling themselves Dr. Sage; Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., is the only man now living that has the right and can make the original Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents.

WITHIN THE WHOLE RANGE of tonic and alterative medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the PERUVIAN SYRUP. In all cases of enfeebled and debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

An Old Friend.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent, for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as the northern latitudes. Florida is a point I always recommend. A goodhotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the bland influence of the climate and my medicines, were greatly cured.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing; Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is a two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and consequently complaints at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and, when that is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My course for curing so many of my patients are liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore I would advise no one to come into the state, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs, Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who do not take cold, a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, costiveness, &c., but for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, and during that time I treated over twenty five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, must enable me to understand the disease fully, and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take what I consider a safe dose of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence, it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to buy a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk out in the open air every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, and in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to rouse the liver and stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. The liver is relieved of its load, and the gratification of that relief, comes good blood, which is vitalized to more than its healthy standard by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prevail, the appetite is good, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Do what you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you wish to avoid the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may drink cider, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will prevent those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do no good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. At that time and place the examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the precise condition of the lungs in a patient, and will learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and so plain that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

☞ Woodbury Melcher, Esq., a prominent and wealthy manufacturer of Laconia, died at his residence in that town recently. From the Democrat we take the following obituary notice:

Mr. Melcher was born in Portsmouth, where he lived during his early years. When 21 years of age he went into business as a merchant at Northwood, where he remained but a few years, going from that place to Gilmanton Corner, continuing in the same occupation there. In 1830, he bought out a stock of goods in this place, and moved here, where he has resided since, having married during his residence in Gilmanton. Not long after coming here he engaged in manufacturing, taking an interest in the "Ticking Mill Co.," and retaining his interest in this and other manufacturing stock until within a few years. He has accumulated a handsome fortune. He has always had a lively interest in the welfare of this place, and has been liberal with his ample means, having a special anxiety as to the proper training of the young. Mr. Melcher has held various public positions in the town and state. At the time of his death he was one of the trustees of the Asylum for the Insane, and was also President of the Laconia Savings Bank."

☞ The editor of the Great Falls Journal has a copy of the "War Journal" of 1813, and finds in it the following advertisement:—

To the Patriotic and Enterprising.—To every able bodied man, who shall enlist himself in the service of the United States for the term of three years, or during the continuance of the present war, your government offers 16 dollars bounty, 8 dollars per month, 24 dollars advance wages, and 160 acres of land.

A recruiting rendezvous is opened in Water street, where are invited, to join the standard of their country, those young men who are disposed to assist in vindicating the rights and honor of the nation, against a government which has for a series of years, committed daily aggressions on our rights and liberties—which has enslaved our brethren, and forcibly compelled them to assist in her encroachments on the lives and property of their fellow citizens, and has instigated the relentless savage to lift the tomahawk against us, and murder, without regard to age or sex, our frontier inhabitants.

Portsmouth, May 7, 1812.

—George W. Young, Esq., formerly of this city, has been elected to the House of Delegates from Mecklenburg County, Virginia, by about 1,000 majority. The candidate of the Democrats and Conservatives in opposition to Mr. Young was Watt Love, a colored man, put into the field by his newly converted friends in the delusive hope of drawing away the colored voters from the Republican ranks. How well they succeeded is shown by their overwhelming defeat. Mr. Young is well and favorably known in this city—where he resided some fifteen years—as an earnest, reliable and energetic Republican. During most of his residence here he was engaged as a printer with Mr. Wadleigh in the office of the Dover Enquirer. His Virginia constituents can be sure of him every time as voting right and working hard for the Republican cause. If we had more such true and indefatigable workers as he, we should have little fear of reaction at the South.—Dover Eng.

BLEACHED COTTONS—For 6¼ cents at MASON'S DRY GOODS HOUSE.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character, its power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the medicine checks at them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day, and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO ALL WHO WEAR

ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With the FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meat, or any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

GOODALL'S "SPRING PLATE,"

quality in the touch, and some unknown quality in the glance of his questioner, contented himself by replying, "No sir," with dignity. A few rods away, York's conduct was as characteristic and peculiar. "You had a mighty fine chance—why didn't you plump him?" said Jack Hamlin, as York drew near the buggy. "Because I hate him," was the reply, heard only by Jack. Contrary to popular belief, this reply was hot hissed between the lips of the speaker, but was said in an ordinary tone. But Jack Hamlin who was an observer of mankind, noticed that the speaker's hands were cold, and his lips dry, as he helped him into the buggy, and accepted the seeming paradox with a smile.

When Sandy Bar became convinced that the quarrel between York and Scott could not be settled after the usual local methods, it gave no further concern thereto. But presently it was rumored that the "Amity Claim" was in litigation, and that its possession would be expensively disputed by each of the partners. As it was well known that the claim in question was "worked out" and worthless, and that the partners, whom it had already enriched, had talked of abandoning it but a day or two before the quarrel, this proceeding could only be accounted for as gratuitous spite. Later, two San Francisco lawyers made their appearance in this guileless Arcadia, and were eventually taken into the saloons, and,—what was pretty much the same thing the confidence of the inhabitants. The results of this unhallowed intimacy were many subpœnas; and, indeed, when the "Amity Claim" came to trial, all of Sandy Bar that was not in compulsory attendance at the county seat came there from curiosity. The gulches and ditches for miles around were deserted I do not propose to describe that already famous trial. Enough, that in the language of the plaintiff's counsel, "it was one of no ordinary significance, involving the inherent rights of that untiring industry which had developed the Pactolian resources of this golden land" —and, in the homelier phrase of Colonel Starbottle, "a fuss that gentlemen might have settled in ten minutes over a social glass, if they meant business; or in ten seconds with a revolver, if they meant fun." Scott got a verdict, from which York instantly appealed. It was said that he had sworn to spend his last dollar in the struggle.

In this way Sandy Bar began to accept the enmity of the former partners as a life-long feud, and the fact that they had ever been friends was forgotten. The few who expected to learn, from the trial, the origin of the quarrel were disappointed. Among the various conjectures, that which ascribed some occult feminine influence as the cause, was naturally popular, in a camp given to dubious compliments of the sex. "My word for it, gentlemen," said Colonel Starbottle,—who had been known in Sacramento as a Gentleman of the Old School—"there's some lovely creature at the bottom of this." The gallant Colonel then proceeded to illustrate his theory, by divers springly stories, such as Gentlemen of the Old School are in the habit of repeating, but which, from deference to the prejudices of gentlemen of a more recent school, I refrain from transcribing here. But it would appear that even the Colonel's theory was fallacious. The only woman who personally might have exercised any influence over the partners, was the pretty daughter of "old man Follinsbee," of Poverty Flat, at whose hospitable house — which exhibited some comforts and refinements rare in that crude civilization—both York and Scott were frequent visitors. Yet into this charming retreat York strode one evening, a month after the quarrel, and, beholding Scott sitting there, turned to the fair hostess with the abrupt query? "Do you love this man?" The young woman thus addressed returned the answer — at once spirited and evasive — which would occur to most of my fair readers in such an exigency. Without another word, York left the house. "Miss Jo" heaved the least possible sigh as the door closed on York's curls and square shoulders, and then, like a good girl, turned to her insulted guest. "But would you believe it, dear," she afterward related to an intimate friend, "the other creature, after glowering at me for a moment, got upon his hind legs, took its hat and left, too; and that's the last I've seen of either."

The same hard disregard for all other interests or feelings in the gratification of their blind rancor characterized all their actions. When York purchased the land below Scott's new claim, and obliged the latter a great expense, to make a long detour to carry a "tail-race" around it, Scott retaliated by building a dam that overflowed York's claim on the river. It was Scott, who, in conjunction with Colonel Starbottle, first organized that active opposition to the Chinamen, which resulted in the driving off of York's Mongolian laborers; it was York who built the wagon road and established the express which rendered Scott's mules and pack trains obsolete; it was Scott who called into life the Vigilance Committee which expatriated York's friend, Jack Hamlin; it was York who created the Sandy Bar Herald which characterized the act as "a lawless outrage," and Scott as a "border ruffian;" it was Scott, at the head of twenty masked men, who, one moonlight night, threw the offending "form" into the river and scattered the types in the dusty road. These proceedings were received in the distant and more civilized outlying towns as vague indications of progress and vitality.

I have before me a copy of the Poverty Flat Pioneer, for the week ending Aug. 12, 1856, in which the editor, under the head of "County Improvements," says: "The new Presbyterian church on C street, on Sandy Bar, is completed. It stands upon the lot formerly occupied by the Magnolia Saloon, which was so mysteriously burnt last month. The temple, which now rises like a Phœnix from the ashes of the Magnolia, is virtually the free gift of H. J. York, Esq., of Sandy Bar, who purchased the lot and donated the lumber. Other buildings are going up in the vicinity, but the most noticeable is the "Sunny South Saloon," erected by Capt. Matt Scott. He spared no pains in the furnishing of this saloon, which promises to be one of the most agreeable places of resort in old Tuolumne. He has recently imported two new, first-class billiard tables, with cork cushions. Our old friend, "Mountain Jimmy," will dispense liquors at the bar. We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column. Visitors at Sandy Bar, have offered a reward of $100 for the detection of parties who hauled away the steps of the new Presbyterian Church, C. street, Sandy Bar, during Divine service on Sabbath evening last. Capt. Scott adds another for the capture of the miscreants who broke the magnificent plate glass windows of the new saloon on the following evening. There is some talk of reorganizing the old Vigilance Committee at Sandy Bar."

DUPONCO'S GOLDEN PILL, FOR FEMALES.

Infallible in correcting irregularities, and removing obstructions of the monthly periods. It is over forty years since these now so well known pills were first brought to notice by Dr. Duponco, of Paris, during which time they have been extensively and successfully used by some of the leading physicians, with unparalleled success. Ladies in delicate health, or fear married or single suffering from any of the Complaints peculiar to Females, will find the Duponco Golden Pills invaluable. Such as Nervous Debility, Headache, Faintness, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Loins, Bearing-down Pains, Palpitation of the Heart, Retained, Excessive, Irregular or Painful Menstruation, Rush of Blood to Head, Dizziness, Dimness of Sight, Fatigue on any slight exertion, and particularly that most annoying, weakening ailment, so common among Females, both married and single, the Leucorrhœa or Whites. Females in every period of life will find Duponco's Pills a remedy to aid nature in the discharge of its functions. They invigorate the debilitated and delicate, and by restoring the strength of the nervous system, prepare the youthful constitution for the duties of life, and when taken by those in middle life or at age they prove a perfect blessing. There is nothing in the pills that can do injury to life or health. Safe in their operation, powerful in their happy influences upon the Nerves, the Mind and the entire organization. S. D. HOWE, Proprietor, N. Y. ALVAH LITTLEFIELD, Boston, Agent, N. E. States.

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ILIAD OF SANDY BAR.

[Bret Harte, in the Overland Monthly.]

When, for many months of cloudless weather, the hard unwinking sun of Sandy Bar had regularly gone down on the unpacified wrath of these men, there was some talk of meditation. In particular, the pastor of the church to which I have just referred—a sincere, fearless, but perhaps not fully enlightened man—seized gladly upon the occasion of York's liberality to attempt to re-unite the former partners. He preached an earnest sermon on the abstract sinfulness of discord and rancor. But the excellent sermons of Rev. Mr. Daws was directed to an ideal congregation of beings of unmixed vices and virtues, of single impulses, and perfectly logical motives, of preternatural simplicity, of childlike faith and grown-up responsibilities. As, unfortunately, the people who actually attended Mr. Daws' church were mainly very human, somewhat artful, more self-excusing than self-accusing, rather good-natured, and decidedly weak, they quietly shed that portion of the sermon which referred to themselves, and excepting York and Scott—who were both in defiant attendance—as curious examples of these ideal beings above referred to, felt a certain satisfaction—which, I fear, was not altogether Christian like—in their "raking down." If Mr. Daws expected York and Scott to shake hands after the sermon, he was disappointed. But he did not relax his purpose. With that fearlessness and determination which had won for him the respect of men, who were to apt to regard piety as synonymous with effeminacy, he attacked Scott in his own house. What he said has not been recorded, but it is to be feared that it was part of his sermon. When he had concluded, Scott looked at him, not unkindly, over the glasses of his bar, and with a less irreverent by than the words might convey: "Young man, I rather like your style; but when you know York and me as well as you do God Almighty, it'll be time to talk."

And so the feud progressed; and so, as in more illustrious examples, the private and personal enmity of two representative men led gradually to the evolution of some crude long-expressed principles or beliefs. It was not long before it was made evident that those beliefs were identical with certain broad principles laid down by the founders of the American Constitution, as expounded by the statesmanlike A; or were the fatal quicksands, on which the ship of State might be wrecked, warningly pointed out by the prudent B. The practical result of all which was the nomination of York and Scott to represent the opposite factions of Sandy Bar in legislative councils.

For some weeks past, the voters of Sandy Bar and the adjacent camps had been called upon, in large type, to "Rally!" In vain the great pines at the cross-roads—whose trunks were compelled to bear this and other legends—moaned and protested from their windy watch-towers. But one day, with fife and drum, and flaming transparency, a procession filed into the triangular grove at the head of the gulch. The meeting was called to order by Colonel Starbottle, who, having once enjoyed legislative functions, and being vaguely known as a "war-horse," was considered to be a valuable partisan of York. He concluded an appeal for his friend, with an enunciation of principle, interspersed with one or two anecdotes, so gratuitously coarse, that the very pines might have been moved to pelt him with their cast-off cones, as he stood there. But he created a laugh, on which his candidate rode into popular notice; and when York rose to speak, he was greeted with cheers.

But, to the general astonishment, the new speaker at once launched into bitter denunciation. He not only dwelt upon Scott's deeds and example, as known to Sandy Bar, but spoke of facts connected with his previous career, hitherto unknown to his auditors. To great precision of epithet and directness of statement, the speaker added the fascination of revelation and exposure. The crowd cheered, yelled, and were delighted; but when this astounding philippic was concluded, there was a unanimous call for "Scott!" Colonel Starbottle would have resisted this manifest impropriety, but in vain. Partly from a crude sense of justice, partly from a meaner craving for excitement, the assemblage was inflexible; and Scott was dragged, pushed, and pulled upon the platform.

As his frowsy head and unkempt beard appeared above the railing, it was evident that he was drunk. But it was also evident, before he opened his lips, that the orator of Sandy Bar—the one man who could touch their vagabond sympathies (perhaps because he was not above appealing to them) stood before them. A consciousness of this power lent a certain dignity to his figure, and I am not sure but that his very physical condition impressed them as a kind of regal unbending and large condescension. Howbeit, when this unexpected Hector arose from the ditch, York's myrmidons trembled.

"There's nought, gentlemen," said

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 50 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is now restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of footing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

TUESDAY, NOV. 29, 1870.

WAR NEWS.—A telegram from Versailles states that three of the fortresses outside of Paris opened a terrific fire upon the German works Saturday night, and that the cannonading was continued till daybreak, Sunday. A grand sortie from the French lines was expected.

A great battle has been fought near Orleans.

New Hampshire Items.

Senator Cragin has sold his house in Lebanon, but will still claim that town as his home.

An election incident in Dover, at the municipal election on Tuesday, was three generations, Asa Tufts, son and grandson, voting in succession.

A young child of R. B. Hatch, Esq., of Peterborough, was so badly scalded by a pitcher full of hot water accidentally left within its reach, on Monday, the 21st, that it died of its injuries the next day.

There has not been an alarm of fire in Lebanon since April, 1869.

A memorial of the late Col. Jesse A. Gove has been prepared at the request of his widow, and copies presented to his friends. Col. Gove, it will be remembered, was killed at the battle of the Chickahominy, in June, 1862, while gallantly rallying his regiment,—and left a host of friends both in and out of New Hampshire to deplore his unfortunate fate. The work is compiled by Mrs. Jane A. Emery of Concord, in a faithful manner, and abounds in testimonials from many of Col. Gove's brother officers as to his gallantry and honorable conduct. The printing, by McFarland & Jenks, is done in a manner creditable to that well known establishment.

THE TRIALS OF COURTSHIP.—Discreditable as the following story may be to the parties concerned, we have the word of one of those engaged in it, a railroader and well known here, as to the facts:—Two friends—we'll call them Tom and Dick—went a few nights since to call on a couple of damsels, who reside with their mother in the southern portion of the city. The old lady is slightly deaf, and the girls somewhat roguish. The two gentlemen were graciously received by the old lady, who formed a fifth in the social circle. Ordinary bed time came and the gentlemen professed to leave, the maids showing them to the door. But this was only a ruse to get the old lady to bed. The front door was opened and shut, and the girls returned to the dining room, the two beaus having been slipped into the front parlor and lost there in the dark.

It was supposed, of course, that the slightly deaf old lady would soon be in the land of Nod, but she took a sudden whim to go and sit in the parlor for awhile, and, taking up a light, started for that place. Dick and Tom had been anxious listeners and watchers, and now saw the old lady approaching with a lamp. As she passed into the hall of course their only means of escape was cut off. Dick made a dive behind a lounge that stood out a few inches from the wall—the framework was too low for him to crawl under—and Tom, finding no other place, wedged himself in on top of Dick. The old lady set the lamp on the table, took up a book, and deliberately seating herself on the lounge, began to read.

The feelings of the two nice young men behind the lounge may be better imagined than described. Tom was in dread of immediate detection, while Dick dreaded smothering. He was so frightfully cramped that he was getting reckless as to consequences, and in a muffled voice, that only the old lady's deafness prevented her noticing, mumbled to Tom, "Kick the lounge over, blow the lamp out, and let's jump through the window." As Dick was squirming in a way that boded a sudden exposure of Tom, it is probable that the latter would have taken his advice to the letter, but for the interposition of the quick witted girls.

At first, expecting the cat was out of the bag, they had kept back, ready to take the storm of reproach they could not avoid; but, hearing no noise after the old lady entered, they went in to see what had become of the gallants. Two pairs of boots and a foot or so of pantaloons were visible from the door, and the girls making some commonplace remarks to their mother, went away laughing loudly. "Phancy the phelinks" of the chaps behind the lounge. But in a few seconds there came a shout from the woodshed, where the girls were, saying their lamp had blown out, and asking "mother" to come with hers. The boys heard them plainly, and even smothering, Dick stopped his muttering and threatening. The good lady arose, wiped her specs and folded them away, and bidding the girls not to be frightened went off with the lamp to their aid. It would be superfluous to say that the lounging boys didn't lounge just there any longer. They unlocked the front door as quietly as they could, and slid out without even bidding the young ladies good night. It was well for them that they did, for in less than three minutes the old lady was seated on the lounge again perusing her book. Erie (Pa.) Dispatch.

☞ The story of the carpenter who tried all one summer to build a barn for Horace Greeley, and used the letter mailed him by mistake from the Tribune office, thinking it to be some new fangled plan—that yarn, and the other one, which asserts that Horace was invited at a high figure to embark in the tea-chest lettering business by reason of his way of using the pen, we are used to, and have long ago got through laughing over. But the Cincinnati Times out-Herods Herod in its story of Greeley's chirography. It says that the distinguished philosopher recently wrote a letter regarding the proposed removal of the national capital from Washington, in which he urged New York city as an eligible site for the structure. The Times gives the body of the letter as follows, first promising that it is a little difficult to decipher:—

"It is not possible that I ever stole them again. As pudding is a reproach to conic sections, the very gayest conveyances of our cemeteries are untrue and preserves are bankrupt. Swill your nicest canteloupes in Washington until it swims in an unfortunate location. All the McCartys are sure to be veneered unless they heat, and I suffered fearfully undeniable crosscut saws. Who bought all the nuts and lozenges of the ecumenical council? The babe of the federal parentage is the bearer of its own two-horse lumber wagon. It squalled when surrounded by a dose of Widow Cliquot. Experimented on by the population of repeating voters in myriads to the defeat of nasticst anchovies and tomatoes, it swelled to a forest of artichokes, and amid the solicitude of resin barrels thus inviting the Bois de Boulogne, and accommodating the formation of cheese factories throughout the civilized world."

HOW TO MAKE GOOD MILCH COWS. By nature there is great difference in cows, but as much depends on their treatment as on their original constitution. Actual experiments that have come under my observation, show that when they are kept on dry feed wholly in winter, and salt only once a week, drinking at creeks or at a trough, where the water is in the freezing stage, they will give but little milk, and go dry a long time.

The reason is, that their food has not in it sufficient fluid to cause a yield of milk, and their drink is cold, and taken in such large quantities frequently as to chill the system and derange the functions that nature employs in producing the milk; whereas, almost any cow can be made a good milker, giving a large quantity, and holding out all the year by feeding stock of mill feed and potatoes, or some kind of roots twice a day with a small spoonful of salt added every morning, and water given three times a day, taken from a well or spring free from ice, or warmed a little on the stove. But in no case should they be allowed to drink more than a pailful at any one time.

In my family we have a cow which would go dry four months in the year under the system of treatment first named. But we now feed salt, and give water, as last named, and she yields a large supply the year round. When the potatoes are used with shorts to form the slop, which is generally done, we mashed them fine with a pounder in the tub she eats from. Let others who want a good cow make the experiment.

—If a cat doth meet a cat upon a garden wall, and if a cat doth greet a cat, oh! need they both to squall? Every Tommy has his Tabby waiting on the wall; and yet he welcomes her approach by an unearthly yawl. And if a kitten wish to court upon the garden wall, why don't he sit and sweetly smile and not stand up and bawl, and lift his precious back up high and show his teeth and moan, as if twere colic more than love that made the feller groan?

An Old Friend.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. Its mild tone, its sure and vigorous action upon a disordered stomach, and the cleansing of the entire human body, recommend it to the whole community as a RELIABLE FRIEND. dawlwn26

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful satinet and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and covers 2½ square yds., 2 coats;—this making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using this

Rooms and Brick House To Let.
Lecture—P. M. L. A.

☞ Eighty-one workmen in the Bureau of Construction at the Navy Yard were discharged on Saturday.

☞ The schooner A. O. Andrews arrived Sunday night, after a short trip, with 16,000 lbs. of fish, principally cod and haddock, to Messrs. Randall & Caswell.

☞ An adjourned meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Ward Two will be held at the Common Council room, this (Tuesday) evening, at 7 o'clock. The attendance of every member is desired.

☞ Mr. Ela's vote placing an additional duty on copper was a severe blow to our ship-builders and owners. Is it because the North and South End ship yards are so quiet that Mr. Ela runs so well in those regions?

☞ A correspondent says that Middle Street remains a slough. It is bad to have a leading thoroughfare in such a condition, and it is to be hoped that some one of the new Board of Aldermen will see the condition of their streets, so out of repair, and "Mend'em."

☞ Rev. James DeNormandie will deliver the opening lecture of the Mercantile Library Lyceum, this (Tuesday) evening Nov. 29th; Subject "The Sea." The lecture was prepared especially for the occasion. A few tickets entitling the purchasers to good seats, remain unsold; persons desirous of attending the "Home Course" had better secure them immediately. Members of the association will be in attendance to show the audience to comfortable seats.

☞ We hear of a nice trade made at Newcastle recently by a stove dealer of this city. The dealer offered to sell a new stove for $28, and allow $8 for an old one in exchange. Said the purchaser, Mr. —— offered to allow me $14 for the old stove." "And what did he ask for a new one?" "Thirty-three dollars." "Well, I'll allow you $13 for the old stove if you will buy the new one, just like his, for $33." "Agreed." And the purchaser handed over $20 and exchanged stoves, feeling nicely over his trade.

☞ Last Sunday was advent Sunday, the beginning of the ecclesiastical year to a large portion of Christendom. Rev. Dr. Niles, recently appointed Bishop of the Diocese of New Hampshire, held his first services at St. John's church. In the forenoon the Rite of Confirmation was administered to fifteen candidates, which with the Eucharist occupied the time. This is the second confirmation which has been held in this church during the present year. Within the last few weeks forty have been presented for baptism, a number of whom were adults.

The afternoon was devoted to the Sunday School, which assembled in the church instead of its accustomed place. Both its singing and catechetical recitations showed an intelligent and earnest tone. The school, numbering more than three hundred, has nearly doubled within the last two years, and has almost outgrown its enlarged accommodations.

The Bishop's sermon in the evening was characterized by an earnest simplicity and by a manly and outspoken presentation of the Truth, and was listened too by a large and attentive congregation.

A NEEDED REFORM.—To prevent turmoil and confusion at the Republican Ward caucuses, it is hoped that the system of the past ten years will be abandoned. The interest at the caucuses in a close contest is shown by the 773 votes thrown last Friday evening—925 being the Republican vote but three days before.

The Executive Committee of Ward Two have a new system under consideration, which we hope will be adopted. The custom of choosing a chairman now, to preside at Ward meetings a year hence, is, if not unfair, calculated to create dissatisfaction and dissension. We hope the various Ward Committees will resolve to organize all caucuses by the choice of a new chairman in each case; and would further recommend that check lists be used at all caucuses, that the selectmen and Ward clerk (in Wards One and Two) be sole judges of the qualification of voters, and that the polls be open from 4 to 8 P. M., that every Republican voter may have leisure to deposit his ballot in peace, without being hustled about and yelled at by excited polititians. Then voters will not be deceived by hasty action, and there will be fewer exhibitions of bad temper. We believe a somewhat similar system to the one we advocate is in force among our Manchester brethren.

☞ City Marshal Johnson arrested a horse thief named Adolphe Krausman, who was "wanted" by some Vermont officers, at York on Sunday. The rogue is a Canadian.

☞ It is reported that Hon. Wm. B. Small of Newmarket has withdrawn from the Congressional contest. So says K. of the Boston Journal. A later report confirms the rumor.

☞ Our advertising patrons are requested to hand in their favors as early in the day as convenient, as we cannot insure the insertion in our next issue of notices furnished after 4 o'clock P. M.

A SECOND MATCH of billiards at the Empire Billiard Hall, between the two amateurs who played on Thanksgiving, came off on Monday, the gentleman giving his opponent 120 points in a thousand again winning by 41 points. The largest run made was 42. Time 3 h. 10 m.

☞ Our exchanges of late have teemed with specifics for procuring sleep, for wakeful persons. One of the best remedies for restlessness at night is a printer's bill, duly receipted, spread beneath the pillow. A commercial traveller recently gave us his method of winning the coy dame, sleep. He was accustomed to begin at Bangor on the Maine Central Railroad, and at Skowhegan on the Portland & Kennebec, and name each alternate station on either road without a mistake, to Portland, and so on to South Berwick Junction, alternating on the Maine and Eastern Railroads. Said our informant, "By the time I reached Portsmouth I would be drowsy, and before I had reached the Rye Beach station at North Hampton, I would be in a state of unconsciousness in sound sleep."

FINE HORSE.—The magnificent black Stallion Fearnaught Prince, from Stratham Hill Stock Farm, has been sold to Hon. Frank Jones of this city, at the reported price of $10,000; and was on Monday transferred to the farm of Mr. Jones at Gravelly Ridge. Fearnaught Prince is a noble specimen of horse-flesh; standing more than sixteen hands, very speedy—and like all the Fearnaught and Morrill stock, is kind and gentle as possible. He is the most promising son of Fearnaught, and grandson of Young Morrill; and his colts are very handsome and highly prized. The Prince will be a great acquisition to Mr. Jones' stock farm.

Mr. Wm. G. Brown, of Stratham Hill, who raised and sold both the old Fearnaught and his Prince-ly son, has also two full brothers to Fearnaught—one, a brown stallion, three years old, and the other a bay colt, of this season; and the mother of Fearnaught, now 22 years old, is in good trim yet.

☞ A dispatch from Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, says the schooner Clara F. Friend, Capt. Friend, of Gloucester, Mass., which was captured by the British steamer Plover, about seven weeks since, was rescued from the custody of the Provincial authorities on Thursday last, the 24th. On the 25th the steamer Plover recaptured her, and the captain and four others are now held as prisoners.

—The laundress of the Mayor of a town in Indiana lately took a fearful revenge on him for scolding her. She left his shirt bosoms limp as cobwebs, and starched the lower parts as stiff as a board.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are more or less subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand, to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which is wrought by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers drawing for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the novelty and utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office, EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

Morning Chronicle.

Scott, leaning forward on the railing—"there's nought as that man hez said as isn't true. I was run outer Cairo; I did belong to the Regulators; I did desert from the army; I did leave a wife in Kansas. But thar's one thing he didn't charge me with, and, may be, he's forgotten. For three years, gentlemen, I was that man's pardner!——" Whether he intended to say more, I cannot tell; a burst of applause artistically rounded and enforced the climax, and virtually elected the speaker. That fall he went to Sacramento; York went abroad, and for the first time in many years, distance and a new atmosphere isolated the old antagonists.

With little change in the green wood, gray rock, and yellow river, but with much shifting of human landmarks, and new faces in its habitations, three years passed over Sandy Bar. The two men once so identified with its character, seemed to have been quite forgotten. "You will never return to Sandy Bar," said Miss Folinsbee, the "Lily of Poverty Flat" on meeting York in Paris—"for Sandy Bar is no more. They call it Riverside now; and the new town is built higher up on the river-bank. By the by, 'Jo' says that Scott has won his suit about the 'Amity Claim,' and that he lives in the old cabin, and is drunk half his time." "O, I beg your pardon," added the lively lady, as a flush crossed York's sallow cheek: "but bless me, I really thought that old grudge was made up, I'm sure it ought to be."

It was three months after this conversation, and a pleasant summer evening, that the Poverty Flat coach drew up before the veranda of the Union Hotel at Sandy Bar. Among its passengers was one, apparently a stranger, in the local distinction of well fitted clothes and closely shaven face, who demanded a private room and retired early to rest. But before sunrise next morning he arose, and drawing some clothes from his carpet bag, proceeded to array himself in a pair of white duck trowsers, a white duck overshirt, and straw hat. When his toilette was completed, he tied a red bandanna handkerchief in a loop and threw it loosely over his shoulders. The transformation was complete; as he crept softly down the stairs and stepped into the road, no one would have detected in him the elegant stranger of the previous night, and but few would have recognized the face and figure of Henry York of Sandy Bar.

In the uncertain light of that early hour, and in the change that had come over the settlement, he had to pause for a moment to recall where he stood. The Sandy Bar of his recollection lay below him, nearer the river; the buildings around him were of latter date and newer fashion. As he strode toward the river, he noticed here a schoolhouse, and there a church. A little farther on, "The Sunny South" came in view—transformed into a restaurant—its gilding faded and its paint rubbed off. He now knew where he was: and running briskly down a declivity, crossed a ditch, and stood upon the lower boundary of the Amity Claim.

The gray mist was rising slowly from the river, clinging to the tree-tops and drifting up the mountain-side, until it was caught among these rocky altars, and held a sacrifice to the ascending sun. At his feet the earth, cruelly gashed and scarred by his forgotten engines, had, since the old days, put on a show of greenness here and there, and now smiled forgivingly up at him, as if things were not so bad after all. A few birds were bathing in the ditch with a pleasant suggestion of its being a new and special provision of Nature, and a hare ran into an inverted sluice-box, as he approached, as if it were put there for that purpose.

He had not yet dared to look in a certain direction. But the sun was now high enough to pelint the little eminence on which the cabin stood. In spite of his self-control, his heart beat faster as he raised his eyes towards it. Its window and door were closed, no smoke came from its adobe chimney, but it was else unchanged. When within a few yards of it he picked up a broken shovel, and shouldering it with a smile, strode towards the door and knocked. There was no sound from within. The smile died upon his lips as he nervously pushed the door open.

A figure started up angrily and came toward him: a figure whose blood-shot eyes suddenly fixed into a vacant stare; whose arms were at first outstretched and then thrown up in warning gesticulation; a figure that suddenly gasped, choked, and then fell forward in a fit.

But before he touched the ground, York had him out into the open air and sunshine. In the struggle, both fell and rolled over on the ground. But the next moment York was sitting up, holding the convulsive frame of his former partner on his knee, and wiping the foam from his inarticulate lips. Gradually the tremor became less frequent, and then ceased; and the strange man lay unconscious in his arms.

For some moments York held him thus, looking in his face. Afar, the stroke of a woodman's axe—a mere phantom of sound—was all that broke the stillness. High up the mountain, a wheeling hawk hung breathlessly above them. And then came voices, and two men joined them. "A fight?" No, a fit; and would they help him bring the sick man to the hotel.

And there, for a week, the stricken partner lay unconscious of aught, but the visions wrought by disease and fear. On the eighth day, at sunrise, he rallied, and opened his eyes, looked upon York, and pressed his hand; then he spoke:

"And it's you. I thought it was only whiskey."

York replied by taking both of his hands, boyishly working them backward and forward, as his elbow rested on the bed, with a pleasant smile:

"And you've been abroad. How did you like Paris?"

"So, so."

"How did you like Sacramento?"

"Bully."

And that was all they could think to say. Presently, Scott opened his eyes again.

"I'm mighty weak."

"You'll get better soon."

"Not much."

A long silence followed, in which they could hear the sounds of wood-chopping, and that Sandy Bar was astir for the coming day. Then Scott slowly and with difficulty turned his face to York, and said;

"I might have killed you at once."

"I wish you had."

They pressed each other's hands again, but Scott's grasp was evidently failing. He seemed to summon his energies for a special effort.

"Old man!"

"Old chap!"

"Closes!"

York bent his head toward the slow fading face.

"Do ye mind that morning?"

"Yes."

A gleam of fun slid into the corner of Scott's blue eye, as he whispered:

"Old man thar was too much saleratus in that bread."

It is said that these were his last words. For when the sun, which had so often gone down upon the idle wrath of these foolish men, looked again upon them reunited, it saw the hand of Scott fall cold and irresponsive from the yearning clasp of his former partner, and it knew that the feud of Sandy Bar was at an end.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbug in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent mentor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

The Chronicle.

HOFFMAN VS. ENGLISH.—The New York World and the New Haven Lever, are engaged in a hot controversy—that is to say, hot on the part of the Lever, which fires off two columns and a half in a single issue on the subject—on the great question of the hour among our democratic friends whether they shall "bury dead issues." The World says: Bury dead issues, nominate Hoffman for President in 1872, let New York politicians run the machine on the simple plan of grab, at which and only which they have always been successful, and all will be well. But the Lever says the issues referred to, which, not being accurately defined in either sheet, we judge to be the permanent, ever-living and never dying questions of a United States Bank, the Tariff of '42, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, Popular Sovereignty, the Lecompton Constitution, State Rights, Vigorous Prosecution of the War, Coercion of Sovereign States, Subjugation of the South, Arbitrary Arrests, Emancipation, Reconstruction, Freedmen's Bureau, Negro Suffrage, Repudiation, Taxing Government Bonds, Paying the Debt in Greenbacks, etc., etc—the Lever says these issues—if it means these—are not dead—and the Lever, with two columns and a half of supporting figures of speech, forbids the removal of the corpse.

The editor of the Lever, who, we repeat—and when the Hartford Times corrects us again on this point, we shall ask for something besides assertion—is Hon. R. W. Wright, executive secretary to Governor English—is amazed "that the leading democrats of the country, such men as Governor Hoffman and the political managers of the World, should so madly dote on their own destruction, as to talk about burying these issues out of sight." He adds that "hellebore" never would "cure such political madness of its folly." And so the Executive secretary, having got his Lever and his pou sto, is moving the World. The dead issue begins, on the whole, to be quite lively. The World proposes to bury them and run Governor Hoffman at the head of the funeral. The Lever proposes to stop the procession, dismiss the hearse, "wake dead issues to life," nominate Governor English, and elect him on the ground that he is a State Rights man and spurns the negro vote.

It makes little difference which party captures the procession. It is none of our funeral.—Hartford Post.

THOUGHTLESS HUSBANDS. — Under this head, a writer for the London Telegraph says:

I am a husband of nearly thirty years' experience, and I thought this morning that the face of my "old woman" was as sober and as fair as it was some twenty-nine years back. I think I can tell why. I do not play at any game of chance. I never get drunk, nor sleep out at nights. Indeed, I am only too glad to rest at home; and above all, I court my wife as much as I did when she was sixteen. If I can manage it, I remember her birth and wedding-days by a new dress, a jewel, or even a simple flower; and should she be sick, I try all I know how to smooth her pillow; and above all, I never allow children or servants to rebel against her authority as mistress of the house. I need hardly add that the house is a happy home.

I said to a would-be husband the other day, "look out for a loving, affectionate daughter and sister, and if you use her well you will get a loving wife and mother for your little ones."

INSTINCT.—The Brunswick Telegraph tells the following story of a sagacious horse, that lives near Bowdoin College, and deserves an honorary degree as well as any quadruped we ever heard of:

There is an "old rat" of a horse owned in this village, that is never content to be shut up in his stable. He is continually breaking out and getting into the garden. Not long since his owner drove a nail over the hasp fastening on the inside of the door. In the morning the horse was in the garden, as usual. It was found that the animal had drawn the nail with his teeth, unhasped and opened the door; he did more, he took the garden gate from its hinges, and did not drop it, but actually set it up along side of the fence.

— The latest balloonigraph from Paris informs us that twelve thousand Amazons, dressed in black trousers, with an orange colored stripe gray blouse with orange colored band, are standing inside the walls of the besieged city, looking firm, grim, and terrible. Nothing in history equals their ardor. The Prussians are unaware of their presence, and the moment they scale the walls, are to be met by this black and orange trowsered death. Terrible, the very thought of these French Amazons. Germantown Chronicle.

—A lady in Wisconsin lost a hen for three weeks, and found her in the back part of a hardware store, trying to hatch a dozen porcelain door-knobs.

—Covington is trying to make whiskey faster than Cincinnati can drink it, but with poor success at last accounts.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 30 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 30, 1870.

Congressman Ela's Position.

Hon. Jacob H. Ela addressed his townsmen at Rochester, last Saturday evening, in response to an invitation from a large portion of his fellow citizens. The speech occupies nearly nine columns of the Rochester Courier, and is too long for us to publish. Mr. Ela asks for a re-nomination on the ground that Messrs. Tuck and Marston of this District, and Tappan and Rollins of the 2d District were elected for three terms, although Mr. Pike of this District was chosen but twice.

As a matter of history it is true that Mr. Tuck had three terms, but as he was chosen before the formation of the Republican party, we can see no justice in the comparison. Hon. John Langdon was President of the State of New Hampshire in 1785 and 1788 and was afterwards chosen Governor six times, yet no one would give that as a reason for complimenting Gov. Stearns, even with a third time.

We have always supposed that Gen. Gilman Marston was elected for a third term because of his gallantry in the field—that by leading his troops in battle he merited the endorsement he received. We do not remember that he ever gave a vote in opposition to any of the vital principles of the Republican party while in Congress.

Of our shipping interest, Mr. Ela says:—

When we could built ships cheaper than other nations, the adverse balance of trade between our imports and exports which is now settled by exporting railroad bonds, was then settled mainly by the earnings of our shipping. But now we can neither build ships or sail them in competition with other nations, owing to the high cost of labor and material and ship stores. In order to restore our shipping, we must not only relieve them of all taxation and other burdens, but give them all the incidental protection possible. We must not only build ships, but we must also produce more merchandise for export before we can again assume supremacy upon the ocean.

And yet Mr. Ela voted in Congress for an additional duty on copper! The passage of the bill that Mr. Ela voted for, cost one citizen of Portsmouth $800 for increase of cost of coppering a schooner.

Mr. Ela desires a reduction of interest by exchanging, bonds i. e. by funding the debt at a lower rate of interest. Here again, Mr. Ela departed from his excellent theory, by voting to tax the bonds, a measure that had it prevailed would have tended to ruin the credit of the United States.

We honor Mr. Ela as being a pioneer in the anti-slavery cause for 35 years, and for his economical measures introduced in Congress, but how he could ever reconcile his vote to tax the bonds with his principles, has for months been an unsolved conundrum. The passage of the measure he advocates would have prevented the negotiation of the funding law. A government that would dishonor itself by such means would deserve to lose the confidence of all nations, and leaving aside all questions of right and wrong, policy alone should lead to a different course.

If Government can tax the 6 per cent. bonds, capitalists would take none at lower rates, for they would feel that 4 per cents. would be liable to the same imposition, even if there should be a clause inserted specifically providing against it. If Mr. Ela should give us a note payable in 5 or 20 years at 6 per cent. interest, and at the expiration of that time, being able to pay the amount in full, should say "I can make you discount one per cent. from the face of the note." (or in other words tax you 1 per cent.) we should regard it as an attempt to wrong us of our just dues, and he could borrow no more money of us at any rate of interest. If the U. S. Government dare do such an outrageous thing on a large scale, it might be called financiering but it would only be robbery, even as a rebel leader, responsible for a great rebellion, may sacrifice thousands of lives, and be called a great man, while in reality he is but a great murderer.

Mr. Ela defends his vote by saying that the Republican State Convention of December, 1867, and the 2d Councillor District Convention, same month, passed resolutions in favor of taxing U. S. bonds.

That others do wrong should not influence Mr. Ela to do likewise. He might have used his influence as a leader in the Republican cause to counteract such a measure, instead of agreeing to it and voting to break the faith and credit of the Nation.

Mr. Ela quotes as follows from the Chronicle of Nov. 12:—

His (Mr. Ela's) hold on Portsmouth has been weakened by the position he chose to take on the question of taxing bonds—in opposition to the majority of Republicans in Congress, and (we think) in this District."

In reply, Mr. Ela said:—

I propose here to repeat what I said upon that question, and take an appeal from these disaffected Bondholders, who are receiving this high interest while paying no taxes, to the great mass of the people who are paying this high interest by paying high taxes.

The result of the caucuses held in Portsmouth shows that we were right in saying that Mr. Ela's hold on Portsmouth was weakened. Of the heavy vote thrown, Mr. Ela had 379 to 394 opposed and every man of the 394 meant more opposition to him than friendship for any one else—not personal opposition but on a matter of principle.

We have no personal feeling against Mr. Ela and oppose his re-nomination wholly on a question of principle. We hold no bonds but that class of property held here, (amounting to $1,200,000) bears a tax greater than any other property. We cannot honestly advocate Mr. Ela's re-nomination, believing that with a small margin of but about 30 votes in the next Congress, between the two parties of the country, the Republican party cannot afford to send from this District a man who might vote for repudiating even a very small proportion of the public debt—for we regard the matter of taxing the bonds as a step towards total repudiation. It seems to us that the greatest issue remaining unsettled between the Republican and Democratic parties is this question of taxing the bonds, and on this question the people of this District should occupy a position of which they never will feel ashamed.

War News.—King William telegraphs that General Manteuffel, with a portion of the First Army, defeated the French a few miles south of Amiens. The French lost 1000 in killed and wounded and 700 prisoners. The Prussian loss was comparatively unimportant."

Political.—The result of the recent government survey between Nevada and Utah locates several imporfant mining districts, heretofore considered in Nevada, in Utah, among which are Pioche, Shoshone, and Smoking Valley. These places, at the late election in Nevada, gave democratic majorities, Pioche alone giving 136 for Kendall over Fitch for Congress. This discovery will probably cause the return of Fitch to Congress. The Democrats, however, will elect most of their ticket.

Manning, Democrat, has been chosen to Congress in North Carolina, to fill a vacancy.

An Old Friend.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great deal of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. Its mild tone, its sure and vigorous action upon a disordered stomach, and the cleansing of the entire human body, recommend it to the whole community as a RELIABLE FRIEND. dawlwn26

☞ Crispins' Assembly at Congress Hall this evening.

☞ What would Portsmouth do without corner loafers?

☞ Delehanty and Hengler are to appear here again, Dec. 21st.

☞ Repairs on the half burned building, corner of Vaughan and Congress Streets, have been commenced.

☞ Rev. S. K. Lothrop, D. D., delivers the third lecture in the course, at the Methodist Church on Thursday evening. This well known and able divine should draw a full house.

NAVAL.—First Lieut. Henry Bishop, of the marine corps, has been detached from the Brooklyn barracks, and ordered to the marine guard of the California. The California is to join the Pacific squadron.

☞ Our Kittery correspondent writes that that town will soon "be in direct communication with the rest of the world, workmen being engaged in running the telegraph wire to Mr. J. O. Trefethen's apothecary store, where the office is to be." He enquires kindly after the welfare of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, and says if we don't hurry it up, that Kittery will have a Free Bridge and Horse Cars before we have railroad communication with Dover.

REV. EDWARD A. RAND, the popular pastor of the Congregational Church in South Boston, has recently received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Second Congregational Church in San Francisco, at a salary of $3000 in gold; but although the invitation was very cordial, and the situation in all respects desirable, Mr. Rand decided not to accept. He is a native of this city, and is very highly esteemed and greatly beloved by his present parish.

ALDERMANIC PORTRAITS.—We copy from the Portsmouth correspondence of the Boston Journal the following pen-and-ink portraits of our Republican Aldermen for the coming municipal year:

Alderman Albert A. Fernald is re-elected. He is one of our most prominent lumber merchants, and an active, energetic and straight-forward legislator.

George Annable has heretofore held several positions in the City's gift, and is now connected with the insurance establishment of John Sise, Esq. He was for a long time connected with the Kearsarge Mills, and the best test of his ability is that he received his education in the office of Ex-Gov. Goodwin. He is probably one of the most modest and retiring members of the Board.

Richard H. Waldron is a young gentleman of the strongest Republican principles, has been Selectman of Ward One for several years, and will not only faithfully represent all his constituents, but the mechanical and laboring class in particular. He is a coppersmith by profession.

Thomas E. O. Marvin is on his second term. This gentleman was not anxious for a re-nomination, but as important financial matters will come before the City Council next year his presence was considered of value, and he consented to run. He is the inventor of "Marvin's deodorized cod liver oil," and has a very extensive manufactory in this city.

Charles H. Mendum is the most extensive dry goods merchant for miles around, and is also engaged in shipping. By his strict attention to business and scrupulous honesty he has amassed a large fortune. He will have an eye on the city expenditures, and will be specially interested in the welfare of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

John E. Giddings is elected to an office in this city for the first time. He came here from Exeter eight years ago.—is foreman mason at the Navy Yard, a mechanic of more than ordinary ability, a sound and sensible thinking man, and will reflect credit upon himself and his party in the council chamber.

☞ A dispatch to the Boston Advertiser say there is some question whether Congress will confirm the promotions of Admirals Porter and Rowan, made subsequent to the death of Admiral Farragut, and there is some fear in naval circles that there may be legislation reducing the naval rank to its status before the war.

☞ The Gordon delegates from Exeter, six in number, are headed by James M. Lovering, Esq.

Mr. Wheeler has secured the 14 delegates from Dover and 4 from Strafford.

NO THANKSGIVING DINNER.—Through the failure, from some at present unexplained cause, of the steamer Island Home to connect at Hyannis yesterday with the morning train from this city, Nantucket was deprived of the presence of a party of some thirty or more from Boston and elsewhere who desired to pass Thanksgiving with their relatives and friends on that island. The intended visitors returned to the city from Hyannis by the afternoon train, not exactly in a thankful frame of mind at having thus missed their Thanksgiving festivities both at home and abroad.

If the disappointed feel able to bear a little pleasantry today, they might console themselves with the philosophy of one Potter, a whilome stage driver and traditional celebrity of Portsmouth, who once with others went on a sealing expedition somewhere in the high latitudes where seals were said to be plenty. After being banged and battered about for about three years in the frozen regions, the vessel was at last discovered making her haven. A boatman put out from shore to hail the craft. One question was, if they had captured any seals? "Not one," answered Potter, who stood at the rail; "but at any rate we have had a mighty good sail."

After travelling 160 miles yesterday, the Nantucketers and their families in search of a Thanksgiving dinner may conclude they had considerable of a railcar ride, if that is any satisfaction to them.—Boston Transcript.

M. L. A. ENTERTAINMENT.—A large audience assembled last evening at the City Hall to listen to readings and recitations by Mr. and Mrs. Vandenhoff. After music by the Band, Mr. V. began the trial scene in the "Merchant of Venice," a familiar selection, but of which the reader of Shakespeare never tires, and which was received with deserved applause. Mrs. V. then recited the exquisite poem "High Tide," by Jean Ingelow. It was the gem of the evening and gave a beauty and vividness to the scene which we never before realized. Her musical voice and intonations with the expression of face in the varying emotions depicted were admirable. Sheridan's comedy of "The Rivals," with impersonations of the Baronet, Mrs. Malaprop and niece, concluded the evening's entertainment, which was in every point a highly successful one.—Portland Press, Nov. 24th.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and healing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say that, where a consumptive patient exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore any place down into the State, and out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs, Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw patients on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease; and I hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may say he was troubled with a "bad cough" or "lung Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious attacks than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if thousands of lives were to be easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they form a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and, before it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in those cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, first to tone up the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it comes flesh, which is the only armor worn by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prevail and convince the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, my friends, I have given you my views; I have not the means to go to Florida. This question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and would be, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees. Your blood to be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is so easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Wherever you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by the above.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its baneful effects behind. In fact, they are considered by all those who have taken them to be a most valuable purgative medicine. Seaweed Tonic is a tonic, and its proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Wherever you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by the above.

[illegible] Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is a pleasant medicine to take, and can be taken by children without complaining. The Mandrake Pills are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have published my professional visits in Boston and New York, for the purpose of enabling patients to call on me in North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. I have with a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can usually learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being administered according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of a severe cold, which should be avoided as a fatal cold.

Great directions in all languages accompany my medicines so explicit and clear that any one can operate without consulting me, and can be brought on by Schenck's Mandrake.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

OF THE

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Morning Chronicle.

A GREAT MAN.—Dr. Helmbold is a great man. His Buchu is known to all the board fences, and broken constitutions the country through. He has recently taken a tour. His six blooded horses are said to be of the Patchen stock, and quite equal to those owned by the great chief magistrate of our nation. His recent tour, according to that connoisseur of such affairs, the Home Journal, was similar to a royal progresse such as was once made by the kings and queens of England.

From the virtuous village of New York, with that matchless six-in-hand establishment, he came like a conqueror to his native city of Philadelphia. Here, overwhelmed with ovation, he remained a whole week at the La Pierre. Not a few of the most distinguished citizens begged the honor of taking him by the hand—that hand that has so often driven the six Patchens, and first compounded the immortal perfection. The High School, which needs no other praise than that it numbers such a man among its alumni, gave him a-most affecting welcome. It was a touching sight. Nothing overcomes even a High School like distinguished greatness.

Nor was the press of the city invulnerable to his absolute merits. Perhaps it is not generally known that the Sunday Dispatch, the Sunday Mercury, the Evening Bulletin, the Telegraph, and the Press have each the honor and the lasting renown of having daily at work upon their columns men who were classmates of Dr. Helmbold. What higher commendation could be awarded the journalistic ability of the city of the world-renowned Wm. Penn. There is a little difference in the style of Philadelphia's three great men—if New York will allow us to claim the last of the triad—Penn, Franklin and Helmbold. Of how much are these names significant! Peace, lightning and Buchu!

From Philadelphia the feted Doctor went with his magnificent stud, splendidly caparisoned to Baltimore at the urgent request of his excellency the Governor of Maryland. The blooded steeds were universally admired. Ovation followed ovation. The monumental city was overpowered by the distinguished honor thus enterprisingly thrust upon it. The entire turn-out of this great American, filled it with a superb sense of the sublimity of the stars and stripes amid which we dwell.

From Baltimore to Washington the costly equipage moved. Here greatness met greatness. The peers of the land looked up, and took off their hats. Here too the representatives of a free state of the bounty provided by Dr. Helmbold. Such a galaxy of talent, such a flow of soul and other things, such a scintilla of wit, as was seen around that jovial board, no pen in this age will venture to portray. Posterity alone can do justice to the theme.

After an absence of three weeks this great man is, we write it with pathetic pen, home again. A distinguished contemporary assures us that "President Grant seems to have known Dr. Helmbold by instinct." That he received the Doctor in the presence of not less than five hundred people, was a special compliment. Great men, it is said, easily read each other.

It is with more than ordinary emotions that we close this unworthy tribute. We cannot do it in our own words. We quote, lest we break down: "With the names of George Law, Commodore Vanderbilt, A. T. Stewart and Wm. B. Aster, the name of Dr. Helmbold is indissolubly cemented. In many respects he is greater than them all." Let America recognize her great man! Let his life be studied in all our Sunday Schools.—Germantown Chronicle.

ROOTS vs. PUFFS.—On Tuesday last the steamer Amador, on her way down, landed a lot of hogs at the distillery wharf. After she had left the landing, a hog took a notion that distillery slops made unhealthy pork, and he concluded to board the steamer again. So he jumped overboard and swam for her. It was nip and tuck between them—straight puffing and grunting between steam and pork. Pork slipped through the water at a good gait, and overhauled the boat just below New York. As the Amador people didn't want to burn coal just to beat a pig, nor pass Benicia a bad second in the race, they corralled the amphibious grunter and took him aboard. The adventurous animal was returned next day, and had to be cooped to prevent him beating the boat back. So saith the clerk.—Antioch Ledger.

WHAT DID IT.—A majority of the people said to have died suddenly of the heart disease were the victims of congestion of the lungs. The causes that produce congestion of the lungs are cold feet, tight clothing, costive bowels, sitting still till chilled, after being warmed with labor or a rapid walk, going too suddenly from the heated room into the cold air, especially after speaking, and sudden depressing news operating on the blood.

—When a young man is seen shaking a pump by the handle and bidding it an affectionate good night, or saying "Poor old Cornelius Robscrew," there may be faint apprehensions that he has "been taking" a little o' something."

—Eton Rapids has a spring so magnetic that a man, after drinking a quantity of the water, went into a blacksmith's shop and sat down on an anvil, which stuck to him so fast that he had to have it amputated. Fact.

—Two friends, widely separated, recently exchanged telegrams thus: "All well—we have two pair of twins. How is that for high?" Answer: "We have three girl babies. Three of a kind beats two pairs."

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

The Chronicle.

HOUSEKEEPING.—John and Mary Jane looked at each other in sermon time; shook hands with unusual tenderness on parting Sunday evening; and in a few days all the neighbors knew they were engaged. John began to lay aside a little money. Mary began to make a few things. And this went on until one day there was a wedding with cake and wine.

Day after the wedding the new unity had a sudden change and unanimity of mind. Instead of boarding with either set of the old folks, they were going to get a house and keep it. They looked over the Chronicle that evening to see how many and what houses were to let. Next day we saw them walking happily and weddingish up and down the streets where the houses that we advertise are to be seen. The choice fell at last upon a house that looked very fresh outside and new within. The rent was not very high, and they thought they could keep the house and the house would keep them.

In about a month John had a bad cough and Mary was down sick with a fever. Soon there was a funeral and a widowmer. The widower went into a consumption, and there was another funeral. The minister at each funeral spoke about the inscrutable ways of Divine Providence. An old physician who was present had a very knowing look. After he got home he said that ministers might be enlightened a little upon one of the ways of Divine Providence, if they knew that houses plastered directly upon stone or brick walls will neither allow people to keep them, nor keep people a great while. He knew that the dampness from the wall was the occasion of Mary's fever and John's consumption; and that the one reason why they are not housekeeping to-day instead of being laid away in the grave yard. And a little busybody has reported the whole affair as a warning to all who contemplate housekeeping—Germantown Chronicle.

CURING MEAT.—At this season of the year the thoughts of almost every farmer naturally turn more or less to the processes of curing meat for the winter's use. Most farmers have a pig or two to salt down, and some have mutton or beef, and the quality of the meat which is to furnish food for the family will depend a good deal on the way in which it is cured.

There are various modes of curing meat, but one of the best, perhaps, that suggested by the Germantown Telegraph, is as follows:

To one gallon of water, take one and a half pounds of salt, half a pound of sugar, half an ounce of saltpetre, half an ounce of potash. In this ratio the pickle to be increased to any quantity desired. Let these be boiled together until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skimmed off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold, pour it over your beef or pork, to remain the usual time, say four or five weeks. The meat must be well covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with powdered saltpetre which removes all the surface blood, etc., leaving the meat fresh and clean. Some omit boiling the pickle, and find it to answer well; though the operation of boiling purifies the pickle by throwing off the dirt always to be found in salt and sugar.

It this receipt is properly tried it will never be abandoned. There is none that surpass it, if so good.

HINTS TO FARMERS.—Now that the Winter is approaching, it would be as well to discontinue haying, and turn your attention to putting in your Fall saw-logs. No farmer can consider his Fall work complete until he has his cellar well supplied with saw-logs. Seated around the blazing hearth of a Winter's night there is no fruit more delicious.

A correspondent asks us what we think of late plowing. Plowing should not be continued later than ten or eleven o'clock at night. It gets the horses and oxen in the habit of staying out late, and unduly exposes the plow. We have known plows to acquire spring halt and inflammatory rheumatism from late plowing. Don't do it.

To another correspondent who wants us to suggest a good drain on a farm, we would say that a heavy mortgage at ten per cent. will drain it about as rapidly as anything we know of.

The coming cold weather should suggest to the humane farmer the necessity for a good cow-shed. The following is a receipt for making a good cow-shed: pour a pailful of boiling water on her back, and if that does not make a good cow-shed—her hair—we are no prophet to anybody.

Now is the time for planting your Winter hay. The pink-eyed Southdown is probably the best variety, as it don't need poling and begins to lay early. The "Fat Contributor."

—The latest thing in funeral processions in the West is a wagon to precede the hearse, bearing a bell, which is tolled en route to the grave.

—A butting match of sixty-four rounds, between two Georgia negroes, was decided a draw fight.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the entire expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But which as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

THURSDAY, DEC. 1, 1870.

WAR NEWS.—Prince Frederick Charles lost 1000 men Tuesday at Beaume la Rollande. La Fere has capitulated to the Prussians who have also occupied Enaeux. The German loan of $100,000,000 thalers will be taken by English bankers. The French attacked the Prussians near Versailles, Tuesday, but were repulsed with loss. The reported defeat of Garibaldi is confirmed.

On Monday and Tuesday the forts around Paris, particularly those to the south, D'Ivry, Bicetre, Montrouge, Vanvers, D'Issy and Charenton, maintained a furious cannonade. As was expected by the Germans this incessant firing was kept up merely to cover a sortie in force. On Tuesday the Parisians came out towards L'Hay, supported by their gunboats in the Seine. At this point the position of the 6th Prussian corps was attacked fiercely. Simultaneously, other sorties were made in other directions with a view, probably, to prevent re-enforcements to the 6th corps. In all cases, however, the French were repulsed and driven back behind their fortifications.

The French have been badly beaten near Amiens. Their army was totally routed and fled toward Arras. Four French guns were captured in this engagement.

On Monday the main body of the French army attempted to force a passage toward Fontainbleau by a heavy and general attack. They encountered the Tenth Prussian corps at Beauve, a little village in the Department of the Loire, 26 miles north of Orleans. The Prussians were quickly re-enforced with the Fifth Infantry and First cavalry divisions. The French onslaught was repulsed with heavy loss in killed, wounded and prisoners, especially the latter. Failing in this attempt, the army of the Loire has withdrawn.

☞ A Concord dispatch to the Boston Journal says a terrible fire raged there on Wednesday. It broke out a little past 11 o'clock, A. M., in the new three story granite building in the rear of the Merchants' Exchange, recently erected by David A. Warde. Charles H. Norton's stable was soon on fire. The horses and carriages were saved. Much hay and grain and other personal property was lost. The fire took the store house of Warde, Humphrey & Dodge. Some of the goods were saved, but much was lost.

☞ The latest move in base ball in Boston, the establishmennt of a first-class professional club, is in the hands of men who will conduct the matter in the best manner. The fact of their securing George Wright, ex-captain of the Red Stockings, as captain of the nine, shows that they are starting right, and indeed there seems to be no reason why the idea may not be carried out successfully.

☞ In the summer of 1850, a lady while bathing at the south beach, at Newport, lost a gold ring, marked with the name of the owner. On Monday last the ring was found in the water by a boy, and returned to the lady, after a lapse of twenty years.

Our Correspondence.

JOPPA, no date.

'Tis not another Innocent Abroad who writes to you, and the Joppa whence I write is not in Palestine, but in equally immaculate Massachusetts. I give you no date, because no dates are raised here, although I have just been inspecting a magnificent pine-apple cactus which is already to blossom. Mark Twain wept over the tomb of Adam (a distant relation of his,) when he was abroad; but I have often questioned myself as to whether Ad needed any tears. By leaving this sphere anterior to the introduction of printing, our first gardener avoided reading an immense amount of twaddle from newspaper correspondents, and escaped being asked an indefinite number of wretched conundrums. Adam had no taxes to pay, he was not pestered by life insurance agents; he experienced no trouble from splits in party, rotation in office, or other matters political; he wasn't ever troubled by the woman's rights question, for his wife was taken from him during his sleep, and left for him when he awoke.

You may think I digress, and I began to think so myself, for I'd not the remotest idea of going back to so remote a period as the creation when I began this letter. To resume: Joppa is farther from Boston than Dover is from Portsmouth, but there is such a possibility as riding from one place to the other without a change of cars. Down among the Bridgewaters, and there are so many of them that the mind of a stranger becomes bewildered in endeavoring to distinguish "tother from which," lies a pleasant village and post-office, yclept Joppa. Thither, on a Saturday evening in November, your correspondent was borne over the Old Colony R. R. and its connections, and there he has passed a beautiful Sabbath in admiring the fertile lands, the winding creeks, the evidence of thrift, the absence of noise, and the general appearance of energy, quiet and content which seem to be so peculiar to New England. Why, on Saturday evening, I noticed two gentlemen leave well-filled satchels on the outside steps of a store while they went inside for a social chat. This confidence in the honesty of humanity was so unexpected to a dweller in cities that I was strongly tempted to steal the satchels myself.

The people for a circuit of several miles are remarkably social for our unsocial clime. Perhaps the clang of the ponderous steam hammers in the immense iron works of Lazell, Perkins & Co.; the whir and rattle of machinery in the establishments which builds cotton gins, &c.; the rat-tat of the little hammers, and curious buzz of eccentric pegging, soling and lasting machines in the numerous shoe manufactories, may bring reflecting minds the thought that they who produce the honey are fully as respectable as the drones who simply consume it.

It is said there are two sides to every question(—I am told there are more than two Sides to every political question in your city,)—and I wrote you the piteous side regarding our cheap eating-houses some time since, on the text of "shabby genteel." But these necessary place of a large city have a bright side, easily seen unless we enter them in a carping spirit. Here come the newsboys, bright, active, forward,—the future—God knows what: it may be statesmen, it may be merchants, be may gamblers or worse, it may be (I pray not) newspaper correspondents. They laugh and talk, and eat with a relish that an alderman might envy.

Rugged, rosy boys, of a larger growth, bustle in and eat voraciously: all is grist which comes to their mill—hashed meat, bashed fish, baked beans, &c.,—they are drivers or assistants to drivers of the carts and wagons so necessary to transact the business of carrying in the great aggregation of human life amid which we live; they are a fine sample of the youthful bone and sinew to which the nation looks for its future in peace or in war. Then come the elders, who from motives of economy, or from a disregard of fine table service and its extra expense, prefer the modest bill of fare offered in the low-priced restaurants.

No class of caterers to the public can long exist unless the demand is also existing, and thus we learn that what may not seem good to us, bears the stamp of value to many, while our cherished ideas are doubtless in their turn the subject of wonderment or distaste to many others. Thinking thus, I wish success to those who furnish good food cheaply to the multitude, and those who differ with me may go to "Joppa" or to Parker's. M.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WITHIN THE WHOLE RANGE of tonic and alterative medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the PERUVIAN SYRUP. In all cases of enfeebled and debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Friend.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. Its mild tone, its sure and vigorous action upon a disordered stomach, and the cleansing of the entire human body, recommend it to the whole community as a RELIABLE FRIEND. dawlwn26

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as the remarkable remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, and has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it a household word in many families for them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most potent remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Mr. M. M. Miller, Agent of the Hope Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, advertises in another column what he is prepared to do in that line. No poor man should be without a life-policy.

REV. JAS. DENORMANDIE'S LECTURE, on "the Sea," before the Mercantile Library Association Lyceum, Tuesday evening, was a valuable and interesting discourse. The wonders of the deep were described with a thoroughness that held the listeners in rapt attention, and the large audience present went home enlightened and instructed. Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's lectures are always interesting, for the reason that they are the result of great research and thorough investigation. The evening passed away quickly, so absorbed were the audience in the subject so elaborately placed before them.

Our Correspondence.

KITTERY, ME., Nov. 29.

The Old Folks' Concert at the M. E. Church, Tuesday evening, was a great success, and gave so much satisfaction to a full house that they were requested to repeat it on Friday evening, which will be done. There were many quaint old costumes among the performers, Mr. Shaw, of the Bureau of Steam Engineering at the Navy Yard, being especially noticeable among the gentlemen. The orchestra was very fine.—Mr. Littlefield has rare ability as a leader. The Methodist minister of Portsmouth gave the Old Folks an invitation to bring the concert out at his church at an early day, but I have not heard if they have decided to do so.

The rains have at last made some impression on the dry earth, and the water in many of the wells in town has begun to rise. Good job—perhaps less rum will now be drank.

Schr. Unison, Williams, arrived Tuesday from Bangor, this being her thirteenth trip this season. K. M.

A SUDDEN DESCENT.—A gentleman was telling in meeting, the other night, a glorious dream he had:—

"Brethren and sisters," he said, "I thought I was standing on the mount of glory. Below me lay the mansions of the blessed, all of pure gold, and the streets were paved with silver, while everywhere spread around me lay heaps of—" "greenbacks," whispered some one near him, carrying out the miser's figure—but the speaker did not hear him, and added, "heaps of precious diamonds."

"Oh," he continued, "if you could have been there my friends, and stood with me upon that crystal shore, and seen what I saw there—I wouldn't have begrudged a dollar."

☞ John Hawkins, a workman at Hoosac Tunnel, was instantly killed Tuesday by a rock falling on him.

Merry's Museum is gay with the bright color gracing the covers of the December number. The mantle of Peter Parley, enlarged and with new decorations, is worn jauntily as in former years, with modern improvements. Terms, $1.50 a year. Specimen free. Horace B. Fuller, Publisher, Boston.

☞ The English cabinet has agreed to the conference proposed by Prussia, on condition that Russia first withdraws her note. It is also said that Earl Granville's firmness will necessitate his withdrawal from the cabinet. The latest despatches agree that there will be no difficulty in effecting a peaceful settlement at the conference, which is sure to take place.

—And now McFarland's lawyer has been obliged to sue him for the fees due upon the memorable trial. The lawyer charges the modest sum of $25 a day, and the prospect is he will have the opportunity of discharging it at the town pump! Nearly all the lawyers who had anything to do with the defence of the man who shot Richardson have discovered by this time that it was a bad job at best. Serves them right.—N. Y. Globe.

NEW USE FOR BALLOONS.—Mr. Ferguson goes home drunk for the fortieth time, and his wife holds up her hands, with vexation and indignation.

"Don' sa'er word 'Liza; (hic) don' sa'er word! I'm goin't' buy a balloon, (hic) b'loon."

"What on earth are you going to buy a balloon for, Mr. Ferguson?"

"I'll tell you (hic) 'Liza. Y'see they've gossomany, (hic) got s'many rumshops 'round the store't a fell'r (hic) can't get home without getin' drunk. I can get 'way with (hic) b'loon, you know. You can come to the store an' blow it up, (hic) then you wont have't' blow me up!"

HOW TO KEEP GRAPES. A correspondent of Grapes Culturist says they can be kept perfectly plump, sweet and fresh underground. He says they should be gathered as late in the fall as possible, in a clear day, and laid in a box about eight inches deep; a layer of ground leaves from the vine at the bottom, then a layer of fruit, then leaves again until the box is full. Let the lid be nailed tight, and bury deep enough to escape the frost, and in the spring they will be as fresh as when first picked.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It rung through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

TEXAS IN THE SADDLE.

Two months since the "Agricultural Stock-Raising and Industrial Association of Western Texas," domiciled at San Antonio, inserted the following advertisement in their city paper:—

A Sixty Mile Race—$75 Premium.—"The Agricultural Stock-raising and International Association of Western Texas offer a special premium of $50 to the first and $25 to the second winner in a sixty mile race round their track at San Pedro Springs, provided that the distance is made in three hours. None but Texas-raised horses and Texas-made saddles to be used. No limits as to number. The race to come off during the holding of their fair, from the 5th to the 8th of October next. For further information, address, 'Agricultural Association, Box 151, Post-Office, San Antonio.'"

The announcement caused some little talk on the subject, but the almost universal opinion of the public was that the race could not be won by Texas-raised horses, in that time. Up to the morning of the day not a single entry had been made, and the directors were in dispair. However, before eleven o'clock, Nell Coker appeared upon the grounds with twelve cow ponies, and declared it his intention to contest for the prize. Nell Coker was born and raised in Bexar County, is about 22 years of age, weighs somewhere between 125 and 135 pounds, is a lively, active young man, a fair type of our stock-raising community.

We examined his twelve horses and found them very common, indeed; but as no one believed he could win the race, no one was willing to loan him a good horse, and of the eleven and one mule he had, it is safe to say that not over three had ever seen a mouthful of corn in their lives. The track is only half a mile, is entirely new, a hog-wallow prairie, badly plowed, and but newly harrowed, with no attempt at filling up the holes or levelling down the hills. The track is oval in shape, with four sharp curves, which make it difficult to bring an untrained horse around the corners.

With all these difficulties, and this kind of stock, at the tap of the bell, promptly on time, young Coker mounted his first pony and applied the first dose of "Texas squirt." The first four horses he only ran a half-mile each, and made his changes in from five to seven seconds. The fifth horse, a noble grass-raised animal belonging to I. P. Simpson, Esq., of this city, carried him one mile in two minutes and ten seconds; this was excellent time, but he was so hard to take up that he passed the stand fully five yards, costing the rider a great deal of needed strength and fifteen seconds of good time.

Nothing special occurred up to the 8th, when an ungoverable mustang flew the track altogether, and made a circuit down through the woods; meeting the San Pedro irrigating canal, he turned back through the agricultural department, leaped an eight-horse power threshing machine, and finally, dispairing of making his escape, tried his "level best" to pitch young Coker over his head. By this time his attendants reached him with another horse; he got back into the track and proceeded on his way. About the thirteenth mile, another horse broke on this other side of the track, and came very near jumping a stone wall. He was finally brought to a full stop, but considerable time was lost.

With all these mishaps, at the end of the thirty miles young Coker was two minutes ahead of time. The Marshal, General Young, made this announcement in a voice that could be heard for half a mile round.

The crowd now began to get excited, and a universal shout went up for more and better horses. Men who had refused the use of their horses, and scoffed at the possibility of such a race, began to believe he would make the trip. Gen. Knox, Capt. Story, William H. Jackson, President of the Association, and I presume at least fifty others, exerted themselves in procuring better horses.

Capt. Wm. H. Elliott brought in his splendid black stallion that made a mile in a little over two minutes. Mr. A. Oliver and Mr. McClean stripped the harness from their horses and brought them in. By this time the excitement was so great that every horse on the ground, no matter what his value, was at the service of the young and gallant rider. Gentlemen, with gold-headed canes, kid gloves and fine linen, would strip their horses, and bringing them in, scream at the top of their voices, "Put him through if you kill him."

From this time on, young Coker's fortunes smiled upon him. He now made on each horse, once or twice only a mile and a half, and made his changes nearly even in ten seconds. It was now evident to all that without an accident he would win the race, and every man, woman and child on the ground was wrought up to the highest pitch of excitement. Sedate old judges lost their dignity, and burrahed at the top of their voices, the ladies waved their handkerchiefs, children screamed and young Coker gained on his time every round. Finally the Marshal tapped the bell as the last mile was made, and announced "sixty miles in two hours and fifty-three minutes." At this young Coker exclaimed: "Let me give them another mile for good measure," and with an eye as clear as an eagle's, and limbs as lithe as the mountain doe, he mounted a fresh horse and made his sixty-first and his last mile in two minutes and fifteen seconds.

It is safe to say there never was such a concourse of people, or such a scene in Western Texas. Men wanted to carry him around on their shoulders, wanted to treat him, give him coffee, ice-water—anything. Finally, he was taken up into the judges' stand and introduced by the Marshal; and that the crowd might have a chance to do something for him, a prominent banker of this city pulled off his hat and called out: "All who wish to do something for the young man, here's a chance." The last we saw of him his hat was well laden with gold and silver, which was given to young Coker, in addition to the premium of the Association.—San Antonio Herald.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

DRAINAGE OF THE SOIL.—All the advantages claimed for irrigation, and many more, can be had thro' thorough drainage. It dispenses with open ditches; it lengthens the season for labor and vegetation; it prevents cracking of stiff clay soils; also assists in pulverization; it admits of thorough admixtures of manures; it promotes absorption of fertilizing substances from the air; it gives the roots the facility to go very deep into the soil in dry years and find moisture, which will always be found there in the dryest of season; it also supplies air to the roots; it warms the soil by the heat passing downward; it renders the soil more friable; it prevents heaving out by frost; it admits of the easy eradication of weeds; it admits of the passage of heavy draught vehicles without injury; it causes greater deposits of dew in summer; it admits of the pasturage of animals without injury to the soil; it diminishes the causes of malarial diseases; it renders the soil lighter to work; it increases the crops; it adds to the land; it measureably places the temperature of the soil, control of the weather and season, within the bounds of the intelligent farmer. Now irrigation will not encompass these things, which, in the aggregate, are demanded as healthy conditions of the soil; besides, thorough draining is a permanency, requiring little or no expense after it is once well performed, whereas irrigation would constitute a yearly expense which, on the average—say ten years, would far exceed that of draining, while its benefits would in no degree be equal to the latter.—Bos. Times.

MUFFLING THE THROAT.—What is the best mode of protecting the throat from colds where a person is very susceptible to them? The common way of protecting the throat is to bundle and wrap it up closely, thus overheating and rendering it tender and sensitive, and more liable to colds and inflammation than before. This practice is all wrong, and results in much evil. Especially is this the case with children, and when in addition to the muffling of the throat, the extremities are insufficiently clad, as is often the case, the best possible conditions are presented for the production of sore throats, coughs, croup, and all sorts of throat and lung affections.

It is wrong to exclude cold air from the neck, and if it is kept overheated a portion of the time, when it is exposed, some form of disarrangement of the throat will be apt to occur. The rule in regard to clothing the neck should be to keep it as cool as comfort will allow. In doing so you will suffer much less from throat ailments than if you are always fearful of having a little cold air come in contact with the neck. Any one who has been accustomed to have his throat muffled should be careful to leave off gradually, and not all at once.—Herald of Health.

ASHES AND PLASTER FOR POTATOES. A good farmer in this county in a recent conversation, spoke of the value of leached ashes and plaster to his potato crop. On three acres of potatoes he applied fifty bushels of leached ashes, mixed with five bushels of plaster, and administered at the rate of a handful to the hill. The land was a good, strong, heavy soil, and the results were most beneficial. He regards leached ashes as worth twenty-five cents per bushel as a manure. It is better to purchase them at a shilling a bushel than to buy super-phosphate at sixty dollars a ton.—Maine Farmer.

"It is perfectly non-explosive, gives a better light and is more economical than any other lamp in use."—W. W. Wells, late Superintendent of Public Schools, Chicago.

7 PER CENT. GOLD
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ISSUED BY THE
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.
The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR.
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the roots are entirely dead, or decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

FRIDAY, DEC. 2, 1870.

THE USE OF MONEY IN NOMINATIONS.

Hon. Jacob H. Ela, in his speech at Rochester, made reference to the use of money in caucuses and attempts to bribe delegates to conventions, in the following words:—

When nominations are bought and sold, legislation will follow in the same track to recover back the investment. Then farewell to the poor man's chance for any proper voice in the government. He will still have left to him the privilege of fighting to defend it, of toiling to pay taxes to maintain it, and of voting for the men who have bought the position and power to levy taxes upon him; but it would make nominations a farce and elections a mockery, and the sooner the authors and actors in this branch of corruption are branded and held up to odium by the people the better it will be for us all. I think I am not mistaken in tracing it. It has gone into Carroll county. It has gone into Belknap county; it can be found almost beneath the shadow of her courts of justice. It has gone over Rockingham county, and will probably come here into Strafford county. Let the people put the stamp of their condemnation upon it. While it is comparatively unimportant who serves them in Congress or anywhere else, it is all important that money shall not rule them there, or elsewhere, through its purchased agents and tools.

We agree with Mr. Ela, that great danger to the Republican party lies in that particular direction. It is a politician's trade to obtain position by making combinations, but when money is boldly offered, to be paid down in case a certain town shall elect delegates favorable to the nomination of a certain candidate for this or that office, or when a sum of money is directly offered a delegate or delegates to vote a certain way, honest men may be expected to be found in opposition.

Mr. Ela's remarks are timely, and should be considered. The Republican party of New Hampshire cannot be relied on if any of its candidates are to obtain nominations by buying men. A very small margin of votes separates the Republican and Democratic parties. The former have been victorious, because they fought for principle, and if "men, not principles" is to be the rallying cry, and he who pays the highest is to lead the Republican hosts, the latter will be found among the Salt River tourists in a short space of time. Attempt at bribery should be indignantly repudiated, and if money is used to control nominations, those who offer and those who accept it should be learned a lesson that will not be forgotten in future canvasses.

War News.—The French army in the north has abandoned the project of joining the Army of the Loire, and is retreating on Lille.

The London Times correspondent telegraphs that the cannonade against the Germans in the south and west of Paris was a feint to distract attention from a sortie on the Saxons and Wurtemburgers.

A terrible battle has been going on since Wednesday noon, and was still raging at 6 o'clock.

A balloon, probably from Paris, was seen lately over the English Channel. It seemed to be trying to make a landing on one of the Scilly Islands, but a violent east wind prevailed at the time and it was carried out to sea. Unquestionably it was lost in the Atlantic.

About one-third of the town of Thionville was destroyed by fires during its bombardment by the Prussians.

The Army of the Loire is retreating; its present position and numbers are unknown.

It is reported that General Palladines was not only wounded but taken prisoner.

Fancies of a Starving Man.—A Mr. Evarts, who got lost amid the mountains of California, wandered about for many days and was finally discovered when nearly perishing from want of food, strange fancies came over him toward the last of his wandering, which are thus described: He does not admit of the idea that he was deprived of sound mind, but at the same time fancied that he had plenty of company; thought his right leg was one man, his left another, his arms two others and his stomach a fifth, thought they were good fellows, and was sorry he could not give them all they wanted to eat. He was surprised that when thistles were to be dug, fires made, wood brought and meals cooked, that they would not help him. Everything he ate tasted good except grasshoppers. His stomach had not been educated up to that point. He frequently ate raw fish, and esteemed them delicious, caught one snow bird and had a rare meal; chased a toad for two days, but without capturing it. In his dreams he used to cook some of the delicious meals he ever ate in all his life.

Our Correspondence.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.

Messrs. Editors: — The Autumnal months have been very pleasant; but now we begin to feel the cool winds from the north and east, and they will continue with us, and with an occasional shift to the south and west, for rain, will constitute our Winter. It has been a dull year with us, but still we are moving on in the right direction, doing a little here and there to establish ourselves on the basis of the older and more civilized countries.

We have in full operation an Industrial School for our vicious youth, as all so a college for Odd Fellows' children, where oddity will probably be a specialty. Our State has established a University, where all may have access. Orphans, Catholic and Protestant, are well cared for; and there is an institution for "half-orphans" and their mothers, called the Ladies' Relief Society Home. There are others for foundlings and unfortunate women, as also a Home for Aged Females. These establishments are doing much to relieve the demands for aid.

Aside from these, there are any quantity of Lodges, Wigwams and Tents, where secret orders meet and men do congregate. The ladies remain at home, and make it a pleasant place for those who choose to stay and share its secrets with them. It is a great wrong to woman, to debar her from going where her other half goes, on the plea of secrecy. It is all "fol-de-rol," for benefit societies especially, to go by the taps on a door or by peering through small holes or wickets to whisper something, and if the something is forgotten to beg on past good behavior for admission—to what is all around town next day, and is no secret at all. Shame on such nonsense,—pay your dues, ye men of secret societies, and then stay at home so much as will keep a smile on the face of her whom you have sworn to abide by and protect. This will apply only where it is needed, like a doctor's prescription—it won't hurt anybody.

Business in this city shows but little activity. There is just enough doing at present to keep up appearances, but the outlook is good and we expect better times by 1871. Railroads have done much to affect our trade with the interior, but in time we shall gain by them what we now lose. We are dabbling in manufactures, and now make an excellent quality of starch; and will soon export that article, to stiffen your eastern fabrics. For the information of temperance men, I will state that the Pacific Glass Works are now making wine bottles at the rate of 200 dozen daily. They are filling contracts for supplying claret bottles, demijohns, &c., and are thus cutting off importations from France and Germany.

The wine product is still on the increase, and most of the bottled article is shipped to wine-fanciers; the business is assuming large proportions. Our prospect for oil is looking up; the Pacific coast (California and Oregon) crop of flaxseed this year is 2000 tons, which is about equal to the mill facilities. The whaling fleet, just in, gives us 8000 barrels of whale oil; and there is prospect of further arrivals.

The agricultural interests of our state are healthy, though wheat growers are not realizing so much as they expected, yet at this time they are getting 2 cts. per pound and if they dispose of the present crop of 250,000 tons, even at this rate, they cannot despair. The farmers of Stanislaus, Tuolumne and Merced are already encouraged to prepare their fallow ground for grain, while the larger grain counties are getting ready to plough and seed as soon as the fall rains open the way.

The export trade falls far short of what was expected, but no doubt the late buyers will be the heaviest and shipments will yet empty our granaries; as for instance, the arrival of the "China," which brought large orders to supply the Oriental market, has already had a marked effect upon dealers; the prices are temporarily inflated, and vessels are hastily loading for the Celestial country. The importance of our trade with China is being fully considered by the Pacific Mail Co., and they contemplate building several iron steamers of 6,000 tons burthen each, to meet the demand in these waters. Thus we progress towards the great future of our emporium,—Asia and America are now shaking hands, labor and capital are coalescing and who knows but the great Millenium, so long looked for, is just dawning upon us.

Political. — It is reported that Hon. Jacob Benton, of Lancaster, now congressman from the third district, will withdraw from the field as a candidate for a third nomination.

☞ P. T. Barnum is preparing to take the field with a combined museum, menagerie and circus.

Think of it.—The constant use of intoxicating liquors makes hard times for many a man; thus a family of five persons will consume four barrels of flour a year, or one thousand and fifty-six pounds of bread. This is nearly three pounds a day. Good flour can now be bought for $7 a barrel; four times seven makes $28; and thirty cents a day for drinks is $109.50 or $81.50 more per year than the bread for a family of five person costs. "But," says A., "I only take two drinks a day." Very well you pay then for your drinks $73 a year; only $45 more than you pay for the bread consumed by your whole family, if it contains five persons. This sum would provide tea and coffee for them.

Here, then, we see that the man who pays even 20 cents a day for liquor spends a sum sufficient to supply his family with bread, tea and coffee for the year. Is it strange that times are hard—that men complain of the government, and charge that it oppresses them with onerous taxes? The above figures show how men tax themselves, and how they tax property, too.—N. Y. Evening Post.

How He Did It.—A countryman, in England, happened to be traveling in a railway train accompanied by his wife when a collision happened. His wife received a severe contusion between the eyes, for which the jury awarded fifty pounds damages. Some time after the affair had blown over, the following confession was elicited from the plaintiff, in a moment of unguarded conviviality:—"Well, you see, when t' collision happened, t' ould woman and I wur all reet; but when I got o't carriage I saw a lot of fellows in a terrible state. One sings out, 'Ey, lad, I've gettin' my head cut open; I'll ha' twenty peownd for this." 'Twenty peownds!' cried another, 'I'se gettin' my shoulder out, and I'll have forty pounds for t.' 'When I heerd this,' continued the clever business man, 'I jumped at the ould woman straight, and druv my head right between her eyes, and we'se gettin' fifty peownd for it."

An Old Friend.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the emergencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

☞ An adjourned meeting of the friends to the movement to establish a Christian Union of the young people of both sexes, in this city, was held at the Unitarian Chapel on Wednesday evening. Committees were appointed to take the necessary steps towards a permanent organization, and a plan to ensure the success of this important work, will be submitted next Wednesday evening. Associations similar to this, in other cities, have been productive of great good, and the character of the ladies and gentlemen who are engaged in this good work, is a guarantee that it will meet a want much felt in this community.

—The Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad has been opened to Lancaster. The completion of the road to this point removes the objection which its managers have set up to the chartering of the Lake Shore road. They cannot again appear before the Legislature and say that they cannot build their road unless the Lake Shore is defeated. In fact they expressed a willingness to withdraw all opposition as soon as the Concord & Montreal road reached its present terminus. There will, therefore, be no obstacles in the way of obtaining direct railroad connection between Portsmouth and the north part of the State, as well as with the Great West by the Wells River & Montpelier road, now under contract. The Lake Shore road, so urgently asked for by the people on the route, as well as by the managers of the Boston & Maine Railroad, will doubtless be built as soon as a charter can be obtained.—Dover Enquirer.

Our Correspondence.

KITTERY, Dec. 1.

On Wednesday the County Commissioners heard J. T. Lewis and others, citizens of York and Kittery, petitioners for a County road to lead from the Post road near the dwellings of Mr. Lewis and Mr. Samuel M. Norton, through to the Bartlett road in the town of York.

Mr. Lewis and other citizens of Kittery were also heard at the same time, upon a petition on an appeal from the decision of the town of Kittery on the acceptance of a town road connecting the Post road with the Norton road.

Quite an interest was manifested in the County road case, from the fact that it has been twice before located and has not been opened through legal quibbling. The County road would seem to answer all purposes, and would probably satisfy all parties.

M. A. Safford, Esq., appears for the petitioners in both cases; Jos. Braggdon, Esq., appears in the first case, in behalf of the town of York.

Our Correspondence.

RYE, Dec. 1.

At a Republican caucus held Wednesday evening, the following gentlemen were chosen delegates to the several conventions:—

State.—Charles A. Drake, Thomas W. Rand.

Congressional.—Levi T. Sanborn, Gilman Garland.

Councillor.—George G. Lougee, Curtis Philbrick.

Senator.—Jenness Marden, George H. Seavey.

County.—William Brown, Charles Garland.

Miss Barber with her juvenile singing school, gave a concert at the Baptist church last Monday evening, which drew quite a large audience. The chorus singing was very well performed by the young misses and showed that they had been thoroughly instructed by their teacher. Miss Barber sang two songs, which were well received. Her school, and the one at the East School House, have closed, so that there are only two in operation at present. R.

—An old bachelor editor, thus, in his spite, comments on a recent moonlight incident:—"We left our sanctum at midnight last night, and on our way home we saw a young lady and gentleman holding a gate on its hinges. They were evidently indignant at being kept out so late, we saw them bite each other several times."

—Gypsum is frequently ground very coarse. It should be reduced as fine as wheat flour, or the effect on crops will not be perceived, as the small particles must be dissolved by the rain before it will operate as a fertilizer.

☞ Ex-Governor Z. B. Vance was elected United States Senator from North Carolina on Tuesday, receiving 94 votes to 43 for Gen. Jos. G. Abbott.

☞ Moran, who murdered Constable Packard of East Stoughton, Mass., last September, has been captured. It having been for some time past suspected by certain parties that Moran was hiding in town, a posse of some twelve officers visited the house of a cousin of his for the purpose of searching it. After patiently and carefully going over the house, but finding nothing to reward their labors, they were on the point of giving up the search, when they accidentally overturned a large clothes basket, and lo! a trap door was discovered. They immediately commenced raising it, when from beneath, coming through the floor, several shots were fired in rapid succession, the bullets flying about in dangerous proximity to their ears. They soon had the trap raised, but on jumping down they found the bird had flown, and was making off rapidly toward the piece of woods near by. Chase was given the desperate man, making off with the speed of the wind, desperation urging his flight, which he felt was for his life.

Seeing that he was fast gaining on them, and fearing that if he once gained the shelter of the wood his chances for escape were greater than theirs for capture, they commenced firing at him from their revolvers. Shot after shot was sent after the flying desperado, and it was not until he had received half a dozen or more shots in his legs, and others elsewhere, that his speed was slackened sufficiently to allow the officers to come up with him. After a severe hand-to-hand struggle, in which the brutal wretch, brought to bay, fought with the fury of a madman, he was at last captured and handcuffed.

The N. H. State Teachers' Association will hold its Annual Meeting at Concord, Dec. 8th and 9th.

The N. H. State Musical Festival will be held at Concord Jan. 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13, 1871. Mrs. H. M. Smith, Miss Zilla McQuestion, Mrs. E. F. Darling, Mrs. M. D. Shepard, Dr. Guilmette, Mr. H. C. Barnabee and the Mendelssohn Quintette Club will take part. Prof. W. O. Perkins and Mr. J. H. Morey will conduct.

POLITICAL.—The next Legislature of Florida will have a Republican majority on joint ballot of four, the Senate standing twelve Republicans to twelve Democrats, and the House twenty-eight Republicans to twenty-four Democrats.

In the Arkansas Legislature the Republican majority on joint ballot is thirty-five. Senator McDonald's re-election is the decision of the town of Kittery on the acceptance of a town road connecting the Post road with the Norton road.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the method that should be pursued, but what, under the baleful influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more equable, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is more miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who have a tendency to a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease well, and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of Cod Liver Oil, Syrup, Compound Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than in northern latitudes. This is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the contrary, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not, they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to produce a free stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate patient and family, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured every many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its baleful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and cramps, cholera morbus, or diarrhœa will come on, take one of the Mandrakes, and they will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will rouse you in two hours. If you would avoid the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrake Pills every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, melons, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you a great only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and Philadelphia, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be no thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged. The Respirometer tells the patient the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can really learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the success of my treatment depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting a physician. They can be bought of any druggist.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Morning Chronicle.

A STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

BY JOHN ESTEN COOKE.

The recent terrible freshets in the James, the Shenandoah, and other Virginia rivers, recall to my memory an exciting incident which I witnessed at Richmond more than twenty years ago.

It occurred at "the falls"—opposite which the city stands—a point at which the river, rushing over a bed of rocks more or less elevated above the surface, forms a variety of rapid streams, in which it was at that time the habit of boys to swim. When the river is low, these streams are comparatively safe to the bather, if he is a good swimmer, but, when the current is swollen by rains, they become very violent and dangerous—so dangerous, indeed, that the best swimmers make haste to get to the shore.

At the time mentioned I was bathing in the falls, when the sudden rising of the stream warned me of the coming danger, and I hurried from the water. In an inconceivably brief space the river rose several feet; and, half an hour afterward, the whole breadth of the falls was a roaring, raging, foaming mass of waves, dashed against the jagged rocks, to fall back in clouds of foam. The spectacle was at once beautiful and terrible. The citizens had hastened down to witness the sight; crowds lined the bank; and all eyes were directed toward Mayo's Bridge, against which the waves were beating with ever-increasing force—when suddenly intelligence ran thro' the crowd that a boy, who had been swimming, was caught on a mass of rock, in mid current, in the falls above.

With the rest I hurried to the point of interest, and reached the banks opposite the rock upon which the boy had taken refuge. It arose about fifty yards from the shore, and was already environed by the raging current which boiled around it, throwing up clouds of foam. The boy was about sixteen, slender, entirely naked, for his clothes had been washed away; and we could see that he was white with the anticipation of swiftly-coming destruction. He clung to a small mass of shrubs growing out of the rock, and his eyes were alternately turned upon the furious torrent around him and upon the crowd on shore.

Many hundred persons had quickly assembled, and each one hurriedly suggested some means of rescue. None seemed possible. No boat could live for a moment in such a torrent—the waves would have dashed it to pieces against the rocks. The only possible means of saving the boy's life seemed to be for some one to swim to him with a rope; but to attempt that appeared to be going to certain death; and, intense as the pity and sympathy of the crowd had become, no one seemed willing to essay the desperate enterprise. Meanwhile the water steadily rose higher, and grew ever more threatening. Rocks in the current—one large one especially—which a moment before had been visible just beneath the surface, now entirely disappeared: the roaring waters steadily crawled up the sides of the mass upon which the boy stood; and at last the angry waves washed his very feet, as he clung despairingly to the swaying shrubs. A few moments now, all saw plainly, would end the tragedy. The unhappy lad would quickly be washed away or submerged. In either event he would be swept to the jagged ledges below, and his frail form dashed to pieces.

The excitement of the crowd had now become intense. Every one held his breath, paralyzed by this spectacle of a human being about to be swept to destruction. All at once, however, a loud shout arose. Every one hastened to the spot where a man was throwing off his clothes. A brave spirit had resolved to attempt the rescue of the boy; and I hurried with the rest to look at him. As I reached him he had stripped naked for the desperate wrestle. He was a tall, powerfully-formed young man of twenty-two or three apparently, an employee, it was said, in one of the great manufactories on the river, and his clear, brave eyes gave no sign of fear. Without a word he addressed himself to his perilous work. Going up the bank one or two hundred yards above, he tied the end of a ball of twine to his body, mounted upon a ledge, made a vigorous dive to reach the open current, and rising struck out vigorously amid the huge waves. The crowd shouted, and then held their breath, gazing at the figure of the swimmer, who seemed a mere leaf upon the furious torrent. He was swept along like lightning, dashed over the huge hidden rock I have mentioned, and though the great mass of foam which marked it; a moment afterward another shout ascended, like a roar, from the crowd—the swimmer had reached the rock whereon the boy stood, and had clutched a hanging shrub which enabled him to draw himself up out of the caldron.

We could then follow all his movements. They were rapid, decisive, and self-possessed. Indeed, not an instant was to be lost. The water boiled already over the summit of the mass of rock, above which only the bending shrubs were now seen. The young man hastily drew toward him the twine to which those on shore had attached a rope of the size of a garden-line. The rope at last reached him; he clutched it almost fiercely, tied it around the boy's waist, then in the same manner secured it around his own person—he in advance—and then, just as the "hell of waters" foamed up around him, surging waist-high, he threw himself into the current, drawing the boy after him toward the shore, where a hundred hands were dragging at the rope.

That few moments' struggle with the fury of the flood was one of the most exciting incidents which I have ever witnessed. The spectacle was indeed fearful. The lives of man and boy hung upon a thread. A thrill ran through all hearts; a loud exclamation followed. The boy had disappeared beneath the waves—the rope pulling him under—and then a huge, thundering, remorseless wall of foam rushed over the head of the young man, too; he sank, the torrent swept over him, and not a trace of either man or boy was visible to the agonized eyes of the lookers-on.

A moment afterward what seemed two corpses were dragged to shore out of the current. A dozen hands caught them, and a feeble movement of the young man's hand indicated that he was not dead. He felt for the rope around his body. All eyes were turned in that direction. The rope had buried itself nearly, cutting into his flesh; he was suffocating!

The rope was severed instantly, and a long breath from the violet lips indicated the immense relief. An instant afterward the young man rose to his feet, and, as he did so, the boy, who had been assiduously cared for, also opened his eyes, uttered a deep sigh, and then smiled. He was snatched from the very jaws of death; and the courage of an unknown friend had alone saved him.

I looked at that friend. He was smiling, too, and receiving, with the modest air of a brave man, the praises of the crowd.

"I thought at one time I was gone," the boy said to him, feebly. The brave young man laughed.

"I only ask one thing," he said, "that the man who cut that rope will sell me the knife that cut it!"

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

A DOMESTIC SCENE.

A parasol tassel is a very small thing to create a difficulty in a man's family, yet, insignificant as it is in itself, it did cause much domestic trouble out in the West End last night. The night was warm, as many who were tossing about in ineffectual efforts to sleep may remember.

Taking a stroll on the streets, about eleven o'clock, to see what we could see, we came upon a discordant couple, man and wife, evidently, who were so earnestly engaged in a family dispute between themselves that they didn't observe us, so we stopped and observed them. They were of unmistakable Teutonic origin.

The husband, stubborn and morose, was seated on the doorstep of a planing mill and the wife was standing in front of him on the sidewalk, emptying imaginary vials of wrath upon his head, varied with female lamentations usual on such occasions, all of which he received with occasional sullen remonstrance.

"Only two years married, already," said the indignant wife, "and you running round mit de girls, pooty quick. Unt here is de leedle barasol tassel vot I found in your pocket. Yost suck a leedle tassel vot Carina Von Trump's barasol don't have got all de wile. Vot you got to say to dose?"

"Vot I got to say?" returned the husband, in a tone of injured innocence. "Vot I told you already, vot I always tole you, and vot I never tell you some what I live, and always will? I tol. you I found de leedle barasol tassel at the pase pall grounds; and that's more what's the mader."

The wife would not accept the explanation, but continued to accuse him of connubial derelictions, although the only evidence she seemed to have on hand was the parasol tassel. At length another actor appeared on the scene. He proved to be a neighbor of theirs, and although he came strolling along, whistling in an indifferent manner, as if on no purpose bent, yet it was apparent that he had sought them with a view of effecting a reconciliation and getting them home.

"Hallo, Hans, vas this you?" said the new comer, acting as though surprised at finding him there, "you are pooty late out, ain't it? Why you no go home?"

"I don't go home, that's why I ain't out pooty quick late," replied Hans, gloomily.

"What," said the neighbor in astonishment, "a leedle tassel like dose make all these difficulties! Vy I picks up heep dose leedle tassels at the pase pall grounds effry tay vot I lon' go town there. Got tozzens—thousands of 'em at home, I guess not. Von leedle barasol tassel! Vell, you yonst like to see my pureas drawers full of dose tassels vot I tells you, unt my frau she likes 'em unt says it's pully. Von leedle tassel makes all tis troubles. Vell, if I hadn't ouf polieved it I never would have seen it."

He continued in this strain, and finally made out that every married man in the neighborhood had bushels of "leedle barasol tassels" which they picked up at the base ball grounds, conveying the idea that the air fairly rained tassels whenever there was a throng of ladies to witness a base ball match.

The woman at length became moderately pacified, and consented to go home, forgetting and forgiving, if Hans would, and Hans, after an amount of grumbling and hesitation, which his injured feelings seemed to demand, consented, and they went home; the well-meaning but somewhat extravagant neighbor still dwelling on the heap of parasol tassels he had himself accumulated at the "pase pall grounds."—Cincinnati Times.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It has a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

SATURDAY, DEC. 3, 1870.

THE WAR.—Dispatches from Paris, dated the 30th, says that operations by the French commenced Thursday at different points around the city.

Gambetta claims a great French victory. He says the Prussians were defeated along the entire line of battle, which was many miles in extent. Great numbers of prisoners and cannon were captured by the French. The corps were commanded by Generals Trochu, Ducrot and Vinoy.

Gambetta, in announcing the victory says that one of the results of it was to hasten the evacuation of Amiens by the Prussians, who hastily started for Paris to reinforce the German army.

The battle at Paris began on Tuesday, the 29th, and at last accounts the garrison remained outside in the position they had captured from the Prussians.

Gambetta announces that the army of the Loire has successfully resisted an attack on the left and right wings, and is now moving forward.

A balloon from Paris has descended in Morbinan, a maritime province in the west of France, upon the Atlantic.

The balloonists proceeded to Varmes, and forwarded their dispatches to the Government at Tours. They contain the most encouraging intelligence, being fully confirmatory of the advices of the sortie, and escape of Gen. Ducrot, with an entire army through the Prussian environment.

The ministry have furnished the following as the account of the sortie, which was telegraphed by the aeronaut:

We left Paris on Wednesday. The city was then indescribably excited over the news of Gen. Ducrot's escape.

General Trochu, before the sortie, issued a manifesto foreshadowing the attempt to cut the Prussian lines and liberate a portion of the garrison of Paris, and throwing the responsibility for the coming bloodshed upon those whose detestable ambition had prolonged the war.

Gen. Ducrot also issued a proclamation to the Parisians, swearing before he whole nation to re-enter Paris dead or victorious.

Upon Tuesday, Gen. Ducrot at the head of the Second and Third Corps of the Second Army of the forces of Paris, all regular troops of the line, and numbering 100,000 men, defiled under the guns of Forts Vincennes, Charenton, Nogent and Derossy upon the southeast of Paris, leaving the First Corps, under Gen. Vinoy, to attempt the piercing of the Prussian line upon the south. The army under Gen. Ducrot then struck the Prussian line at the weakest point upon the southeast, and succeeded in crossing the Marne. The passage was made by eight bridges of pontoons, under cover of the guns of Forts Charenton and Nogent and Castle of Vincennes. The Prussians opposed their passage unavailingly, as they offered but a weak line of battle.

The heaviest fighting was at Champigny, Brie and Villiers, villages upon the Marne, southeast of Paris.

The regulars stormed and captured these places, and now hold the positions taken. Gen. Ducrot is intrenching and maneuvering his forces for a junction with the Army of the Loire, which was the object of the sortie. His line extends in a semi-circle, conforming to the bend in the Marne.

Gen. Trochu being informed by Gen. Ducrot of his victorious march, issued an order of the day to the troops, congratulating them upon their gallantry, and declaring that Gen. Ducrot deserves the thanks of the whole country for his great victory upon the South.

Gen. Vinoy has renewed the combat, with the First Corps of Regulars of the Army under Gen. Ducrot, and several corps of the Gardes Mobile.

A dispatch from King William claims that the French were repulsed at all points.

Private dispatches to the London Stock Exchange and Lloyds assert that Gen. Trochu has succeeded in cutting through the Prussian lines in such force that the Germans were driven from all their positions with a great rout. A great battle is now going on in the West of the city.

The Prussians under Prince Frederick Charles are retiring toward Paris before the Army of the Loire, which is advancing in great strength.

The army that escaped from Paris is said to be ten miles outside that city.

The Army of the Loire and Von Der Tann's army fought on Thursday. Both sides claim the victory.

A London special says Gen Ducrot's forces is stated at 150,000 men, with 400 guns. They have obtained possession of the Fontainebleau road. Two Generals and 2000 men were wounded. The Prussian losses were enormous.

FRANCIS BRETT HARTE.—The San Francisco correspondent of the Topeka State Record gives a biography of the new poet, essayist and humorist, Francis Brett Harte, whose sudden popularity is one of the events of recent American literary history. Mr. Harte was born in Albany in 1837. He lost his father (a professor in the Albany female seminary,) when he was a mere child, and, after receiving an ordinary school education, obtained employment as clerk in New York. At the age of seventeen he went to California to seek his fortune, and, after losing what little money he possessed in San Francisco, travelled on foot to the Sonora mines and opened a school. He did not succeed in this, and was equally unlucky at placer mining, which he tried next.

After various adventures, he became a compositor in a newspaper office at Eureka. Here he used to surreptitiously contribute to the paper, transferring his essays from his mind to his composing stick without the intervention of pen and ink, and crediting them to exchanges. They attracted notice from the first, but it was some time before the authorship was discovered. He refused a situation in the editorial room, wishing first to master the mechanical part of the business; but he once took charge of the paper for six weeks, during his employer's absence, composing his editorials mentally, and setting them up at once in type.

Having narrowly escaped mobbing because he denounced an indiscriminate massacre of Indians by the whites, he returned to San Francisco, and became a compositor in the office of the Golden Era, until his literary abilities were discovered, and he was promoted to the editorial department. He held positions successively in the United States surveyor general's office, the United States marshal's office, and the branch mint, and was concerned in the management of the Californian, a weekly paper started by Charles H. Webb. It was with the foundation, however, of the Overland Monthly, in July, 1868, that his real celebrity began. He has been the editor of this racy and excellent magazine from the outset, and written for it his best poems, and those characteristic pictures of California life which have been so keenly appreciated on both sides of the continent.

Communication.

COMPROMISING.—Reuben and May, with earnest look, sat poring o'er a favorite book; the light was dim, the print not clear, bringing their faces very near. Her sunny ringlets touched his brow, poor youth! he felt so queer somehow, those happy moments, filled with bliss, forgetting all—he stole—a kiss. May, then exclaimed with great surprise, (the love seemed beaming from her eyes) "how dare you thus with me to deal, do you not know 'tis wrong to steal." "I know," says Reuben, "it is wrong, but oh! temptation was so strong, it made me from the right depart, no worse than you who stole my heart. And now to me is justly due, your loving heart so pure and true; please will you not agree to this, if I'll return the stolen kiss." "Your terms are fair," says modest May, "I can but do just as you say; I'will pay to seek the end of strife, so sure to make a happy life." AUGUSTUS.

WISE ACTION.—The regular Republican general committee representing the anti-Tammany wing of the party has declared that a large number of Republicans, whose names were mentioned, now holding municipal offices under Democratic authority, are not to be considered fit representatives of the Republican party in New York city, and that their presence and action in the Republican general committee is an abuse not to be tolerated by the Republicans of that city or State at large. A committee was appointed to confer with the State central committee, and take other measures for the reorganization of the party in the city. The meeting was very largely attended and unanimous in their action.

☞ Russia has signified her consent to a conference. The reply of Gortschakoff is withheld from the public until his reply to Earl Granville's last note is received. The Times suggests an immediate summoning of Parliament. The Herald's correspondent, at Versailles, sends the following rumor; Turkey, not being disposed to resent the note of Russia, Bismark is favorable to England's obtaining the protectorate over the Suez canal, in consideration of which, England's own road to India being thus rendered secure, Russia may do what she pleases with Turkey. This is another blow aimed at France.

ASHES FOR FRUIT TREES.—The editor of the Horticulturist says: We have known quite a number of instances—indeed, so often as to make it quite a rule that old orchards apparently dying out have been brought back again to fruitfulness by the liberal use of wood ashes; also stirring the soil. Potash is the most important element in the successful growth of all kinds of fruit trees. An old gentleman told a club, not long ago, that he had known a man to take and preserve an orchard of apple trees in a flourishing and productive condition, originally placed on very poor ground, by sprinkling every year around each tree, to the circumference of the extent of its branches, half a bushel of ashes. We consider this a very important item.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels—rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a tonic or stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal cana', while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwatwt3

☞ A horse, belonging to Mr. Vandenhoff of this city, after quietly depositing the young son of Mr. Vandenhoff and a companion on the ground near Wibird's Hill, ran at a three minute gait down State Street, Friday afternoon. He "stopt of his own accord," having gone far enough to badly smash the wagon. Nobody hurt.

GENEROSITY. — The owners of the Rice estate in Kittery have again shown themselves generous, as well as interested in the cause of education, by presenting to the inhabitants of School District No. 1 of that town, a fine building-lot, containing one-half an acre of land. It is a fact well known to the residents of Kittery, that the past lives of these people have been characterized by similar acts of benevolence. The recipients of their last donation fully appreciate the magnanimity of the donors, who have thus manifested their desire to aid in so good a cause. J. F.

ALDERMEN.—On Thursday evening, the Mayor read a notification from W. H. Y. Hackett, as attorney for Simon Marston and others, petitioners for extension of Wibird Street through to South Road,—that an appeal had been made to the S. J. Court, for the granting of said petition, refused by the Aldermen two years since.

Edward B. Goodall's resignation of the position of School Committeeman; and that of Wm. Simes, as Assessor, were accepted.

The Board, agreeably to notice from the Common Council, met in Convention to count the vote for Mayor at the recent election. Mr. Adams was of course declared re-elected.

Complaint of Andrew Gardner, that trees on the highway near his residence on Peverly Hill Road, had been cut down,—was referred to Committee on Streets with Mayor added.

On notice of Alderman Marvin, that the Primary School Room in High St. is not properly ventilated—the Chairman of Committee on School Houses was requested to confer with the owner of the property respecting the same.

The Common Council met for the first time for some months, and refused to concur with the Aldermen in a vote to sell portions of the City Farm at Auction.

Bills relating to the Fire Department and to a stand for hitching horses were referred to a special committee, Messrs. Waterhouse, French and Miller.

Concurrence was asked in accepting grade of Union Street; referred to Committee on Streets.

Adjourned for one week.

☞ The Belfast Journal says one of the German clothing dealers in that city recently sold a man a pair of boots. A few days afterwards the man returned with them, and said that he went out into the barn-yard to work, where 'twas a little wet, and the soles came off, "Mine Got, mine friend, you didn't ought to valk round to dem. Dey ish cavalry boots, made to ride mit!"

☞ Congress will meet on Monday and continue in session until March 4th, 1871. A special to the Traveller says there will be a strong attempt made on the part of staff officers of the Navy to defeat the confirmation of Admiral Porter in the Senate by endeavoring to get the law, fixing the grade of Admiral, repealed.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.—The total debt Dec. 1st, less amount in the Treasury, was $2,441,784,355. Decrease in November $7,475,860. Decrease since March 1st, 1870, $104,018,982.

Our Correspondence.

CAPE-NEDDICK, Dec. 1.

Mr. Asahel Goodwin's store, with his large stock of goods was entirely destroyed by fire Thursday at 11 1-2 o'clock, A. M.; the flames were furious, (there being much kerosene oil in the store,) and in one hour the store was entirely destroyed. Mr. Goodwin was out delivering goods, and before he returned all was gone. Store and goods valued at about $6000, insured for $3700. Mr. Weare's store was on fire several times and were it not for the exertions of the people, (including the ladies—who ought not to be forgotten,) his store and house would have been burned. His goods were partly removed from the store. The fire no doubt was accidental. J. W.

The second story was occupied by O. Baron Stover, as a dwelling house. Mr. S. was discharged from the Navy Yard on Wednesday, and returned home only to find all his furniture, clothing, &c., in ashes. Mrs. S. and little daughter were also absent from home and saved only the clothing they had on. The loss falls heavily upon Mr. Stover, who is a worthy industrious citizen and has the sympathy of his fellow townsmen, and we are happy to state, that upon his case being represented to the officers of the Yard, he was informed that he could resume work. G. W. S. P.

☞ The annual estimate for the various departments for the ensuing year, as far as they have been made out, are as follows:—For the War department, $29,383,998; the Navy department, $20,683,317.77; the Treasury department, $22,848,951,84. These sums are all independent of unexpended balances.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WITHIN THE WHOLE RANGE of tonic and alterative medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the PERUVIAN SYRUP. In all cases of enfeebled and debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down on the Atlantic Shore, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but either, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and balmy. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go early in the season to the State, out of the way of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will be more to understand the disease fully: and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take a few quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills: for the climate is more likely to produce biliousness than that of northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the northern part. On the other hand, in New Orleans, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were so easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c.; but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. No physician has ever prescribed for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advised the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such a person. With a relish for food, the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy; and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that my Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

As far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its baneful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and symptoms of cholera, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may drink drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer tells the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that all my medicines and medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

OF THE

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

Morning Chronicle.

THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

Corn.—At the Farmers' Meeting in Concord, Hon. Simon Brown of the New England Farmer said that he should suggest nothing new, but would rather repeat facts that could not be too deeply impressed. He deemed corn a most healthful food, and said his children left hot biscuit untouched for "johnny cake." It made royal puddings. Stock of all kinds liked it, especially swine. Mr. Brown digressed a while here upon pork-raising saying it had been largely given up in these parts, and the man who ought to raise it has to purchase it with a go between profit and two freight bills on top of the worth of pork. No grain is so easy to preserve or transport as corn. The success of the farmer depends on how cheap he can sell for. If land needs draining to grow corn, drain it, for the roots can live as well in fire as in cold water, and a tile or stone drain once down is laid for a lifetime.

On the advantages of deep ploughing he could talk for hours, for roots must have room, the sun must warm and rain must not be allowed to run away on a hard surface, and its ammonia, &c., be lost. To him the air was a dung-heap and should permeate the loose earth and the ground should be lifted to allow it. He always reached a depth of nine inches on first ploughing, and meant to go two better the next. Even if subsoil is stirred up it rapidly becomes soil, and its mineral elements are available. He had abandoned the harrow as hardening the surface.

By planting in straight lines time could be saved by avoiding the use of the hoe and enabling the employment of a horse in loosening the soil about the hills. In case crows proved annoying, he said a large spoonful of tallow to a peck of corn and distributed through it by hot water, would render the grain very distasteful to that cawtious and fastidious fowl. This simple expedient would do away with lines, scarecrows, &c., Power would ever prove more economical than hard labor, and he hoped to see the hoe almost discarded and the plough in its place in corn raising. (Mr. Aldrich of West Concord here offered to do the handiwork thing if he could be taught to raise corn with the hoe.)

Corn fodder, Mr. B. said, was generally undervalued, as he thought it worth half the crop, to be used in place of hay. The expediency of selling English hay and improving poor fodder by greater care, he strongly advised in this connection. Mr. B. did his own planting with a $1 planter, by hand, and began to cultivate early, touching it up as late as August. He thought eighteen days was enough time to spend on an acre of land, and mentioned a neighbor who, with that amount of work, had raised nineteen hundred bushels of corn, at twenty-six cents a bushel. The land of this man is level, free from stone and one horse can draw the plough. In conclusion, a glowing picture of the thrifty farm was drawn.

Col. Clough of Canterbury, President of the Merrimack County Agricultural Society, followed, saying he'd raised corn ever since boyhood, and latterly had planted about twenty acres a year. Manure is considered the farmer's right bower. With a ten yoke team he could plough two acres a day, cutting and turning under which grass. In case grubs were to be got rid of, he advised ploughing in the fall and freezing the pest; if wire-worms, plough just before planting. He used a little superphosphate to cover the corn, which could be done with the foot. He carted his corn to the barn as soon as dry, husking at leisure. One object ought to be to better the soil every year, and in this way he had made farming profitable.

In raising corn, Mr. Lawrence of Epping said he broke his land and spread his compost in the fall, believing it preferable to manuring on the hill, as getting the power of the manure into the ground just in time for corn. Adding a little super-phospate, he always got fine crops, besides saving labor in the busy spring. He planted but one year, applying green manure the next, and sowing grain. He had no fear of the depopulation of the State, believing the country better fitted for growth of timber and grass.

Mr. Pattee of Warner related his experiments for three years with various manures and fertilizers, and had raised forty-four bushels to the acre at fifty cents a bushel, with super-phosphate, which he considered paid for itself and gave a dividend of a hundred and thirty per cent. over green manure, on land where he raised but twenty bushels without any fertilizer. He used four hundred pounds to the acre. Mr. P. thought the last New England Fair, with $3 entry ticket and $3 wheat premium, small encouragement to grain raisers.

Mr. Hawthorne of Hopkinton said that he had tasted the bitters and sweets of the West, and could laugh at the sneer that New Hampshire, was "a good State to emigrate from," and say it was a good one to come back and stick to. The especial duty of the Yankee farmer is to stop waste, as in barnyards, sinks, sewers and in bones. The great advantage of New England farming seemed to him the thought, planning, backbone and perseverance it required that is not necessary in the West. This made the mind superior, and developed the thrift, energy, tact, pitch-in and hang-on that made the New Englander in demand at the West, wherever indomitable will was required.

Though this was the main advantage, our derided rocks had proved to us reservoirs of warmth and moisture, and saved us in dry times when the western soil cracks, bake and ruins the fruit of its own bosom. The speaker proved by statistics that grain and cattle East stood in for greater value than West, at a good and often heavy per cent., to say nothing of the fact that our markets are at our own doors. A heavy crop was often the ruin of the Western man, who sometimes could hardly give it away, and the hope of exporting was cut off by heavy transportation prices, sometimes as high as sixty cents on a bushel, at the wharf in England. He accounted for the fact that our State does not raise enough to feed its own people, largely by the fact that we have an immense inroad of visitors annually, and that much surface is not available for tillage. He thought the farmer who owned bank or railroad stock drew a tax from the West upon it.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.
"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"
It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.
THE ÆTNA
is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

HIS ANSWER TO "HER LETTER."

REPORTED BY TRUTHFUL JAMES.

Being asked by an intimate party—
Which the same I would term as a friend—
Which his health it were vain to call hearty,
Since the mind to deceit it might lend;
For his arm it was broken quite recent,
And has something gone wrong with his lung—
Which is why it is proper and decent,
I should write what he runs off his tongue.

First, he says, Miss, he's road through your letter
To the end—and the end came too soon,
That a slight illness kept him your debtor,
(Which for weeks he was wild as a loon.)
That his spirits are buoyant as yours is;
That with you, Miss, he challenges Fate,
(Which the language that invalid uses
At times it were vain to relate.)

And he says that the mountains are fairer
For once being held in your thought;
That each rock holds a wealth that is rarer,
Than ever by gold-seeker sought—
(Which are words he would put in these pages,
By a party not given to guile;
Which the same not, at date, paying wages,
Might produce in the sinful a smile.)

He remembers the ball at the Ferry,
And the ride, and the gate, and the vow,
And the rose that you gave him—that very Same rose he is treasuring now;
(Which his blanket he's kicked on his trunk, Miss,
And insists on his legs being free;
And his language to me from his bunk, Miss,
Is frequent and painful and free.)

He hopes you are wearing no willows,
But are happy and gay all the while;
That he knows—(which this dodging of pillows,
Imparts but small ease to the style,
And the same you will pardon)—he knows, Miss,
That, though parted by many a mile,
Yet, were he lying under the snows, Miss,
They'd melt luto tears at your smile.

And you'll still think of him in your pleasures,
In your brief twilight dreams of the past,
In this green laurel spray that he treasures,
It was plucked where your parting was last.
In this specimen—but a small trifle—
It will do for a pin, for your shawl;
(Which the truth not to wickedly stifle,
Was his last week's "clean up"—and his all.)

He's asleep—which the same might seem strange,
Were it not that I scorn to deny, [Miss,
That I raised his last dose for a change, Miss,
In view that his fever was high.
But he lies there quite peaceful and pensive;
And, now, my respects, Miss, to you;
Which, my language, although comprehensive,
Might seem to be freedom—it's true.

Which I have a small favor to ask you,
As concerns a bull-pup, which the same—
If the dog would not overtask you—
You would please to procure for me, game.
And send per express to the Flat, Miss,
Which they say York is famed for the breed,
Which though words of deceit may be that—Miss,
I'll trust to your taste, Miss, indeed.

P. S.—Which this same interfering
In other folks' ways I despise—
Yet, if so be I was hearing
That it's just empty pockets as lies,
Betwixt you and Joseph—it follers
That, having no family claims,
Here's my pile—which it's six hundred dollars,
As is, yours, with respects,

(—Overland Monthly. TRUTHFUL JAMES.

THAT'S WHAT'S THE MATTER, CAP. A specimen of the genus "Hoosier" was found by Captain———, of the steamer———, in the engine room of his boat while lying at Louisville, one fine morning. The Captain enquired what he was doing there. "Have you seen Captain Perry?" was the interrogative response.

"Don't know him; and can't tell what that has to do with your being in the engine-room," replied the captain, angrily.

"Hold on, that's just what I was getting at. You see, Captain Perry asked me to take a drink, and so—I did; I knew that I wanted to drink, or I shouldn't have been so very dry. So Captain Perry and I went to the bar—Captain Perry was putting in some extras on one toe. I sung out, 'Go it, Captain Perry, if you bust your biler.' With that a man steps up to me, says he, 'you're making too much noise.' Says I, 'I've been in bigger crowds than this, and made more noise, and didn't leave nuther.' With that he took me by the nap of the neck and the seat of the breeches—and I left.

As I was shoven down the street I met a lady—I knew she was a lady by the remark she made. Says she, 'Young man, I reckon you'll go home with me.' Politeness wouldn't let me refuse, and so I went. I'd been in the house but a minute when I heard considerable of a knocking at the door. I know'd the chap wanted to get in, whoever he was, or he would not have kept up such a tremendous racket. By and by, says a voice. 'Ef you don't open I'll bust in the door.' And so he did. I put on a bold face, and, says I, 'Stranger, does this woman belong to you?' Says he, 'She does.' 'Then,' says I, 'she's a lady, I think, from all that I have seen of her.'

With that he came at me with a pistol in one hand and a bowie-knife in the other, and being a little pressed for room, I jumped through the window, leaving the bigger portion of my coat-tail. As I was streaking it down town with the fragments fluttering to the breeze, I met a friend. I know he was a friend by the remark he made. Says he, 'Go in, bobtail, he's gainin' on you.' And that's the way I happened in your engine-room. I'm a good a swimmer, Captain, but do excuse me if you please, from taking to the water."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all those diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for useful years by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

MONDAY, DEC. 5, 1870.

THE WAR.—A despatch to the London Times from Tours, dated the 1st instant, says that the army of the Loire has effected a junction with General Trochu's forces from Paris. The Germans under Prince Federick Charles are retiring before the united armies.

The London Telegraph says that the French have won a great advantage in the departments of the Seine and Marne, and now possess a military preponderance never enjoyed by them since the opening of the campaign.

The Prussians, under Prince Federick Charles, unable to hold the village of Beaune la Rolande, which they had maintained for a short time against General de Paladines, evacuated and burned that village. The inhabitants, numbering two thousand, were driven from their shelter. The retreat of the Germans was compelled by the harassing attacks of the French. In the last encounter the French troops engaged were merely young conscripts from the southern provinces who had joined De Paladines from Tours. They behaved splendidly, fighting with the bearing of veterans. General Aurelles de Paladines, with the army of the Loire, is in full motion. His troops have retaken the towns of Montoire, department of Loire et Cher, Saint Calais and Bresse-sur-Brave, both in the department of Sarthe, Mondoubleau in the department of Loire et Cher, and Brou. Nogent-le-Rotrou on the left, and Montargis on the right, have also been occupied by the French. The retreat of the Prussians was very precipitate. The Prussians were badly repulsed upon attacking Chateau Gaillard, near Toury, about 25 miles southeast of Chartres. These victories have been mainly achieved against the army operating upon the right, under Prince Frederick Charles. General de Paladine's triumphs over the German army upon the left, under the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, have been even more brilliant; his strategic movement towards the west, threatening the Prussian line at Versailles, has forced them to evacuate the arrondissement of Vendome and the towns of Cloyes, Chateaudun and Chateau Meux.

A London dispatch says the movements of the army of the Loire began on Wednesday. The first operations were favorable. General Chauzy left his position the next day, and found the Prussians entrenched at Gullonville, Ferminier and Gomars. He immediately gave them battle, which only ended with the night. The Prussians were compelled to retire, and the positions held by them were captured by the French, where they encamped that night. The French were very well handled. The German loss was heavy and the French very light.

A correspondent with Garibaldi's headquarters at Autun writes on Thursday that the Prussians attacked Autun with twelve cannon and infantry and cavalry. At four o'clock they were repulsed with great loss.

The German patrols in the valley of the Loire are shot down from every hedge and building.

☞ It is said that Gen. Butler foreshadows the opinions of Gen. Grant, in demanding an early settlement of the Alabama claims. The President's message will be looked forward to with great interest.

Reverdy Johnson, in a long letter to the president of the Great Western Insurance Company, of New York, on the Alabama claims, advises the underwriters to withdraw their claims from the State department and seek satisfaction of Great Britain.

☞ The Phenix Hotel, Concord, headquarter of the travelling public of Portsmouth, has been leased to J. R. Crocker, formerly of the White Mountain House. Mr. Crocker will bring to the Phenix the same ability and disposition to make his patrons comfortable that has distinguished his management of the White Mountain House.

☞ Senator Cragin has arrived in Washington.

PERSONAL.—Paladines is 67.

Gen. Sheridan is in Constantinople.

On the night of the 1st, in Dover, a fire broke out in a "ten footer" on the corner of Washington and Locust streets, caused by the bursting of a kerosene lamp, in Mrs. Adams' millinery shop. Mrs. A. lost her whole stock of millinery patterns and goods, and had no insurance. The building was pretty much destroyed. It was owned by Mr. R. B. Wiggin, who has an insurance of $1,000 on it, which covers the loss.

WHOSE OX IS GORED?—The English mind has been very much exercised of late, by the threatened abrogation of a certain treaty by one only of the parties to it, without the consent of the others. Mr. Gladstone, in particular, is virtuously indignant that Russia should be so base as to pretend she has a right to nullify a treaty on her own hook, even though that treaty was forced upon her by other and hostile nations. But when our Southern States rebelled, these same Englishmen were loud in their assertions that our Federal compact was "only a treaty," and therefore could rightfully be rent asunder by any dissatisfied party to it. In other words, the abrogation of a treaty by any one of the parties to it—with or without cause,—was all right, morally and legally, when such action would injure America, but it is wholly wrong to violate a compact when so doing would injure England.

But Gladstone is right, this time; for a treaty that is to be respected by the parties to it only so long as they choose, would be of as little value as are laws against crime in New York city, where the criminals themselves virtually decide how far the laws shall be enforced. Russia signed the treaty of 1856—albeit under compulsion—and if she should now refuse to abide by its provisions, without the consent of the other treaty powers to its abrogation or modification, it would be a sufficient cause for war, if any cause is needed.

But in case war should take place between England and Russia, although the latter's violation of the treaty would make her the immediate aggressor, still the sympathies of a large portion of the American people would be with that country and against England. We shall not sooner forget the great moral support we received during the rebellion from the open sympathy of Russia with the cause of liberty and right, than we shall the taunts and sneers of England at our misfortunes,—her constant misrepresentations of our conduct and our motives, or her pirate cruisers and the cheers in her House of Commons when fresh depredations on our commerce or serious disasters to our arms were announced. Right or wrong, if Russia wants the treaty thrown away, we hope she will do it; and that if other nations (especially England) make war upon her on that account, that she may be able to serve them as Phil Sheridan's boys did Jubal Early's greybacks,—"whip them out of their boots."

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S INCOME TAX. Last December the assessor of internal revenue for the Territory of Utah assessed Brigham, as trustee for the church of the latter-day saints, an income tax of $39,559, to which he added a penalty of $19,779 50. Young appealed from the assessment, asking to have it abated as erroneous, and making two points against it, in giving the Mormon view of the case. First, that the trust-fund was raised by tithing, and was a voluntary offering, and consequently not taxable as income. The next point was, that, if it was taxable, they had been relieved by the act of July 14, 1870, giving exemption to every five persons living in a Christian community, holding property in common. The point of "voluntary offering" was decided against Brigham Young, as trustee, by Acting-Commissioner Douglass, because of the fact that punishments, such as excommunication and otherwise, are meted out to those who refuse to pay tithings, which deprive said offerings of all voluntary character.

On the second point, on which they claim to come within the law exempting common property, it was shown by the government that the property was not held in common as required by the laws of the land, which says: "The property from which income arises shall be held jointly and in common." The matter has been lying in the internal revenue department for nearly one year, and eventually was decided by Acting-Commissioner Douglass in favor of the government as to the tax, but relieving Brigham Young from the penalty. Instructions will be sent to Collector Hollister to collect the tax.

POLITICAL.—The Republican majority on the State ticket in Louisiana is reported to be 24,643.

The New Jersey Legislature is composed as follows:—Senate — Republicans, 12; Democrats, 9; Assembly—Republicans, 34; Democrats, 26; Republican majority on joint ballot, 11. In 1869 the Democratic majority was 13.

☞ Gortschakoff's reply to Earl Granville is firm, but conciliatory. It is intimated in various quarters that other questions besides the treaty of 1856 will be considered by the conference. The Austrian minister of war has resigned.

New Publications Received.

Annual Report of the 2nd Auditor of the Treasury—from R. K. Oxford.

The American Odd Fellow for December closes the tenth volume of this excellent magazine, which has a wide circulation throughout the United States, Canada, England, Australia, New Zealand and elsewhere. Published by the A. O. F. Association, No 96 Nassau street, New York. $2.50 a year.

☞ The Manchester Board of Aldermen recently instructed the City Marshal to prosecute the violators of the liquor law, and he has issued a notice that he will do so on and after to-day. At a meeting of 100 liquor dealers, it was unanimously voted to recommend that all the dealers in wine, liquors, beer and ale suspend the sale of the same in large or small quantities, until a different course is decided on.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pimples on the Face, Eruptions, Blothes, Scrofulous diseases, and all complaints arising from impure blood, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. For Bronchitis, Laryngitis and all severe and lingering coughs nothing equals it. It cleanses, purifies and strengthens the system. As an Anti-Bilious or liver medicine and for habitual constipation of the bowels it works wonderful cures. Sold by druggists.

"A WONDER OF MEDICAL SCIENCE," may well be applied to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is nearly half a century since this remarkable remedy was introduced to the public, and yet the immediate and enviable reputation which it gained by its wonderful cures of coughs, colds, whooping cough, sore throat, influenza, consumption and all bronchial complaints, is to this day fully sustained. 1wd5

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong cathartics. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels—rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwawd3

MECHANIC FIRE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting was held at the National Hotel on Friday evening. The occasion was one of much interest to the members, who sat down to a beautiful and excellent supper, the host of the evening being Mr. Elisha Tripp. Mr. Ebenezer Lord, who we think is the senior member now, has attended fifty annual meetings. The Society was organized in 1811. Wm. R. Moulton is now President, and E. M. Brown, Secretary. The membership is limited to thirty.

CHARLES WESLEY AS A POET, was the subject of Rev. Dr. Lothrop's lecture on Thursday evening at the Methodist church. The lecture was given in a free and easy manner, entirely extempore. The manliness, noble catholicity of sentiment and large heartedness of the speaker favorably impressed the hearer; and Charles Wesley was worked up high as a scholar, christian and poet; regarding him, instead of his brother John Wesley, as being really the founder of the Methodist church, and his allusions to that body were very kind and generous. The audience was a large one. Dr. Lothrop has been pastor of the Brattle Street, (Unitarian) church in Boston for thirty-nine years.

The next lecture is to be given next Wednesday evening by Prof. I. G. Bidwell of Cambridge, Mass. Subject, "The elements of beauty."

GHASTLY GHOSTITUDE. — Vaughan Street, near Congress, has had a sensation. A genuine ghost is said to have been seen thereabouts o' nights, by divers persons who persist in declaring that they have seen it repeatedly. One explanation offered for the credulous is this:—A citizen of Portsmouth who died during the present year, while talking with a lady relative was asked if he believed that spirits communed with friends on earth after death. He replied that he did not, but if he should die first and it was possible, he would return that she might see him. The ghost who has been silently interviewed by the divers persons aforementioned is said to resemble the gentleman spoken of, and the affair has agitated the dwellers in that vicinity for some days. It is said that about twenty curious people of the masculine variety were in attendance, Friday night, under the old tree, waiting to see the apparition, but were disappointed. The yarns told about his ghostship have created an excitement not equalled in this city since Judge Odell decided that "damn" is not a swear word.

From all accounts, we gather that one thing is certain regarding the ghost—he is not orthodox in his dress. He should be barefoot and clothed in a white sheet or a shroud—that's the way ghosts always dress, regardless of weather; but instead of this costume he wears boots that are perfectly awful for size; a great coat and a hat. We have serious doubts about this ghost being genuine—we never saw a real one in such rig as he sports; but if he is the real article, it speaks well for the place he came from that great coats and sea boots are needed there to keep the resident warm.

Hampton Falls.—Geo. B. Sanborn, Chas. A. Nason.

Stratham.—Henry P. Wingate, William G. Brown.

THE 16TH ANNUAL FESTIVAL of St. Andrew's Society, at Washington, D. C., Nov. 30, was presided over by Gen. Geo. W. Balloch, formerly of Great Falls. Hon. Thomas Tullock of this city, was 1st vice president. The second toast "Auld Scotia.—Her fame brightens as the years roll on," was to have been responded to by Hon. C. C. Cox, but in his absence the president offered the following: "The great men of Scotland, living and dead."

Mr. Tullock responded as follows:—

I am not sufficient acquainted with Scottish history to do justice to the many eminent men who have made its annals illustrious. On its historic scroll are inscribed the names of men distinguished in all professions for extraordinary valor, rare genius, extensive knowledge, and brilliant accomplishments, including warriors of great renown, famous for wonderful endurance, bravery, and intrepidity, justly celebrated for undaunted valor and unrivaled heroism in many a sanguinary conflict; in theology, men of transcendent ability and unaffected piety, noted for great learning and Christian philanthropy; in jurisprudence, men learned in the law and pre-eminent in the profession; in medical science, her sons have excelled, and by her skill and achievements have merited the highest honors; in the arts and sciences, sons eminent for their genius and varied knowledge; in moral philosphy, men who have rendered their names illustrious; in literature, men of peerless ability and schoolastic attainments; in poetry, sons of enduring fame, cherished with increasing affection and admiration; orators, statesmen, and historians—eloquent, profound, great.

Of the great men Scotland has produced, we will mention Wallace, Bruce, and Douglass; Duncan, Cameron, and Abercrombie; Frazier, Havelock, and Campbell; Scott, Thompson, and Burns; Hogg, Hugh, Miller, and Ferguson; Leighton, Robertson, and MacKnight; Napier, Macauley, and Hume; Buchanan, Stuart, and Brown; Knox, Chambers, and Chalmers. But time would fail, even if the occasion would justify me, to enumerate all the great men of Scotland, living and dead; their names and deeds, their words and works, have made an impress on the ages, and their memories are treasured in the grateful recollections of admiring countrymen.

To the powerful influence Scottish literature, Scottish philosophy, and above all the intermingling of Scottish blood through immigration into our population—the much it has had to do in forming the habits of industry, sobriety, morality, and Christianity of the American character, I can but barely refer; nor, indeed, is more than this simple suggestion necessary to such an audience, and upon such an occasion as this.

As our worthy president has not called upon me to notice the women of Scotland, the ladies present will excuse me for not alluding to the female celebrities of the kingdom.

DEATHS.

In this city, Dec. 3d, of consumption, Mr. FRANK W. FERNALD, aged 27 years, 5 months. A warm hearted, generous young man, whose friends were many. He was a devoted son and husband, possessed of rare qualities; and of the playmates of our boyhood there are none to whom we can refer with fonder remembrance than he. The afflicted families may find consolation in the fact that he passed away peacefully, anxious to go to the better home in the future life.

In this city, Dec. 2d, Mr. MEREDITH ROBERTS, aged 53 years.

In Newcastle, Nov. 29th, SARAH E. AMAZEEN, wife of Benjamin T. Amazeen, aged 46 years, 10 months.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has grown higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is not the less true the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Experience has often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and opinions and advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all respects like those in which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruments; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate when speaking, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The Republican Ward and City Committee of Boston have nominated Geo. O. Carpenter for Mayor. Newton Talbot had 25 votes and Carpenter 56.

☞ A great strike among the Knights of St. Crispin, in New York city, is anticipated. The master shoemakers announce that a new scale of prices will take effect, which the men are determined to oppose. There are 13 lodges numbering 5000 members, all of whom are expected to turn out.

BASE BALL.—Boston has subscribed $10,000 for the formation of a professional club. George Wright, Harry Wright and McVey of the Red Stockings have been hired for the season of 1871. Brainard, Leonard and the two Watermans of the Red Stockings have joined the Washington Olympics.

☞ A pile-driver is now at work in Boston in which gun-powder is used for the first time as a motive power. An iron cylinder rests upon top of the pile, the mouth of the chamber being on the upper side. Into this cavity a cartridge, containing a single ounce of powder, is dropped. An iron hammer, with piston-like projection, is let fall from being guided by iron bars, on which it slides. The piston compresses the air in the chamber at the same time forcing the pile downward, until force and heat of the compression is so great that the cartridge is exploded and the hammer rebounds to its place above, while the pile is pressed farther downward.

WINTERING STOCK.—Coarse grain is now, and is likely to continue through the winter, cheaper, comparatively, than hay. Corn is a large crop, and will be quite cheap at the West. Barley is not high, and colored samples, that are less valuable for malting, can be bought very cheap. Such barley, if plump and otherwise good, will make a cheap feed. Oats are not high, and may be used to mix with corn, to grind for provender which is much better to mix with and stick to cut feed, whether it is steamed or not, than corn meal. Barley may be mixed with oats or ground alone, as convenient.

All grain is much better for feeding when ground and mixed with cut feed. This makes more bulk, which is more natural, and is more readily and thoroughly acted on by the stomach of the animal. As one pound of grain is nearly equal to two pounds of hay, for feeding and putting on flesh, farmers can easily calculate which will pay best in their several localities. As grain is quite cheap at the West, large quantities may be brought East to feed in dairy and other sections, where the drought has been severe, and hay and other feed is very high.

There are many things about the farm that should be saved and fed. Apples are very plenty and cheap, and from wormy and other causes, a large portion are not marketable; and this is the case in many places where fodder is scarce and high. In such cases all sound fruit may be saved and fed to good advantage—the ripest first, and those that save the best, feed last. Small and poor potatoes may be fed, and all good ones not needed also, unless they are very high, when it will pay better to sell them and buy grain.

Of course all roots will be carefully saved and fed to good advantage. Thousands of farmers who have strongly argued that roots don't pay, would find a few hundred bushels, or better, from 50 to 100 bushels to each head of stock, pay largely this season. It is in such exceptional seasons, when fodder is scarce and high, that extra feed like a good pile of roots, is of the greatest advantage. Besides, where there is a good crop of roots there will be a large pile of tops that can be fed. These tops will be not a little help in saving the winter fodder in November, when the frost-bitten pastures no longer afford sufficient feed for stock.

All cabbage leaves and poor cabbages may also be fed; the stumps should also be saved; a large cabbage stump quartered makes four large mouthfuls for a cow. We have found such refuse cabbages, leaves, &c., excellent to keep up the flow of milk in November and December. Cabbages pay well to grow for feed, as well as roots.

In wintering stock to good advantage, next to plenty of good feed, good shelter is the most important. A large share of all the food consumed goes to support life and keep up animal heat, and the colder the weather and the more animals are exposed, the more feed is required for this purpose; while the better and more warmly sheltered the stock are kept, the larger the proportion that will go to make growth, fat, milk or wool. As the latter have a large salable value, while in animal heat and mere life there is no gain—no salable increase—it is of the greatest importance to secure the largest possible protection of the former.

Hence good shelter should be provided for all stock, and they should be kept in this shelter as closely as good health would permit. Sufficient stables and pens should be provided for all; all cracks and other places that will admit wind and cold air, stopped; and the animals kept up in bad, stormy weather, and only let out for air and exercise on moderate days. As good health is very essential, of course ventilation will be provided; but this can be done, and, at the same time, avoid and direct draft of cold winds on the stock.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

A THANKSGIVING TRAGEDY.

Three chickens went flopping out on to the ground,
Out on to the ground when the sun rose high,
Each went from the coop with a terrible wound,
A head chopped clean off and a ticket to die.
But men must work and women must eat,
And tender spring chicken makes very good meat,
And Thanksgiving time is come.

Three roosters they set up a horrible quawk,
And they stretched out their necks as the fowls went down,
And they looked at the hens and the tomahawk,
As much as to say, don't he do it up brown!
But men have stomachs and women must eat,
And nice chicken-pie it is hard to beat,
And Thanksgiving time is coming.

Three corpses all cut up went into the dish,
The crust was put on and the edge scollop'd
As juicy a pie as the stomach could wish, (down,
When the oven had baked it all through, nice and brown,
For men must kill and women must eat,
And good chicken pie is a very good treat,
When Thanksgiving time is coming.

A YAWN.—I have just laid aside "Oliver Optic," and, from among all the wise and pleasant things I have read there, one sentence stands prominent from the rest in my mind—"Never yawn in anybody's face." I don't see very clearly, then, how we are ever to indulge in this little play of the jaws; for surely, if done at all, it must be done in somebody's face: and we are taught to respect ourselves as well as others. But, in spite of that, the advice is sound; and yawning is forbidden in all polite society. What is yawning? We know by experience, don't we, boys? and we claim to be ladies and gentleman, too; but Webster is more definite than we know how to be; and he says it is "an involuntary opening of the mouth from dullness or drowsiness." I look in vain to be told how the mouth should be shut, in order to complete the process; but, though he is silent on that point, we infer that it must be done, or it could never be opened again. Far be it from me to attempt to revise or improve the words of the great man: but I would add weariness to his causes; for I do not think we are always stupid or sleepy when we indulge in the condemned habit. Sometimes we are cold or tired, and can hardly help it; and when we can't, we must silently commit it to the privacy of our handkerchiefs.

I remember that "years and years ago," a young gentleman was very much in the habit of coming into our sitting-room of an evening, and leaning back contentedly in an easy-chair: he would talk lazily and uninterruptedly of the "man in the moon," or some such interesting topic while I was thinking—"Oh, dear, there is that geometry lesson to learn yet to-night."

One evening, when he had given me an hour's discourse on "the nicest hair-oil," I thought I would give him a hint that I did not find him very entertaining: so I gave a deliberate, long-drawn, comfortable yawn; and in a few minutes repeated it, with less effort. But my breach of the rule of politeness was speedily punished; for, to my surprise and vexation, the gentleman rose, and, stretching himself, gave one equal in openness to at least two and a half of mine, and resented himself, remarking, "Pon honor, Miss Gerty, I thought I would have to go home to yawn; but now I can show you how I make my mustache curl so nicely." Don't try it, girls!

I can tell you two things which perhaps you never noticed. You can sometimes open and shut every mouth in a room, even though their owners be "pinks of property," by simple going through the motion with the lid of the tea-pot, a few times, in a slow, careless way: it is more catching than the measles. Now when you have betrayed the circle into showing the inside of their throats and mouths, keep your own mouth shut, and eyes open you know your eyes naturally shut when you gape), and see if you think the act becoming, even to the fairest face. My experience has been as long as yours; and I never saw a face, which was over four years old, that looked as pretty inside as outside. The dear little babies can monopolize the habit with impunity; for the opening of their little mouths is like peeping into a rose-bud, and we wish they would do it again. Now let us all watch, and see if we can see a real pretty, interesting grown-up yawn. From Oliver Optic's Magazine.

—The President has pardoned ex-Speaker Callicot of the New York State Legislature, who was two years ago sentenced to two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine for defrauding the revenue. The sentence covered imprisonment till the fine was paid. Callicot has served his time but could not pay his fine.

—In Canada all women, whether maids, wives, or widows, who pay taxes in their own right, are entitled by law to vote for school inspectors. The Detroit Western Catholic asserts that they exercise their right on election days without hindrance, and are treated with the greatest respect.

—"It is a pleasant thing to reflect upon," says Dickens, "and furnishes a complete answer to those who contend for the human species, that every baby born into the world is a finer one than the last."

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ISSUED BY THE
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.
The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The business of the Company promises to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 20 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR.
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

TUESDAY, DEC. 6, 1870.

THE WAR.—There is no longer doubt that the French have gained substantial advantages near the city of Paris. Ducrot is outside of that city with an army of 100,000 men. This necessitated an extension of the German lines on the south-east. If Ducrot hoped to push through the invading lines last week and join Paladines, he was foiled; but as Paladines was forty or fifty miles away, it is hardly reasonable that Ducrot expected to meet him so early. Paladines' and Ducrot's armies have both been heavily reinforced from Tours and Paris, and Ducrot is said to be making preparations for offensive operations. One thing is evident, and in that lies the sole hope of France—the troops of the Republic fight better than the regular armies of the Empire; the Prussians are now fighting the people of France and not demoralized forces who fight for pay only.

The Tribune correspondent at Versailles, the 1st instant, writes that the sortie Wednesday against the Wurtemberg division east of Paris, between the Seine and Marne resulted in leaving the French in possession of the village about Brie-sur-Marne. The Germans say they must retake these villages at any cost. Both sides fought hard. The French were led by dismounted officers of high rank, and showed something of their traditional fire. The French, in fact, gained a better foothold for a future spring. The great want is space to deploy their forces.

The battle of Wednesday, in which the French captured Brie, was one of the hardest fought engagements of the war.

While the terrible fighting has been going on around Paris, General de Paladine has been steadily following the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg and Prince Frederick Charles, harassing them and driving them out of one town after another. They are now at Etampes, 30 miles from Paris.

On Friday, the Germans made a desperate effort to drive Ducrot's army, which held all the villages on the east bank of the Marne, from Noisy-le-Grande to Ermisson, back across the river. For this purpose, at daylight the twenty-eight corps and the twelfth, under the Duke of Saxony, and a division of Wurtembergers, in all 60,000 men, made a furious assault in four columns, advancing on the French position at Brie and Champigny from the northeast and southeast. Ducrot withdrew within a peninsular formed by a curve of the Marne, directly opposite the Bois de Vincennes, thus covering his flank. As the Germans advanced to attack, they were met by a terrible fire from Forts Nogent and Rosny, and the redoubt of Aaron. The slaughter was fearful. The German troops wavered, but were soon rallied by the German officers, but were themselves shot down in great numbers. The first brigade of the second division lost all its officers. At noon, large columns of fresh troops from Paris crossed the bridges near Brie, and drove the Germans some distance to the eastward. At three o'clock the firing ceased, the French returning to the east bank of the river, and not recrossing, but holding all the bridges. The losses on both sides were very large. The German losses were the greatest, on account of their sustaining the fire of the forts and attacking the French in their chosen position.

A balloon from Paris has descended near Le Mans. It left that city on the 1st, and brings the following news:—The French troops have kept the positions which they took in the sorties of the 29th and 30th, and were preparing to prosecute an offensive movement. General Venoy had a position greatly in advance of General Ducrot. The latter was stopped, owing to the sudden rise in the river, brought about by the Prussians breaking away the dam, and not on account of any resistance offered by them. The Prussians retook Champigny, but the French again captured it. The Prussians and not the French demanded a truce to bury their dead.

The losses sustained by the Saxons in the battle around Paris from November 30 to December 2 are estimated at 1800 men. The total number of French prisoners taken was about 3000.

The French before Vincennes have been reinforced.

Fighting occurred all day on Saturday between General Garibaldi's forces and those of the Prussians under General Werder, between the villages of Autun in the Department of Saone et Loire and Arnay le Duc in the department of Cote d'Or. The French were successful and General Cremer is now actively pursuing the flying Prussians.

The Prussian army operating in the north of France is retreating toward Rheims.

Gen. De Palladines announces that he is intrenched in a strong position before Orleans.

A London despatch says: The latest despatches show that the fighting on the 2d and 3d near Paris was of the most desperate character, and that the advantage was unmistakably with the French. Gen. Ducrot only retired for strategetical reasons, and has unmistakably maintained his position on the bank of the Marne. The Prussian loss is reported as immense, and there is now no doubt that Gen. Trochu was called upon by the Prussians to grant an armistice in consequence of the immense number of their dead and wounded. In the recent sorties the French no doubt gained a great advantage.

The troops that are moving to effect a junction with Paladines' army are successfully keeping their ground and will accomplish their purpose certainly.

Gen. Ducrot has not yet been driven back, and is only waiting for his reinforcements to push forward his troops.

ADMIRAL PORTER VS. PRESIDENT GRANT.—The Boston Post's correspondent telegraphs the following from Washington:—

The publication of the private letter addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, Welles, by Admiral Porter, in 1865, has excited a great deal of comment and discussion here during the past two days. The letter was published in a New York paper on Friday, and having learned of its promulgation, Admiral Porter on Saturday morning requested his private secretary, Capt. Alden, to overlook the copies of his correspondence and see if he had ever written such a letter. A copy of the letter could not be found among the Admiral's correspondence. The Chief Clerk of the Navy Department was then requested to search the files in the Department, which he did, but could find no such letter or copy thereof.

Admiral Porter then called upon the President, and found the latter in company with his Secretaries. Gen. Grant has just finished reading the letter, and laying aside the newspaper, he said: "I don't think the Admiral wrote it; but if so, the assertions are unwarranted." Admiral Potter approached the President, was received cordially by him, and said: "Mr. President, you have read that letter, I suppose?" Gen. Grant answered in the affirmative, when the Admiral continued: "Well, I don't know whether I wrote it or not, but if I did it must have been under circumstances that any officer, with 140 vessels under his command, and with many difficulties to encounter, would have written. I will not be surprised at your being angry. However, it will not change my personal friendship for you, let your course be what it may." The President expressed surprise at the letter, and was evidently much nonplussed.

Ex-Secretary Borie, at the time a guest at the Executive mansion, a warm friend of the Admiral, was present, and subsequently visited the Admiral and requested him to sign a paper declaring the letter to be a forgery. This the Admiral declined to do. He thought, perhaps, he might at the time have written such a letter, although he had no recollection of it. He said:—"Gov. Hawley, of Connecticut, had, some time ago, told the President that he had read a letter of this description in the handwriting of Admiral Porter, and that ex-Secretary Welles would have the original letter published." The President disbelieved what he heard. Saturday, Admiral Porter thought he had not written the letter, but to-day he thinks he did, and addressed a letter to President Grant, in which he says it is probable he wrote the letter in question, although he has no recollection of it. He assures the President of his personal friendship, but cannot account for the letter made public by ex-Secretary Welles, except on the ground that he (Porter) may have been chagrined or angry at something done at the time, and he is very severe in his denunciation of Welles, who, he says, has lost all sense of manhood.

The Admiral stated in conversation to-day that he is a stronger friend to the President now than ever. He does not care for the place of Admiral, and thinks it would perhaps be better for his own private interests if he were out of the Navy. He sincerely regrets this letter, and says it must have been written when he was over-agitated. His relations with the President had always been of the most intimate character, and he hoped no ill-feeling would grow out of this affair. He did not blame Grant for becoming angry, and said, with emphasis: "It was a d—d bad letter, although I wrote it myself." "But, believe me," he said, "this has made me Grant's friend forever, let come of it what will." It is thought by many that the President will not send to the Senate for confirmation the name of Admiral Porter to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Admiral Faragut, while others believe the nomination will be made. It is also believed the existing "unpleasantness" will be overcome in a short time. Admiral Porter will make an effort to accomplish that end.

CONGRESS met on Monday and the President's annual message was read. It recommends a manly foreign policy, asks for free navigation of the St. Lawrence and says our rights must be respected in Cuba.

MORE OF IT.—The case of the sailors of the ship Old Colony, charged with mutiny and arson at sea, has been heard in New York. Both men have been in hospital since their arrival, very sick. Captain Grindle and Mr. Cook, first mate, gave their evidence, which was very flimsy. The cook testified that all the men had for twelve or fifteen days, was crackers and water, except what he had given them covertly, which was a little pea soup and coffee. The commissioner held that the evidence disclosed a case in which the officers should have been put upon their defence instead of the sailors. It was apparent that miserable, sick men, unable to perform able seamen's duty even if well, had been placed in irons, half starved and brutally treated, and then charges of mutiny and arson, entirely unfounded in fact, made against them. The defendants were discharged. The tables are now turned upon the captain and mate, who are to be tried, as soon as the sick sailors are able to appear in court, for cruel and inhuman treatment.

☞ A Salem man sold a piece of land long since to the Eastern Railroad for a free pass for life over the road and all its branches for himself and brother and their wives, and the investment proved a most profitable one to him.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels—rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all the sediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwalwd3

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: My connection with the "Anchor Brewery Co.," of Manchester, as Agent, ceased this date. d6 GEORGE W. TUCKER.

Manchester, Dec. 2d, 1870.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ Mr. Philip S. Mizener of this city has been removed from the position of Foreman Pattern Maker at the Navy Yard, and Mr. Wm. S. Hancock of Saco, Me., appointed.

☞ The police force are engaged in discussing the all vexed question—Who is to be City Marshal? They seem to be more interested in the matter than the people are. The people will be content, we have no doubt, if the Aldermen elect as capable a City Marshal as the present incumbent.

Communication.

A PLEASANT VISIT.—On the evening of Nov. 24th, about one hundred citizens of Kittery spent the evening at my residence, and left for my benefit donations amounting (with former donations) to one hundred and fifty dollars, for which they have my thanks.

S. A. HUTCHINSON.

☞ On Monday four schooners arrived in our harbor, having sailed only the day previous, bringing with them an aggregate of 75,000 lbs. of fish, of which the Celia, Downs, brought 25,000 lbs., the Grace Choate, Seward, 20,000, the Mary O. Andrews, Robinson, 15,000, and the David A. Osier, Lane, 15,000. The second crop of fish is turning out well in this neighborhood, if the grass did fail.

☞ At about 12 o'clock Saturday night, Assistant-Marshal Mortimer discovered fire in the lower story of the tenement corner of Mast and Jefferson Streets, owned by Mr. Leonard Cotton and occupied by Mr. John O'Donnell, who with his family was asleep overhead at the time. The flames were near a chimney, and had got hold of a fire-board and a partition, but were put out by the officer without raising an alarm. Damage trifling.

☞ Rev. A. J. Patterson will deliver his lecture on the "Fall of Napoleon" before the P. M. L. A. Lyceum this evening. A short Poem entitled "a Home Picture," written for the Association by one of its members, will be read by Miss Flora M. Fitts of this city, by especial request of the Lyceum Committee. The subject of the poem was once familiar to the people of Portsmouth, and will doubtless be recognized by many persons in the audience as an acquaintance of "Other Days." The reading will commence at quarter to eight o'clock.

REV. JAMES DENORMANDIE delivered a very able discourse on Temperance at the Unitarian Church on Sunday evening. The lecturer took the ground that the Temperance cause could not be permanently helped by any violent excitement, which by an inevitable law would create a corresponding listlessness; that the sentimental portrayals of the sufferings caused by intemperance produce only transient emotions; that the laws against intemperance ought to be all rigidly enforced, to help the cause if possible, or to show to the community that they can reach only the outward excesses, and that society cannot be reformed by law; that history shows a hopeful progress in the temperance cause; that total abstinence was the true rule for all persons in good health; that the temperance cause lost much by the ill-considered and extravagant statements of its supporters, and by their insinuations against, and want of sympathy or co-operation with those who were rigidly temperate while they meant total abstinence; that one step toward a practical solution of the evil might be the production of native wines in sufficient quantity to replace the poisonous compounds which are used so generally; that the use of intoxicating drinks as a mere fashion or social stimulus ought to be given up; that the investigation of men of pre-eminent medical skill goes to show that intemperance may often be a disease acquired or hereditary, needing not legal enactments, but the wisest physicians; and that the sole and permanent remedy for the wide-spreading evil, must be in a knowledge which takes in the nature of man, the complications of society, and the laws of God; and that just in proportion as a true and full-ripened knowledge teaches man the worth of time, the dignity of his own nature and the impartial justice of God which nothing can escape, he will give up his low and unworthy life.

The Church was crowded with an interested audience, who would have willingly listened another hour to the eloquent speaker on this most engrossing subject.

☞ Apples are rotting in this section with great rapidity.

☞ The Vaughan Street ghost, we are informed, turns out to be only a man prowling about in search of some other man, with intent to abolish the same. Such a ghost as that isn't worth a cent; but it's just what we expected, for who ever saw a real ghost with big overcoat and sea-boots on?

☞ Winter is here, but in a very mild form; though probably the weather will be decided enough before Spring arrives. The Autumn has been as remarkable a season as was the hot, dry Summer. So mild has it been that the ponds in this vicinity have as yet hardly been skimmed with ice; and ploughs are every day turning up the earth in the outskirts of the city, and finding no frost to interfere with the operation. Lovers of cold weather, of skating and sleigh-riding, however, need not feel any alarm, as probably there is some Winter left yet, somewhere.

THE DANCERS, who wore out shoe leather and raised a dust about four evenings in each week, last winter, have made an early commencement again this year. Several "Courses of Social Assemblies" are already under weigh—one on Friday evenings at Irving Hall, and the Crispins' at Congress Hall on Wednesday evenings, both of which are fully attended; and others are to start up soon. One class of dances we hope will not be resurrected this winter—masquerades. They are often made use of to gratify petty malice or to further improper designs, and besides are completely played out; there were far too many of them here a year ago.

☞ The Girard Tube Works in Philadelphia were burned on Friday. Loss $175,000.

☞ Hon. William Gaston has been nominated as the Citizens' candidate for Mayor of Boston.

☞ South Newmarket has chosen Hon. Amos Paul and Samuel H. Tarlton delegates to the Congressional Convention. They favor the nomination of Hon. Wm. B. Small or Hon. S. M. Wheeler for Congress.

GOLDEN WEDDING.—The fiftieth anniversary of the nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Ferpald was celebrated at their residence in Boston on Saturday evening, 3d inst. The entire house was profusely decorated with rare flowers; and baskets and bouquets came pouring in even up to the time the party broke up. Many distinguished people were present. Among the many testimonials of esteem was an elegant silver tea-set, one hundred dollars in gold and a massive gold ladle.

Other testimonials of value and usefulness were presented, some of which were from their Portsmouth and Kittery friends. Mr. Fernald was born in Kittery in 1796 and is a brother of the late eminent ship-builder, Mr. Frederick W. Fernald. He removed to Boston in 1817 and was married to Miss Abigail Woods Barry, daughter of the late Capt. James Barry, Dec. 3d, 1820. Mr. Albert H. Fernald the celebrated pianist and vocalist is a son of this worthy couple.

A magnificent supper was served by the well known caterer, J. B. Smith, and excellent music enlivened the evening's entertainment. Although at an advanced age Mr. and Mrs. F. are in the enjoyment of good health, and bid fair to celebrate their diamond wedding.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the places of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him in preference to others, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO ALL WHO WEAR

ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

There was a good attendance of prominent agriculturalists at the closing exercises of the farmer's State convention at Concord, on Wednesday, some 300 being present. In the evening, Herman W. Greene, Esq., of Hopkinton, read a well received paper on the breeding and rearing of horses, and Hon. Moses Humphrey followed on the same subject. There was also a general discussion on the subject of farmers' clubs and other agricultural matters between Messrs. John D. Lyman, Peter Sanborn, David M. Clough and others.

The State borders on Canada for a distance of thirty or forty miles, and yet there is not a road of any kind across the line. It is a wild region on both sides, little frequented except by hunters.

On the 24th ult., in Gilsum, a man named Welch, while under the influence of liquor, attempted to ride a horse. The animal stumbled and threw its rider, who struck on his head upon the frozen ground and received such injuries that he died the next morning. He leaves a wife and one child.

On the 23d ult., Edward Titcomb, Esq., left his house in Windham, to work on a drain he had been digging about half a mile away. As he did not return as usual Mrs. T. sent her to children after him, but they could not find him. On going herself the wife found Mr. T. lying on his back, with his spade in hand, having died after throwout a few shovelfuls of earth. The deceased was aged sixty-eight.

A Slip Up.—A certain young lady in Salem, this State, was engaged to be married on Thanksgiving day to a Boston gentleman. The preparations were complete and the parson and his book on hand, but the gentleman didn't turn up and hasn't been heard from, says the Nashua Telegraph. The lady is a good match for any man, they say, and the affair is the theme of gossip in the neighborhood yet.

THE RAILROAD CASE.—The following views, which we find in the monetary article of the Boston Journal of Friday, doubtless reflect the opinions of the great body of capitalists who have investments in New Hampshire railroads and manufactories. There would seem to be no excuse for further delay in the case of the Concord vs. the Northern Railroad. The, Concord directors want a decision, one way or the other, and it will be a little short of a judicial blunder if a final decision is not given by the court week after next. The coming political campaign will be sufficiently interesting if it does not include a miserable railroad feud. The following is the Journal's article:

"The case of the Concord vs. the Northern Railroad is to be tried on the 6th of December before the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, and it is hoped whatever may be the result it will be final. An oft told tale loses much of its force, and even a case of flagrant injustice assumes a mitigated aspect in the lapse of time. It is difficult to tell to which side the victory inclines. We have read the arguments of the able counsel engaged for the Concord, and they appeared unanswerable, on the ground both of law and equity; but the sinuosities of the law are proverbial. The worse is so often made to appear the better reason that no opinion can be formed, even in a case seemingly so clear as the one under consideration. We know not what rights are conferred on corporations, nor the extent to which they may be carried, but if they permit them to jeopardize the most valued interests of the stockholders, it is time that much abused part of the community should take some steps towards guarding their own interests instead of leaving them at the mercy of an interested body of Directors.

In this case the injury is aggravated by the fact that it was the action of a retiring Board, whose connection with the road was on the point of being severed, and had ample time to secure their own interests in case their action should be detrimental to the road. Were this a point in dispute between individuals there would be but one opinion. Men, in such a case, make the affair their own, and no one would concede to another the right to take his property without his consent and employ in a manner fatal to his own interests. Does the fact that the evil is committed by a corporation, and that its disastrous effects extend to a larger number, justify in the one case what would be deemed unjustifiable in the other. We hope it may be otherwise, and that this case may be made a precedent to secure stock-holders in future from the unauthorized action of an irresponsible Board of Directors. Owners of corporate property in New Hampshire are looking with interest for the decision as the value of their investments in a measure depend upon it."

HOW A DEAD MAN WAS ELECTED TO OFFICE.—The Republicans of Buffalo County, Minnesota, were somewhat bothered at their late election. Their candidate for the Assembly was Mr. P. Polin; but they were not at the polls by the tidings of his death the night before. The county is large and new, its population thin and scattered, and it was utterly impossible that they should consult and agree on another candidate. But between a dead Republican and a live Democrat they had a decided choice: and, rather than be misrepresented, they chose to be unrepresented; so they cast their vote solid for Mr. Polin and elected him. They are perhaps the only constituency in the Union who have attained an absolute certainty that their representative will not betray his trust by selling his voice.

—Notice is given that a petition will be presented to the legislature for a charter to build a railroad from the Portland & Rochester to the P. S. & P. R. R.; also to build one from some point in Hollis or Buxton to Bonny Eagle Falls, or Standish; also the Portland & Rutland Co. to extend their charter to reach tide water on the Saco river. Inasmuch as the legislature has already granted a charter covering all these proposed routes, perhaps a new charter may be difficult to obtain just at present. However, if the Saco river Railroad Company does not do something, they ought to and will lose their charter.—Biddeford Journal.

—Wolcott Hamlin, a U. S. Government detective, has been making a professional tour among the dealers in tobacco and spirits in this city and Saco, and the result is that some 30 or 40 business firms have been "spotted" in this city, and quite a number in Saco, for infringement of the Internal Revenue laws, as regards either licenses, or the affixment of stamps on goods. One dealer in liquors in this city, who sells at both wholesale and retail, had about 6000 gallons of various liquors in store, and had never taken out either a wholesale or retail U. S. license. Further developments are expected.—Biddeford Journal.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present price, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 7, 1870.

THE WAR.—The total loss sustained by the Wurtemberg troops in the battle of the 2d instant, near Paris, is officially reported to be 848 in killed and wounded. A German officer at Versailles said to a correspondent: "Trochu can afford to lose six to our three, and if he goes on in this fashion, we shall all be used up, while he will have 50,000 left." The German line on the south of Paris is considerably farther back than before this engagement.

Despatches received from Crown Prince George, of Saxony, and General Von Tumpling, announce that the French under General Ducrot have abandoned Champigny-sur-Marne, and massed at Cretuil, upon the western bank of the Marne, southeast of Fort Charenton, and are threatening the Prussian positions at Mesly and Bonneuil.

General de Paladines writes to the Bishop of Orleans as follows: "We have had a series of successes; I do not say victory. I reserve that word for to-morrow. To-day a general engagement took place for the junction of the armies of Paris and the Loire, near Etampes. A position was won by the French at Villepain on Thursday and retaken by Von der Tann on Friday, and again retaken by the French on Saturday. General Sonnet, having advanced too far before his troops, was made a prisoner. At four other points the French have been successful."

CONGRESS.—Nearly all the senators were present at the calling of the roll, on Monday. In the House there were about 170 members present.

In the Senate, Mr. Sumner, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill to terminate the fabrication of United States notes and fractional currency, to strengthen the reserves of national banks and promote the return to specie payment.

William Windom, of Minnesota, was qualified and took his seat for the unexpected term of Senator Norton, of that State, deceased.

Messrs. Cole and Casserly introduced bills for the immediate repeal of all laws for the collection of income tax, or any tax that may mature after the 1st of January next.

A resolution was adopted requesting the President to communicate all correspondence between the United States' minister at Paris and the Secretary of State, since the breaking out of the war between France and Prussia, so far as the same relates to political subjects and matters connected with the said war, as well as to the protection of subjects of the North German Confederation, with which the United States legation in Paris has been charged.

In the House, Messrs. Sypher, Dixon and Duke were sworn in as representatives for the first Louisiana, second North Carolina, and the fifth Virginia districts, respectively.

The bill to supply the omission in the last Indian appropriation bill was reported and passed.

ANOTHER FIRE AT CONCORD.—The Depot Store was discovered on fire early Tuesday morning by Expressman Milo Smith, who was asleep in the express office. It was owned by Captain William Walker and Gust Walker, and was valued at $17,000. Insured for $12,000. The proprietors of the store were Captain J. F. Colton & Co. Their loss was $8000 or more, and they were insured for $4500. N. S. Batchelder & Co. lost 300 barrels of flour and 23,000 pounds of dried apples. Loss $4500, and fully covered by insurance. L. D. Brown lost 90 tons of shorts. The estimated value was $2600; insurance was $2000. There were burned $2000 worth of hardware and grain belonging to Gust Walker. It was insured $1500. Nine mowing machines belonging to the Richardson Manufacturing Company of Worcester, were burned. Loss $900; insured for $700. William Walker lost 300 bushels of oats, George W. Wales thirty barrels of cider, and Franklin Evans a lot of cider and vinegar, on which there was no insurance. John H. Pearson & Co. lost a safe and office furniture to the amount of $1000, which was covered by insurance. The north portico of the passenger depot was on fire many times and the escape of the depot itself seemed miraculous. The loss to the Concord Railroad Company was several thousand dollars, which was secured by insurance.

☞ Taking the population of the country at 39,000,000, and the number of members of the house at 275, the only States which would lose representatives would be Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S MESSAGE.

The following is an abstract of the important points of the President's message:—

The nation is congratulated on the continued peace. Interference with franchise in some states, is much regretted. The admission of Georgia is expected by the beginning of the new year, thus completing the great work of reconstruction. An immense advance in material prosperity is anticipated. The protection extended by Minister Washburne to neutrals in Paris, has the approval of our government, and that of North Germany.

The re-establishment in France of a system of government disconnected with the dynastic traditions of Europe, is a matter of congratulation to the American people. Our Government, however, has declined any step toward intervention between the belligerents, in common with the European powers, but should the time come when the action of the United States can hasten peace, that action will be heartily taken.

In the action of the United States towards promoting peace between Spain and the South American States, and the opening of a peace congress at Washington, the allied and other republics of Spanish origin on this Continent may see new proof of the sincere interest of the United States in their welfare. The time is not far distant when all European political connection with this Continent will cease, and our policy should be to strive to ally more closely the commercial interests of the Spanish-American Republics with our own.

By the issue of a proclamation of neutrality early in the European conflict, our people were acquainted in advance with their duties and obligations, and have assisted in maintaining neutrality.

For the protection of American citizens in Cuba, Spain has been asked to join the United States in the construction of a joint tribunal in the United States, for the adjudication of such claims. Time has only confirmed the views of the Executive in regard to the annexation of San Domingo.

The Executive believes that the moment when the United States withdraws its project of annexation, a European power will continue it. A large commercial city will spring up in the bay of Samana, to which the United States will be tributary and we shall then see our folly in rejecting so great a prize. The people of San Domingo yearn for annexation, and for the protection of our free institutions. A market for our products will be provided, and an immense impetus given.

To freedom in the West Indies the acquisition of San Domingo will be an adhesion to the Monroe doctrine. It is an assertion to our just claim to an influence over the great traffic soon to flow from west to east, via the Darien canal. It will cheapen necessaries in our country, and be a rapid stride towards our future greatness.

It is recommended that the Executive be immediately authorized to negotiate a treaty with San Domingo, and an early expression of the opinion of Congress is desired upon the question with Venezuela, and these claims are suspended till the sense of Congress is known.

The massacre of the French and Russian residents at Tein-tsin, under circumstances of great barbarity, were supposed by some to have been premeditated, and in a purpose among the populace to exterminate foreigners in the Chinese Empire.

The evidence fails to establish such a supposition, but shows a complicity by the local authorities and the mob.

The government at Pekin, however, seems to have been disposed to fulfil its treaty obligations, as far as it was able to.

Unfortunately the news of war between the German States and France reached China soon after the massacre.

It will appear that the popular mind became possessed with the idea that this contest, extended to Chinese waters, would neutralize the Christian influence and power, and that the time was coming when the superstitious mass might expel all foreigners and restore the Mandarin influence.

Anticipating trouble from this, I invited France and North Germany to make an authorized suspension of hostilities in the East, where they were temporarily suspended by an act of the commanders, and to act together for the future protection in China of the lives and properties of Americans and Europeans.

Since the adjournment of Congress the ratifications of the treaty with Great Britain for abolishing the mixed courts for the suppression of the slave trade, have been exchanged.

It is believed that the slave trade is now confined to the Eastern coast of Africa, where the slaves are taken to Arabian markets.

The ratifications by the Naturalization Convention between Great Britain and the United States have also been exchanged during the recess, and thus a long standing dispute between the two governments has been settled in accordance with the principles always contended for by the United States.

The Executive regrets the delay in the settlement of the Alabama claims. The English Government is not willing to concede that the United States has any just cause of complaint, but as our firm convictions are directly the reverse, I recommend the appointment of a Commissioner to take proofs of the amounts and ownerships of those several claims, and that the United States be secured the central of all the demands against Great Britain, and that the United States shall proceed to a settlement as soon as England shall manifest a readiness to do do.

There is reason to suppose that our fishermen have been subjected to vexatious and unfriendly treatment, and that should the Canadian authorities continue their seizures of fishermen, it will be the Executive's duty to take steps to protect the rights of our citizens. The Executive recommends aid to American steamship lines, and generally resumes his recommendations made on the adjournment of the last Congress in relation to the purchase of foreign ships.

The Executive recommends in addition only a collection of sufficient revenue to pay for the public indebtedness and carry on the government, and pronounces the so-called cause of revenue reform ill defined. Measures are also recommended to terminate the unneighborly acts of Canada, to increase and maintain our navy, and to reform in the civil service.

The President concludes his message as follows:

In conclusion I would sum up the policy of the Administration to be a thorough enforcement of every law, a faithful collection of the revenue, economy in the disbursement of the same, a prompt payment of every debt of the nation, a reduction of the taxes as rapidly as the requirements of the country will admit, the reduction of the taxation to be so arranged as to afford the greatest relief to the greatest number. Honest and fair dealing with all other people to the end, that war, with all its blighting consequences, may be avoided, but without surrendering any right or obligation due us; a reform in the treatment of the Indians, and in the whole civil service of the country; and, finally, in securing a pure, untrammelled ballot, where every man who is entitled to cast a vote may do so, a just one, at each election, without fear of molestation or proscription on account of his political faith, nativity or color.

☞ An old man named Benj. Howard was murdered at Westport, Mass., on Monday, by a boy named John Pettis. A negro boy named Cuff helped the murderer bury the corpse.

☞ Jane Shaw, a negro woman of Wilmington, N. C., has just died at the age of 123 years—if we may credit the Wilmington Star. She was born on the 11th of January, 1747.

☞ The English Atlantic cable having broken, the French cable has now more business than it can attend to.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels—rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwalwd3

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued by invalids desirably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the Sun, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel has been opened there last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healthy influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and strengthen the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than in any place in a like even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive can expose himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1861, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it is not prevalent, largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! But the misfortune is, they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The man who takes cold, cough, or sits up late of nights, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in those cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healthy tone of the system. The cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, if even less lungs, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be regularly ventilated by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within-doors, walk or ride out when the weather and circumstances permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this method, and can say that no consumption is so easily cured as any other disease, if taken in time, and the directions of treatment are pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver like a charm, giving health, and none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you are costive, cannot eat freely if sick and diarrhœa causes, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you have a bad headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a surfeit of oysters or the indigestion of fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may thumbtack water, and yet feel well and hearty. Sick headache, boils, carbuncles, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live on the salacious food of pork, beans, and fowls. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M., to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination of the lungs, should call and enclose five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But it should be distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

A LOOK AHEAD. — The Portsmouth Cornet Band has gone up—not entirely, but muchly; that is, they have given up their room and their rehearsals, put away their musical instruments, and are going to stand by, either to wholly disband or to make a fresh start, as may seem most advisable at some future date. The reason for this action is, that after having for fifteen years kept up their organization and maintained the reputation of being one of the best bands (if not the best one) in this section of the State, they find themselves unable to compete with the U. S. Government, or to live on the tariff of the Government Band. I propose to ask the people of Portsmouth whether they are wise in assisting the "running off the track" of their local musical organizations,—and to answer the question myself, in my own fashion.

In the first place, it may be asked why the local band cannot compete with the Government one, and afford to play at prices which the latter find sufficiently remunerative? I answer, because the members of the local band are private citizens, employed in various capacities and getting pay only for what they do, and if they gain a day's pay by their music they must lose the pay for their regular day's work; whereas the Government band, receiving a good round salary from the public purse, can afford to play at a reduced rate, seeing that their regular salary goes on just the same whether they are at their station or not,—the consent only of the commanding officer at the Navy Yard being involved in the recent absence for a week of that band, and not any diminution of their pay. Under these circumstances, the liberal terms of the Government band are not at all surprising.

But it seems to me that the people of Portsmouth are rather short-sighted in allowing their only brass band to collapse for want of support; or, rather because they prefer to pay for music twice,—once out of the public treasury and once out of their own pockets. The Government band is not for the public accommodation, by any means; and now that the local band is virtually exploded, our citizens, if they desire street music, can only get it through the courtesy of the naval commandant at the Yard. I do not wish to be understood as saying anything against either the commandant or the Government band; the latter would be foolish not to hold on to "a soft job," while they can, and the former is beyond question a gentleman; but changes sometimes take place even at the Navy Yard, and it is quite possible that some future commandant may be less obliging and courteous than the present one, and stop the supply of music entirely.

Some people have told me that I am "down on the Navy." They know nothing about it. No man in America is more proud of the glorious record of the Navy than I am; but I am a Democrat, dyed in the wool, and therefore hate aristocracy in the Navy as I did the aristocracy of slavery—because it is anti-democratic and opposed to the genius of our free institution. And if I cannot prevent other people from making themselves wholly dependant on the favor of one man for their luxuries, I can at least exercise the right of a free man—to growl. Other people may pay for the rope that binds them, but I won't; nor will I "eat the bread of charity" while I can purchase a loaf in open market at a good round price. (N. B. The "bread of charity" is here a poetical figure for Government music.) There is now but one local band (Cushing's Quadrille) left on which our citizens can depend for music, when they want it, and I believe there is a screw loose in the Philharmonic Society: so that after the quadrille band has been "run off the track," the Navy Department will be able to regulate the exact amount of music we shall have, (except that for our churches,) and when we shall have it, if at all.

But sooner than such a state of affairs shall come about, I have determined to offer myself as a martyr in the cause of independence. I have sent to Scotland for a bagpipe of the most appalling kind, and intend to learn to play on it, myself; having done which, I shall issue my card as follows:—

He Comes! He Comes!—The great MacPherson MacPakeha, a descendant in a straight line from the fabulous MacMontindhu MacPakeha, grand head piper to the great MacSlogan Claymore, who destroyed the Southrons at Bannockburn, is coming—is here! His music is the most terrible that ever was got out of a bagpipe, (which is saying a great deal, as all who have heard a bagpipe will allow,) and beats that of his great ancestor, who at Bannockburn so overcame the enemy with his tones that every one of them within hearing instantly surrendered, and implored immediate death. All orders for the services of this splendid musician (the only one there is in the city, now that the Navy has gobbled everything,) may be left at the Bureau de Musique de MacPakeha, with the cash, which will be immediately attended to.

I expect to receive a great deal of custom from those who prefer the loaf of liberty to the crust of dependence, and that there will be a general rally to support the "local institution," in which case I shall no longer growl, which will be a good thing. "Let us have peace." "Better is a stalled ox and peace therewith, than a dinner of herbs in a wide house." PAKEHA.

☞ An exchange says Pearson's number biscuit is "an article that is pleasant to the taste—nice, wholesome, palatable, and worth five times their weight in any kind of cake. Our grocers ought to keep them, for we are sure they will sell when have been once tried." That is so.

☞ The closing lecture this (Wednesday) evening at the Methodist Church will be one of the most interesting and racy ever given in Portsmouth. Subject "The Elements of Beauty." It will be worth hearing.

☞ Arrangements are being made for an exhibition of scientific billiard playing in this city between Dennison and Flack of Massachusetts, two of the finest players in New England.

—Editors cannot live on concert tickets. Roast beef and vegetables, and money to buy them with, go a good deal farther than "complimentary tickets." Put a pin in there.—Exchange.

☞ The Young Men's Christian Association hold a meeting for choice of officers, in the North Parish Vestry on Fleet Street, this evening at 7 o'clock.

THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION of this District will meet at Dover next Wednesday. Delegates thus far chosen seem to be principally for Hon. S. M. Wheeler of Dover and Hon. Nath'l Gordon of Exeter, Mr. Ela's nomination being considered improbable by his friends. In addition to the towns published before, Mr. Wheeler claims Atkinson, Epping, Derry, Wolfboro', Albany, Freedom, Tuftonborough, Farmington, Madison, Middleton, Milton and Madbury. Mr. Gordon claims Chatham and Tamworth, and Mr. Ela has Rochester and 3 from Barrington. Wheeler's friends claim one delegate from Barrington and that the Ela and Small men will vote for him on the second ballot. He has secured 42 of the 58 Strafford delegates. The question is being narrowed down to Wheeler and Gordon, with Wheeler ahead.

☞ Ship Orion, of Boston, Capt. Hall, which sailed from Callao, Sept. 13, with a cargo of guano for the United States, put into the harbor of Montevideo on the 5th of November in distress, having met with a sad accident at sea, by which several lives were lost. During a gale a heavy sea swept over the vessel, which killed Captain Hall, and washed overboard the chief mate and a portion of the crew.

— The weather-clerk is asleep.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Of a uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers at cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he can get other medical aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

It wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, nor but leaves on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO ALL WHO WEAR
ARTIFICIAL TEETH!

DR. GOODALL announces that he has purchased the exclusive right to use

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."

With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The usual annoyances, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—

Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case

Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

Morning Chronicle.

Our Correspondence.

KITTERY, ME., Dec. 5.

At the second concert of the Old Folks, which was well attended, I saw in the audience Old Ma'am Cutts, over 90 years of age; and the venerable lady seemed to enjoy the affair very much.

In the Chronicle of this morning I see you boast of having a real ghost in Portsmouth; but you cannot boast a monopoly of luxuries, for we have got one ghost, if not two, in Kittery,—one of them hangs out in the hollow near the Methodist church, and the other lives down towards Kittery Point,—they appear and vanish instantly, (so 'tis said—I hav'n't seen 'em,) have frightened a number of young people and some of older growth very much, and are getting to be rather a nuisance. Perhaps some one may yet be really a spectre, as some of our people are determined to go through these ghostly gents if they get a chance.

We have also in Kittery what are far worse than any ghosts,—two demons, Envy and Slander. "The easiest slip people make is that of the tongue. Folks get their foot in it sometimes and go down—oftener than in any other way." There are some of this sort in this vicinity, who need to have their mouths curbed, and it will soon be done with a legal bit, if I mistake not. The ghosts and demons of Kittery had best have a care what they do and say.

I wish to say one word in justice to the worthy Executive Officer of this Station. A few day's ago a citizen of this town, who has seen several years service and been wounded, was discharged from the Naval Store, "on the plea of neglect of duty." The circumstances of the case having been brought to Capt. Fairfax's knowledge, as also the injustice of the discharge, he ordered it to be recalled.

LOOKER-ON.

NORTH HAMPTON, Dec. 6th.

On Wednesday last, Nov. 30, Mr. Joshua Pickering of this place, while descending a stairway, fell to the bottom, and received such severe injuries about the head as to cause his death on Sunday, Dec. 4th. Mr. Pickering's loss is deeply felt by a large circle of friends, and by the citizens of this town, where he was held in high respect. M. H. S.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 15 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones."

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

DANA AND HIS TERRIBLE DISEASE. Dana of the New York Sun must feel very bad about Secretary Fish. Fish must have done something very unpardonable to Dana. This must be the case, for Dana never loses one chance in his curious Sun to pound away at Fish in the very heaviest manner. But Fish does not appear to be affected by it. He eats daily just about as heartily as ever; he sleeps soundly, and we don't think we ever saw the Secretary looking heartier or healthier. All the venom hurled from the poisonous Sun glides softly off the Premier's back without touching the blood. We can fancy that this don't please Mr. Dana, and we note with anguish how terribly this ineffectual warfare is entering as iron upon his very soul. Poor man, he can't help himself. It seems a disease so deeply seated as to defy any medical treatment. A change of air might help some little. Perhaps the atmosphere of the Custom House would alleviate.—Newark Courier.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are widely known as an admirable remedy for bronchitis, hoarseness, coughs, and other troubles of the throat and lungs. They are of great value for the purposes for which they are designed, and it should be known that while they are pleasantly efficacious, they contain no hurtful ingredients, but may at all times be used with perfect safety. We speak from personal experience when we commend them to persons afflicted with irrited throats, as thousands are, particularly at this season of the year.

As there are many imitations, ask for and obtain only "Brown's Bronchial Troches," which by long experience have proved their value, having received the sanction of physicians generally, and testimonials from eminent men throughout the country.—Western World, Boston.

A FAIR HIT.—The Boston Times says of one of its cotemporaries:—

The great boldness of the Journal on Saturday in endorsing the action of the Mercantile Hall clique, took our Republican citizens, and Democrats, too, by surprise. Its endorsement was based on a knowledge of what names the Nominating Committee had determined to present on Saturday evening. Those names were printed in its latest edition of that day. Additional surprise was created by the fact that the Journal had taken a decided stand. This would indicate that there is a new pilot at the helm, and that the paper has entered upon a new field of journalism.

—The little town of Vineland that is forever bound to try on all the latest ideas and institutions of the age, is making preparation to open a night school for colored children. We like the idea, but wonder why colored children cannot go to school before they ought to go to bed?—Germantown Chronicle.

7 PER CENT. GOLD
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ISSUED BY THE
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 20 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

THURSDAY, DEC. 8, 1870.

THE WAR.—Balloon advices from Paris say that on Friday the Prussians attacked, with great impetuosity, the French at Champigny and in front of Villiers. After seven hours fighting, the enemy failed to carry the positions of the French, and retreated, leaving their dead and wounded on the field. Their losses were from 15,000 to 20,000. On Saturday the French reached the Marne and took up a position. The enemy made no attempt to resist them. Ducrot greatly distinguished himself in the battle of Friday. The troops who attacked were Saxons and Wurtembergers. Their number exceeded 100,000, and their losses must have been extraordinary, for the next day they were so weakened that they suffered the French to cross the river unopposed. The successes created the wildest enthusiasm in Paris.

After a two days' battle, in which the army of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg was mainly engaged, Mansteen's corps captured the St. Jean railway station and the suburb of Orleans. Thirty guns and 1000 prisoners were taken. The Prussian loss was moderate. The Prussians found nine cannon and much ammunition on the field before Amiens.

Gen. Paladines retreated from Orleans with a force believed to be 200,000 strong. He had 500 cannon.

The French under Ducrot have destroyed the bridges near Bice, and withdrawn completely beyond the Marne, under the guns of Fort Nogent.

CONGRESS. — On Tuesday, in the House, a resolution came up to extend the time for the completion of a railroad in Minnesota. Mr. Ela offered an amendment, providing for a grant of lands to aid the construction of certain proposed railways in New Hampshire, which would, he said, pass through the best granite section in the country, open up a short route to the seaboard, and afford cheap and rapid transportation for good stone to Minnesota and for good lumber to New Hampshire, but the Minnesota people would not give New Hampshire any help. After an hours' debate, the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of 89 to 80.

Mr. Lynch of Maine introduced, with several amendments, the shipping-revival bill, which was referred to the special committee on navigation interests.

New Publications Received.

The Tilden Enterprise is the title of a neat little paper published tri-annually at the Tilden Seminary, West Lebanon. It is edited by Mary B. Phillips, Alice M. Whicher, Sarah B. Yeaton, Minnie F. Lewis and Addie E. Waugh. One advertises a letter lost; another wants four dozen eye glasses; and what they all want is more than they can tell. They recommend evening gymnastics for the headache—and time themselves as follows:—45 minutes make an hour, 11 hours a day, 5 days a week, 13 weeks a term, 3 terms a year, and 4 years a course. Their ages may be estimated in advance by this curious method of reckoning and the chances are that before many years their mean time will not be 6 o'clock, P. M., and that they will make longer measure when on time, hereafter. Success to them and may they never live long enough to become old maids.

Ballou's Monthly for January. Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston. $1.50 per year; single copies 15 cts. Well printed, readable, cheap. The illustrations are numerous and good, and the stories of such variety that everybody must find something worth the price of the magazine.

CHEESE FACTORIES OF THE UNITED STATES.—The Cheese factories of the country in 1868 numbered 792, of which 660 were in operation in New York, 72 in Ohio, 26 in Illinois, 25 in Vermont, and 8 in Wisconsin. Since then the number has largely increased; 200 factories have been started in New York, and 54 in Wisconsin. The cheese product, under the factory system, it is stated, has risen from one hundred and five million pounds in 1860 to two hundred and forty million pounds in 1868, while the demand in the latter year exceeds the supply by seventy-two million pounds. The entire dairy product of the United States in 1868, it is estimated, was worth four hundred millions of dollars.

—On Wednesday evening an Evansville jury were brought into the court-room and asked for that one of their number might be instructed upon the following points of law: "If I believe that the evidence was one way, and the other eleven believe different, does that justify any other juryman in knocking me down with a chair?" The judge answered in general terms.

—Nitro-glycerine has been in use five years and has only killed 1700 people.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The annual report of Hon. George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, opens with a resume of the force of his Department. At the date of the previous report, our navy comprised 188 ships, calculated to carry 1322 guns, exclusive of howitzers. Since that date four small gunboats, the Seminole, Clinton, Maumee and Unadilla have been condemned and sold, the tug Rescue sold to Liberia, the tug Maria run down and sunk in Long Island Sound, and the steam sloop Oneida cut down and sunk by the English passenger steamer Bombay, in the Bay of Yeddo, leaving a total at present of 181 vessels, calculated for 1309 guns. Of these 52 are monitors, 30 sailing vessels, and the balance steamers, or sailing vessels with auxiliary steam power; 45 vessels vessels are attached to the several fleets and 4 are in commission for special service; 6 are receiving ships, 10 others ready for sea, 13 on the stocks, 15 under repair, and the balance laid up in ordinary.

The navigable waters of the globe, embracing an area of over 140,000,000 square miles, are divided for the purpose of naval operations into five cruising stations, viz:—The North Atlantic, the squadron of which, commanded by Rear-Admiral S. P. Lee, consists of 14 ships, mounting 79 guns; the South Atlantic station, Rear-Admiral Lanman, 4 ships and 41 guns; the Pacific station, Rear-Admiral Winslow, comprises two squadrons—the North Pacific, Commodore Taylor, 7 ships and 88 guns; and South Pacific, Commodore McDougall, 5 ships and 40 guns; the European station, Rear-Admiral Glisson, 8 ships and 129 guns; and the Asiatic station, Rear-Admiral John Rodgers, 7 vessels and 88 guns. The operations at the Midway Islands in the Pacific ocean in deepening the entrance to the harbor are detailed; the officer in charge estimating the time required to complete the work at fifty-two months and the cost at $214,000; but, as the appropriation of $50,000 is exhausted, work will cease for the present. The explorations of Commander Selfridge's Darien expedition and the progress of Capt. Shufeldt's Tehuantepec expedition, in their efforts to find a suitable route for an inter-oceanic canal, are reviewed and favorable results hoped for.

The recommendations for the improvement of the Navy Yards, especially that at Mare Island, Cal., are reviewed, also those for the removal of some of the yards from their present situation in the midst of populous and growing cities, and the claims of League Island and New London suggested. The progress in torpedo experiments is pronounced favorable, the necessity of a hydrographic establishment urged, the building of a new magazine at Norfolk, the establishment of a nitre depot, tests of ordnance, and the erection of yards and docks for iron shipbuilding recommended. The Naval School at Annapolis is favorably reported on, the death of Admiral Faragut and the loss of the Oneida suitably noted, and an appendix gives information as to the naval force of foreign nations. But the principal points of the reports are the financial exhibit—which shows that, notwithstanding the enormous demands upon the Department, the expenditures have been kept down, and are absolutely $1,096,119 less for the year ending December 1, 1870, than for the year ending December, 1869,—and the demonstration that while the Department is responding to the demands of the country for economy in expenditures, it is at the serious cost of our commerce in foreign seas, and to the detriment of the rights of our citizens in foreign lands.

The estimates for the general expenses of the service for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1872, amount to $20,683,317, to which is added $955,100 for permanent improvements of navy yards and stations. The Secretary urges that with a coast line of seven thousand miles, and a cruising ground of 140,000,000 square miles, forty ships are utterly insufficient. He forcibly alludes to the fact that the only means of enforcing either respect for the Government or protection for its citizens away from home, are the guns of the navy; and that scarcely a mail comes but brings intelligence of some call upon our naval vessels in distant seas for protection, and especially at the present time. He says everywhere on the shores of civilized Europe the security of American rights and citizenship demands the presence of our flag, while in the half-civilized East, our commerce is constantly startled by outbreaks which defy the power of even friendly Governments. The constant necessity for an increase of our forces in Asiatic waters, which we are unable to afford, oppresses the Department.

The feeling of uncertainty and alarm which at this time pervades all European settlements in China, extends to our own commercial and religious representatives, and the bulk of our Asiatic fleet is now cruising in that portion of the station for the protection of any interests that may be threatened and a display, as far as may be, of that armed force which makes the strongest appeal to Asiatic respect. He does not repeat at length many of his important suggestions for the improvement of the Navy, but they remain, and he refers to and presses them, for the good of the service and the honor, safety and welfare of the country.

☞ The patrons of the Phenix Hotel at Concord will be glad to learn that Mr. Geo. J. Hackett, the former efficient clerk, remains in charge of the office of that well managed establishment, under the new landlord, Mr. J. R. Crocker.

☞ "Cuff" Hall, the colored boy, has confessed that he murdered the old man Howard at Westport, Mass., and that Petty had nothing to do with it.

THE SHOOTING AT KEY WEST.—Further particulars have been received at the Navy Department of the fatal affray in Key West, between Surgeon William M. King and Chief Engineer M. M. Kellogg, United States Navy, in which the latter was killed. As is usual in cases of this kind, a woman was at the bottom of it. For several months Kellogg had noticed an intimacy springing up between Dr. King and his (Kellogg's) wife's sister, a Miss Emma Carey, which Kellogg thought boded no good to the young lady. He accordingly expostulated with the doctor. At this King flared up and a quarrel ensued which however was soon apparently made up. On the afternoon of the 16th ult., Kellogg met the doctor with his sister-in law, Miss Carey, and struck him twice on the head with a stout walking-stick, but without seriously injuring him. Miss Carey ran screaming into her father's store near by, and called for assistance, but too late. The doctor, as soon as he could recover from the suddenness of the attack, whipped out his derringer, and fired twice, the first time without effect. The next ball entered his assailant's abdomen, and he died in a few minutes. King was lodged in jail, and the Coroner's jury having returned a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree, Dr. King was held to bail in $10,000.

—A proprietor of a lager beer saloon in Rutland recently lost his pocket-book containing $600. It was found and returned by a young man, and the gratified Teuton thus gave vent to his delight: "Bob, you is one honest man. I tells you what I'll do; I'll shake you for the lager."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels—rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwalwd3

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy luster and a grateful perfume.

THE COUNTY FARM.—On Tuesday the annual visit of a portion of our City officials to the County Farm at Brentwood took place. The party from this city, including the Mayor and a portion of the Aldermen, City Clerk and City Treasurer, and a few others, were met at Epping Depot by Superintendent Philbrick, of the County Institution, and conveyed by carriages three miles to the Farm. Here they were joined by County Commissioner J. W. F. Hobbs, County Treasurer Lougee. and a number of other gentlemen from Exeter—in all forming a very pleasant party. The whole premises were examined, and the management of all pronounced excellent, as it will never fail to be, while in charge of the present keeper, and the matron, his wife; and a fine dinner was served and well discussed.

The County House itself is a light and cheap building, the new barn is a handsome and substantial structure, but the new Insane Asylum, (both well built by Mr. Isaiah Wilson of this city, and neither yet occupied,) is altogether too small and insufficient for the use intended. The inmates now number 118, and are well cared for, and declared themselves contented. The County Farm has now cost about $40,000, and must cost more yet.

Communication.

OUR BAND.—We very much regret the fact of the practical disbanding of such an organization as the Portsmouth Cornet Band; for many reasons. It is a bad reflection upon the public spirit and generosity of the citizens of Portsmouth. It is a loss which will be keenly felt by the majority of the community. It is a disappointment to the band members who have worked hard and sacrificed much time and money to continue its organization, and make for it the good reputation it has borne.

It cannot be denied that it justly ranks with the best bands in the State, there having occurred within the past few years numerous instances wherein some of these first-class organizations were brought together, which afforded an opportunity of comparing their merits, and the invariable impression has been that the Portsmouth Cornet Band stood A 1 with them. At the celebration by the Masons of the anniversary of St. John's Day (3 years ago last June, we think) in Boston, there were present in the procession upwards of one hundred bands, and we frequently heard, while waiting for the immense line to pass, expressions of admiration of the fine music discoursed by the Portsmouth Band, and these remarks, too, were made by disinterested parties and strangers.

So, it being conceded that it has merit, the question naturally arises, can we afford to allow its dissolution? Perhaps there are those who would reply in the affirmative, adducing as a reason that the members entered into it as a matter of investment for pleasure or pecuniary profit, or both, and that if they had succeeded the public would have received none of their surplus earnings, and as they have failed to realize any money from it, and they (the members) have not the public spirit to continue it, notwithstanding their expenses are greater than their income, let it die, as any other business enterprise which experiences like obstacles dies.

This argument, although based wholly on selfishness, is no fancy argument. We have heard individuals use almost the same language as that which is above written. But it is not to this class of narrow-minded men that we appeal. It is to those who have a heart for the interests of the public, who have eyes capable of discerning something besides money, who have brains enough to enable them to comprehend the fact that for the credit of the city of Portsmouth, if for no other reason, this Band should be sustained. We can do this without a great pecuniary effort, if all respond who should, and we thrust an immediate movement will be made towards raising funds to enable the P. C. B. to discharge their debts and continue their organization. C. W. O.

[Note.—If our citizens favor the suggestion of our correspondent above, they have an opportunity of assisting to carry them out, as the Band hold an adjourned meeting on Friday evening, to take final action as to disbanding.—Eds.]

☞ U. S. Steamer Speedwell, under command of Mate Bradbury, returned from Boston, Wednesday.

☞ Crown Princes of clams may be had at the store of Mr. Charles E. Sanborn on Vaughan Street. They are nicely shocked and we don't care about trying any better ones.

THAT KITTERY GHOST can claim the credit of having intimidated more persons than our Vaughan Street spectre. As far as we able to learn, about 1000 individuals have seen it, and only one of that number had the courage to approach it,—and he didn't, but it was because he couldn't find a rock to arm himself with, although he ran a quarter of a mile to obtain one, past stone walls (which are often composed of rocks) throughout the whole route, but did not think it advisable to return as the apparition had no doubt vanished. We are acquainted with an unhappy youth who says "it's just his luck never to be where the fun is," and complains bitterly because—tho' he has business in Kittery that often takes him past where the ghost lives, at hours between ten at night and three in the morning—the ghost has never given him a call. It is hard, and no mistake. Perhaps the hobgoblin will take care of him some of these fine nights—or mornings.

☞ A very large audience attended the third entertainment of the Lyceum course, Tuesday evening. The poem written by Albert Laighton was finely rendered by Miss Flora M. Fitts and many in the audience recognized the well known citizen of former days it described.

Rev. A. J. Patterson's lecture on "The Fall of Napoleon and the Lessons of War" was a semi-religious production, fervently presented in the eloquent speaker's most dramatic manner. He showed the worst side of Napoleon's character and left untold that which would have given the fallen Emperor more credit. King William and Bismarck, on the contrary, were presented in a most favorable light, while their evil qualities were hardly alluded to.

The lecturer throughout seemed to favor the Prussian side of the controversy. He thought King William and Bismarck did not want war, while the history of the past four months seems sufficient to convince most people that the wily Bismarck led Napoleon on to his fate and that the aritocratic King William was as eager for "glory" as Napoleon. The speaker said that the people of France were exultant over the relief that Napoleon's fall brought them. He doubtless forgot that success would have elated them correspondingly. Disaster brings denunciation always, but victory as surely brings congratulation and rejoicing; and the people of France are no exceptions to the general rule.

The closing portion of the lecture was devoted to the question of Catholicism, and heavy blows were dealt against the Romish Church, such as might not have been expected in a lyceum lecture, yet the audience expressed their approval by rounds of applause. Mr. Patterson had a flattering reception among his old friends, who remain as steadfast as they were during his eleven years' residence in Portsmouth.

☞ The following towns are reported as in favor of the nomination of Hon. S. M. Wheeler for Congress:—Albany, Nottingham, Northwood, Deerfield, Hampstead, Candia and Chester. Greenland sends one for Ela, one for Gordon. In Convention, Rockingham County is entitled to 110 votes, Strafford 58, Carroll 42, Belknap 36—246 in all.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

DEATHS.

☞ The funeral of the late FRANK W. FERNALD will take place this (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, from No. 14 Deer St. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

In this, Dec 31, Mr. SIMON JENNESS, aged 76 years.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,
Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

SAMUEL LORD, Esq.,
Cashier First National Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers as A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

COUNTRY CHILDREN.

Little fresh violets,
Born in the wildwood;
Sweetly illustrating,
Innocent childhood;
Shy as the antelope—
Brown as a berry—
Free as the mountain air,
Romping and merry.

Blue eyes and hazel eyes,
Peep from the hedges,
Shaded by sun bonnets,
Frayed at the edges;
Up in the apple trees,
Heedless of danger,
Manhood in embryo,
Stares at the stranger.

Out in the hilly patch,
Seeking the berries—
Under the orchard tree—
Feasting on cherries—
Tramping the clover bloom,
Down 'mong the grasses,
No voice to hinder them,
Dear lads and lasses!

No grim propriety—
No interdiction;
Free as the birdlings,
From city restriction!
Coining the purest blood,
Strengthening each muscle,
Donning health armor,
'Gainst life's coming bustle!

Dear little innocents!
Born in the wild wood;
Oh, that all little ones,
Had such a childhood!
God's blue spread over them,
God's green beneath them,
No sweeter heritage,
Could we bequeath them.

THE ALABAMA TROUBLES.—The first statement of the Alabama squabble which was at all clear, which we have seen thus far is the following:

The constitution says the legislature shall provide a way for contesting the election of executive officers. This has not yet been done. The constitution provides that the returns shall be sent to the presiding officer of the senate who shall open and count them and proclaim the result, all in presence of a majority of the legislature. Governor Smith filed a bill in chancery, asserting that his opponent Lindsay is not lawfully elected, charging intimidation and exclusion at some voting places, neglect to open the polls at others where nearly all the voters were Republicans, and a refusal to certify returns in some largely republican counties. On these charges he asked and obtained an injunction restraining the president of the senate from proclaiming Lindsay governor until the legislature could pass a law prescribing the manner of contesting an election. Barr, president, obeyed the injunction, but counted the votes for lieutenant governor and announced Moran, Democrat, elected, when the senate retired from the joint convention. Moran claimed to be presiding officer of the Senate, and proceeded to count votes in the presence of the assembly, and proclaim Lindsay, Democrat, governor. Smith will not surrender the executive department to him, but sends a message declaring that his sole object is to maintain his constitutional rights, and have the election legeally and constitutionally contested. If he can have that he will submit cheerfully and immediately to the result. He positively affirms that he can prove that Lindsay was not legally elected and urges him to test the question. How strong his evidence is, of course we do not know, but he makes a good legal showing. However, public opinion is strongly against him and he will yield.

☞ The New Idria Mine, which through Mc-Garrahan's claim has attained so much notoriety, is described by a recent visitor as in an indescribably dreary and unpromising locality. It is situated about 200 miles almost due south of Sacramento, California, and is at present in prosperous operation. The bed of quicksilver is said, however, to be almost exhaustless. It was opened up about ten years ago, worked a few years, then closed by injunction until 1865, since which time it has been active, employing between 200 and 300 men. Its yield of quicksilver in 1867 was 11,500 flasks. The crude ore yields seven per cent of clean quicksilver.

☞ Hoswell, the murderer of Laffin at Hallowell, was convicted of manslaughter, the jury having been out ten hours.

☞ Gen. Hiram Walbridge died in New York on Tuesday.

—J. F. CLARK in the December number of Old and New says "There is a wide difference between the politician and the statesman. A politician, for example, is a man who thinks of the next election; while the statesman thinks of the next generation. The politician thinks of the success of his party, the statesman of the good of his country. The politician wishes to carry this or that measure, the statesman to establish this or the other principle. Finally the statesman wishes to steer; while the politician is content to drift."

—A big moon-struck youth was around the other night in Portland, with a cracked guitar and a creaky voice singing: "Put me in my little bed." A window was finally opened and the young man informed, if he didn't "dust" they would "Stand him on his little head."

—Twain says chambermaids always put the match-box in some other place.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and coats but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbug in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. Mark Twain Reports the Farmers' Club

Ex-Constable Quinn desired the club to inform him how to make hogs root.

Dr. Slow had been a practical farmer for the last six weeks, and in all the varied agricultural experience, no such thing as hog's root had ever come under his notice. What was it? Was it edible? Was it useful in any way, or was it, as he more than expected, another worthless humbug devised by the sharpers to defraud us practical farmers? He knew not whether it was propagated by seeds or by cuttings, but he would advise Mr. Quinn to be shy of hog's root, especially if it was a new fangled or high-priced tuber.

Mr. Moker, the agricultural writer, explained the anatomy of the hog's proboscis. It is designed for subterranean foraging, by a process vulgarly called rooting, to which Mr. Quinn's inquiry probably referred. Being a delicate organ it is liable to injury. He would recommend that Mr. Quinn wipe his pig's nose. If he finds it red, he may be sure it is tender and needs protection by a metallic shield. Some resort to the strategic device of inserting a wire ring in the hog's nose, in his efforts to remove which he would naturally thrust his snout into the soil, and thus root unwittingly. That was playing it rather low on the hog, and the metallic shield was preferable on the score of fair dealing and philanthropy.

Mr. Greeley exhibited a pumpkin of his own raising. As it embodied his solitary and crowning success, after several years of discouraging failure in pumpkin culture, the club surrounded it with uncovered heads, and mingled emotions of surprise, admiration and envy. It was a superb fruit, and when Mr. G.'s hat was placed on it, to illustrate the size and symmetry, the hat and pumpkin seemed so perfectly adapted to each other, and together produced an effect so startling that several enthusiastic members swore they would have known who raised that pumpkin if they had seen it anywhere. It is to be photographed by Gurney, and next year's Tribune subscribers will receive copies. The pumpkin was the flattering product of one bushel of seed planted on the farm in Champagna. Soon after blossoming, the vine manifested an inclination to whither. It was thereupon transplanted to a large flower-pot and removed to the town residence of its founder. For some time it pined and drooped, and they sat up nights with it, expecting that every moment would be its last, but every moment turned out not to be its last, and with careful nursing it finally rallied and came up to maturity, as cherished and tough a pumpkin as ever grew.

Dr. Sixhammers suggested that the result of Mr. G.'s indomitable struggle with a pumpkin, showed how every city family could provide itself with pumpkin pie. He hoped to see the day when every window-sill, in every city, would be adorned with fructifying pumpkin pots, and every workman's cottage embowered in pumpkin vines.

Thomas Dodd, of New Hampshire, writes to the club that he is fifty years old, infirm with consumption, has a large family, ten dollars in money, and wants to know what to do.

Mr. Moker—Go out to Greeley Colony and invest in our irrigating ditch.

Mr. Layman—Buy a Texas ranche or a Florida orange grove.

Dr. Simble — His health requires light farming in a bracing climate. Let him start an indigo plantation in Alaska.

Mr. Greeley—He mustn't come to New York. His $10 wouldn't last a year; but out West he can invest it and grow up with the country. If I had gone West with $10 at his age, I should be a happy man now, with two suits of respectable garments, an office, and a conscious guiltless of distracting tariff and farming essays.

Mr. Herrings invited the club to visit his farm, thirty miles up the river, next Wednesday, and inspect a horse-radish that he had persuaded to vegetate. The ground was tilled, sub-soiled and top-dressed. He had expended upon that plant only half a ton of bone-dust, one cart load of ashes and a barrel of guano; yet in spite of his neglect, it had within a year grown to the size of his little finger. His foreman would explain to the clerk the peculiar difficulty of raising this rare exortic. He would treat the club to a regular farmer's dinner, the materials for which he had already engaged at the city markets.

The club accepted and adjourned.

WHO WANTS TO MAKE A FORTUNE? We hope our exchanges will call the attention of their sheep breeding patrons to the splendid inducemente offered here for the importation of sheep. Of the thousands that have been brought hither in the last three years there are not enough left in the whole Territory to make a first-class flock, they have all been swallowed up by the meat markets. Raised exclusively for slaughter, they would yield enormous profits to the breeder. Mutton has never been lower than twenty-five cents a pound in Montana; and the cost of keeping sheep, Winter or Summer, would be but a trifle.—Montana Pick.

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, its estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of them Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

FRIDAY, DEC. 9, 1870.

Communication.

THE CONGRESSIONAL QUESTION. After the Ecumenical Council at Dover—beg pardon, I mean the Congressional Convention,—has spoken, I know it will be anathema to say a word against its decision. For that reason it might be well enough, perhaps, while it is still allowable, to express one's sentiments. First, to have one's say and get rid of the bile, and second, to help the public in the formation of an opinion not yet expressed. The approaching election is one of some importance. It is the second year of the administration, always a hard year for the party in power; and it is important that the names selected to go on the Republican ticket, should be not only of those fitted for the office,—but that the people should recognize that fitness.

The prominence which the name of Hon. Nathaniel Gordon of Exeter has obtained of late as a candidate for the nomination to Congress, naturally provokes an enquiry into the probable result of his nomination. Would he strengthen the ticket? or would his nomination jeopardise the success of the party in the District and possibly in the State? are pertinent questions; and every one who has any influence in the voice of the Convention, should consider them well.

Mr. Gordon has represented Senatorial District No. 2 for the last two years. In March, 1869, he ran 255 behind the Gubernatorial vote, receiving 3157 to 3412 for Gov. Stearns. In March 1870, being the second year, and according to usage the last of his term, he still fell behind 188 votes, receiving only 145 majority in a district which would have given a really popular man 500.

Now his Senatorial District comprises about one-fourth of this Congressional District, in which we last spring had a Republican majority of 785. I should judge from carefully comparing Mr. Gordon's majority in No. 2, for the two years he has run, that he would fall 250 votes behind his ticket in that District; also that it is not possible that he will run better in No. 1. The other two Senatorial Districts I am not so well acquainted with; but it is easy to see that he might lose the district, with a popular competitor to contend with. The injury from having an unpopular name on the ticket is not alone in the scratching. Some stay away from the polls, and others vote the opposition ticket, in consequence; so that the evil may extend to other offices, and the State be lost through its means.

There is one other thing that will operate to the disadvantage of the Republican party should Mr. G. become its nominee. It is understood that he has fallen into the hands of a clique of Exeter politicians, who were well described by Mr. Gordon in a speech before the Governor and Council last Spring, on the occasion of the appointment of a Sheriff for this County, and of which it is sufficient to say, the people have not changed their opinion if Mr. Gordon has his.

POLITICAL.—All accounts from Washington agree that there is unusual unanimity and good feeling among the Republican members of both Houses.

The official report of the vote for Governor in Tennessee is as follows: William H. Wisener (Republican), 98,475; John C. Brown (Democrat), 72,289; majority for Brown, 33,814.

The Alabama Democrats elected Judge Goldthwait, formerly of Massachusetts, to the U. S. Senate on Wednesday. Goldthwait received 65 votes to 50 for Warner, and 14 for Harralson, republicans. One democrat was absent, and two republicans did not vote.

United States Senator Robertson of South Carolina was re-elected Wednesday.

PERSONAL.—That estimable aborigine, Hon. S. Tall, is recovering from a surfeit of roast dog and currycomb whiskey.

Gen. Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumter, continues to reside in Europe.

New Publications Received.

—A rumor has obtained a general currency in the New York papers that Patti is coming to run in opposition to Christine Nilsson.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The following are the main points in Secretary Boutwell's report:—

After giving the tables and showing the receipts and expenditures of the year, he says:—"According to these estimates there will be a surplus applicable to the payment of the principal of the public debt in addition to the payments made on that account through the sinking fund, of $10,778,680.39. The sum of $22,338,278.37, is the estimate for public works.

The appropriations for these objects for the present year are less than $12,000,000. It may be reasonably anticipated that the total reduction of the public debt during the next fiscal year, including payments on account of sinking fund, will be about fifty million dollars. It is a noticeable fact that the estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year, including payments on account of the sinking fund and for the interest on the public debt, are so nearly equal to the receipts as to justify and demand the greatest caution in dealing with the revenue and business of the country.

A disaster or even a serious check to business would reduce the revenue below our necessary expenditures. The prosperous condition of the country is largely due to the revenue system inaugurated during the war, by which manufactures and the mechanical arts have been extended and established. This policy cannot now be rashly abandoned, or suddenly and radically changed without great injury to business and labor, and serious consequent losses of revenue. The war in Europe has rendered it impracticable to refund the national debt as authorized by the Act approved July 14, 1870. A portion of the paper has been manufactured, and the proportion of the plates has been so far advanced that whenever a favorable opportunity arises, the loan may be offered and the bonds delivered without delay, inasmuch as the war in Europe and the consequent demand for money make it doubtful whether the four and the four and a half per cent. bonds will be taken.

It seems wise to authorize the issue of three hundred millions additional of bonds bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The interest can be paid quarterly without inconvenience and I therefore respectfully recommend that the loan act be so modified that the payment of interest may be made quarterly instead of semi-annually. Should these recommendations be approved by Congress, it is of the greatest importance that an act authorizing the changes be passed without delay, as since the first of July the currency balance in the Treasury has been unusually, and for immediate purpose, unnecessarily large.

The act of July 12, 1870, atborizing an increase of national bank notes, imposed upon the Secretary of the Treasury the duty of providing for the redemption of equal amounts of three per cent. certificates. The financial condition of the country has not been unfavorably affected by the accumulations in the Treasury. During the year ending Sept. 30, 1870, the national banks paid in interest the sum of $6,486,172.66

It is estimated that of this sum two millions were paid to private parties. I cannot doubt that the practice of paying interest, except upon balances due from one bank to another, is a means by which large amounts of capital are diverted from the extreme portions of the country to the commercial and financial centres to the injury of business generally. The province of a bank is to lend money, and its proper duty is by loans and discounts to facilitate and develope business in the neighborhood of its location as a matter of fact. Under the present system banks are agencies by which capital is gathered in and sent away to distant cities, and there will be loaned on call and used for speculative purposes.

Complaints are made from all parts of the country that the bills of the national banks are worn and defaced to such an extent as to be no longer fit for circulation. As many new banks are soon to be organized under the law of the last session of Congress, I respectfully recommend that an appropriation be made, and authority given for the issue of new bills upon such paper and in such a form as may be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Comptroller of the currency in his report for 1869, recommended the establishment of an agency in the city of New York under the control of the national banks for the redemption of their issues. The expenses should be borne by the banks.

Upon the whole, the system of banking should be extended only for the purpose of meeting the demands of business, but when the demands are urgent the concession should be made upon the ground that the prosperity of business is more important than the mere saving of interest arising from the circulation of Treasury notes.

Regarding the repeal of the navigation laws, he says: "Without undertaking to specify the means by which it is to be accomplished, I cannot overstate the importance of such legislation as will secure the revival of American commerce." In referring to the act of July 1, 1870, for transporting goods inland in bond, he says: "Without doubt the act increases the opportunity for the introduction of foreign goods into the country in violation of the revenue laws, but the examination which I have given to the subject in the preparation of the regulations, leads me to think that the business can be safely conducted."

He recommends increase of the permanent appropriations for collecting the revenue from customs to the sum of $2,600,000 for each half year, from and after the 30th day of June, 1870. He recommends prompt appropriations for public buildings in course of construction, and reviews the condition of mints, light houses, revenue marine, marine hospitals, Alaska fur and seal fisheries, civil service, asserting that treasury and custom-house employees are neither adequately nor proportionately well paid, and closes as follows: In my annual report of December last I advised the continuance of the existing system of taxation as an essential condition to the successes of the proposed loan.

The circumstance that war was declared between France and Prussia simultaneously with the passage of the loan bill, put it out of the power of the department to make the negotiation as bad been expected. The large revenues, however, of the government, continuing without material abatement, until the present time, improved the credit of the country, enabled the Treasury Department by weekly purposes to reduce the amount of surplus bonds offered for sale, and contributed to depreciate the market value of gold.

The reduction of the public debt since the 30th of June last, has been so great as to render certain that the total reduction for the present fiscal year will exceed sixty millions of dollars. The natural increase of the business of the country during the next eighteen months is likely to be such as to show a surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1872, of about $40,000,000. The financial prospect, although highly favorable, is not such as to warrant an important change in the revenue system at the present session of Congress, but should the result during the coming year meet my expectations, it will be impossible at the December session of the 42d Congress to make a very material reduction in the revenues without impairing the ability of the government to make satisfactory payments of the public debt.

The reduction already made has been advantageous to the country. There is much evidence tending to show that no other event since the conclusion of the war has contributed so much to the diffusion of republican opinion in Europe. The spread of these opinions stimulates emigration from Europe and at the same time prepares the way for free institutions on the Continent: for can there be any doubt that a policy accepting the debt as permanent, would retard emigration from Europe especially of the reading and reflecting classes. Whatever arguments may be adduced or whatever theories advanced, the fact must ever remain that a public debt is a public evil.

It is especially burdensome to the laboring classes, and it is therefore in their interest to provide for the constant reduction of the existing national debt. The taxes may be removed from many articles of prime necessity.

Specific information and general intelligence from various parts of the United States show that all classes, and especially the laboring classes, are in the enjoyment of more than average prosperity. No reason can be found, however, in the favorable condition of public and private affairs for neglecting any proper means for equalizing and diminishing the burden of taxation, but it does justify the statement that the nation can make provision for the public debt in the manner recommended, without embrassing its industry or retarding its progress.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

"A WONDER OF MEDICAL SCIENCE," may well be applied to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is nearly half a century since this remarkable remedy was introduced to the public, and yet the immediate and enviable reputation which it gained by its wonderful cures of coughs, colds, whooping cough, sore throat, influenza, consumption and all bronchial complaints, is to this day fully sustained. 1wd5

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of bowels, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally paralyze the bowels, rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a tonic and diuretic is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully. dwslwd3

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand full, from the time that one foot is put forward to be a totally bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as are more known in latitudes. Hence I always recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and healthy. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Illiersia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My object for saying so also, is to induce a less libelite to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may be just quarantined for life by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everyone who is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease, and in the Middle States, it does not seem so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c. but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particularly, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to give up a good appetite, so that it always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry;—I have hopes of such. The food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs, and then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats are more prominent and many, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who read this who seem to go to the point the question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, if they have been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, and then go out a little regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper course of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

As to the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than a dollar's worth of any one of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative pill is required. If you have a severe cold, fever and pain, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a dinner, or the effect of a party, indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat what you please, and have none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative pill is required. If you have gathered too freely of fruit

☞ We understand that Mr. Alfred Stavers has accepted an offer of $2500 for his quarter of the Waldron building lot on Congress St. Real estate would seem to be constantly on the increase in value in Portsmouth, notwithstanding all the croaking.

☞ The Portsmouth correspondent of the Associated Press states that our citizens are unanimously against the so-called Concord Railroad "ring." We don't believe there are a hundred citizens who know or care a snap about the merits of the case.

BAD FOR GORDON.—The prophet is out for him, with nearly a column leader. It gives him one less vote than he is entitled to, 99. But it takes 124 to nominate in a full Convention. Does Gordon's "organ" grind for the money it says he is putting out from his own pocket.

☞ "Happy Cal. Wagner's" Minstrels and band, under direction of J. H. Haverly, are to give an entertainment at the Temple on Thursday evening, Dec. 15. Mr. H. E. Parmalee, well known here in connection with other travelling companies, is the advance Agent.

☞ Two boys—John Blute and Daniel Falvey, aged respectively 15 and 12 years, were found Thursday by Officer Entwistle in the cabin of the schooner L. ☞ Here we are, so near Christmas that we can about smell the traditional "roast beef and plum pudding," yet from our office windows we can see grass that is greener than it has been at any time before since the middle of last summer.

P. S. We wrote the above Thursday afternoon, and when we turned to look at the green grass, the snow was falling quite prettily. Time for it.

☞ Horse Clipping is now not only done by a machine, but by power, either hand or steam. The principle is that of scissors, or two square edges cutting as they cross each other, as in mowing machines. There is one of the Nashua patent power clipping machines at work in the old Somerby stable in this city, turned by a hand crank. Horse clipping is coming to be more and more popular each year, and no person can be found who is really well informed on the subject, that does not approve it.

☞ Michael Gilligan, Daniel Sullivan and Willie Quinn were on Tuesday sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction, for stealing ten pounds of honey from a beehive belonging to Mr. A. K. Warren. On their way to the "House" they were recognized by a man as being the boys he had chased the Thursday morning previous, when they broke into Mr. Parry's bread-cart and stole nine pies, with gingerbread and other stuff—a trick which somebody has played Mr. Parry before. These three boys are regular street Arabs, and live by thieving. If they were from Africa instead of from Ireland, what a hullaballoo would be raised about them and their race by the copperheads.

☞ Augustus Y. Rand was brutally assaulted by Daniel McGaffrey and others from Boston, while acting as keeper for Deputy Sheriff Morse at Rye on Thursday. McGaffrey was arrested at North Hampton.

☞ Certain Democratic economists in this city, who have a great deal to say about "radical expenditures," as they pound away on a two-cent copper kettle and imagine they are creating just about the heaviest kind of "Democratic thunder," feel very badly indeed because certain writers in the Chronicle have opposed the expenditure of eight or nine thousand dollars of the people's money per year by the Government, to furnish music free of cost (as they say) for the Naval officers at this Station, "Consistency, thou art a jewel!"

☞ The lighthouse on Whale's Back, at the entrance of the harbor, will be one of the finest on the coast. The granite pier erected in 1929, on which the lighthouse tower now stands, had become so much injured by the heavy seas to which it is constantly exposed that Congress, by act of 15th July, 1870, granted an appropriation of $70,000 for a new tower, which will be planted on the reef near the old pier. The position is one of the most difficult to work upon on the coast, as the rock is covered by the waves, except at low water, and is exposed to the full force of the Atlantic. The new structure will be a masonry tower, solid, to a height of twenty feet above low water mark, and the blocks of granite, which will form a facing for the interior mass of concrete, will be tied together by dovetail joints. The diameter of the tower at the base will be twenty-seven feet, and the height of the focal plane above the sea will be sixty-eight feet. The surface of the rock is now being prepared for the foundation, but as the work can only be carried on at low water, the progress is necessarily slow.

☞ William Beals, Esq., senior proprietor of the Boston Post, died on Thursday at the age of 85 years.

☞ The President has sent the names of Vice Admiral Porter and Rear Admiral Rowan to the Senate for promotion to Admiral and Vice Admiral.

☞ The Nashua Telegraph advocates the return of Gen. A. F. Stevens to Congress. Second the motion. It's none of our business in this District, but Gen. Stevens' position on the Naval Committee and his well known sympathies with the staff officers of the Navy, is sufficient reason for wishing him a triumphant re-election.

Messrs. Sayward & Grant have also nearly finished their new hotel at Long Beach. It is 54 feet square and 3 stories high, and like Mr. Marshall's will be a splendid building when finished. These two hotels will accommodate a large number of the yearly-increasing crowd of visitors to their favorite summer resort. L. J.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of forcing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among all of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against these. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to coughs and colds, all should be provided with it.

Although called Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. No complaint is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses from day to day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

BLOOD STOCK.—We condense from the Patriot's report of the second day's proceedings of the Farmers' Meeting, the following:—After considerable talk in favor of local Farmers' Clubs,

Mr. Roberts said that he had not had much satisfaction in his experience with stone drains. He was in favor of tile draining. The tiles do not fill up with sand or dirt so readily as the stone, and when they do fill up they are easily repaired, while any one knows who has ever tried it, that there is severe labor in repairing stone drains. Tiles will carry off the water freely.

The all important question of "Blood Stock,—what breeds are most desirable for New Hampshire?" was then opened by Judge Roberts of Rollinsford. His essay contained much valuable information, and was listened to with close attention. He gave the annual increase of blood cattle in the United States as being six hundred millions of dollars, and said New Hampshire had three hundred thousand cattle valued at six millions of dollars. He traced the importation of blood stock, saying that the first importation was made by Capt. John Mason of Portsmouth, in the years 1631—32 and 33, and that the cattle were brought from Denmark. He gave the names of the different breeds and classified them in the order of their usefulness, giving the preference to the Devon as the oldest and best blood. He said that they were best fitted for all purposes, being good at the pail and fair at the shambles, while they had few superiors at work.

Mr. Buffum of Winchester said that the address of Judge Roberts was the most able production upon the subject that he had ever heard or read, and he hoped it would be published in every newspaper in New England. New Hampshire can double the value of her stock in ten years, and that, too, not by increasing the number or the cost of keeping, but by giving some attention to breeding. Our cattle can be made to mature two or three years quicker than they do now. Devons are no better at four years than Short Horns at three years; this has been shown by the experience of farmers in my vicinity. I have tried it with Short Horns, while some of my neighbors, good farmers too, had the Devon. In teaming the year round, Durham oxen are by far the best, and when desirable can be turned into the best of beef in a short time. I would say to the farmers of New Hampshire, never use a grade bull. It is a shame that the Agricultural Societies offer premiums for grade animals. It is a loss to the county and the State and unworthy of any men called upon to offer premiums. It is going back one hundred and fifty years. It is cheating ourselves out of a hundred and fifty years' experience of men who were as good if not better farmers than we are. The Cheshire county cattle are worth a cent a pound more for fattening purposes than any other, simply because we use the pure blood instead of the grade bull. I have just bought a pure blood bull for the Cheshire County Agricultural Society, and paid $300 for it. We have received $700 to purchase stock of pure blood, to distribute through the county, and we think it well laid out.

Mr. Adams of Manchester questioned the butter-making qualities of the Duteh breed of cattle.

Mr. George of Barnstead make a break here for the native. He spoke in a decided and honest manner. He told his experience. He said there was a vast difference between the New York Dutch and the Holstein. It was the New York Dutch, if any, that failed at butter making. He knew that the half-blood Holsteins were excellent for butter. It was beyond question that the Jerseys were superior for butter. It is a question whether the Devons are superior. The only trouble with the Jersey breed is, they don't make butter enough. He urges giving more attention to native stock and less to pure blood. It is not the beauty of a cow that increases her good milking qualities. He did not care for beauty; it was milk and cream and butter that he was after. Beauty may be well enough, but generally it was the homeliest cow that gave the most and best milk. Give the good old native the same kind of feed, the same care, and the same judgment in selection, and they will beat all your fancy blood stock. At the same expense the native will make more milk and butter, and are better for breeding. Disease does not take hold of natives as it does of your pure bloods. Pleuro-pneumonia was never known to break out among a herd of natives. He thought the Holstein Dutch the best breed of imported cattle. In breeding, never cross a big bull with a little cow; but always a big cow with a small bull. He thought a great deal of grade cattle. Only those who were willing to sacrifice $5000 per year could afford to discard the native and take to pure bloods.

Mr. Buffum spoke again, defending the pure bloods, and although allowing that the native might be about as good for milk, he claimed that there was no certainty that you could breed a good cow from the native, while with the pure blood every calf was of better blood than its mother, and consequently every year the value of the stock was increasing.

Other gentlemen followed in the discussion of this subject, and it was evident that this question was one that called out the farmers' prejudices and experiences to a very great extent.

—At Salt Lake a man went down into a shaft to see what was the reason that a blast didn't go off. An itemizer states that he came up directly in installments, with a lot of stone.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.00, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 12 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these new mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

HORSES.--Mr. Brown of Mass. said that four-fifths of the horses that passed his home were lame, and he wanted each man to have an equine skeleton for study, and thus avoid much lameness, especially if some knowledge of the covering muscles was added. He thought as early as at fifteen the horse developed its faults, and that to breed from stock over that age was to transmit those faults. He had seen a year old colt terribly ringboned thus, and thought it the wiser way to shoot the unsound beast rather than perpetuate its faults. He had next to cured a very bad case of spavin by putting corks three inches high on the hoof of the affected limb and gradually lowering this height. Deep-seated spavins he believed incurable. Over-reaching he had remedied by doubling the height of the front shoe heel corks and putting on that shoes behind.

Col. Clough of Canterbury spoke of remedying interfering by paring the outside of the hoofs as much as was safe and putting a thick inside on the shoe, canting the feet out. This worked like a charm on a bad case he once had. Mr. Adams of Manchester said that he could certify, as the son of a blacksmith, to the wisdom of that plan.

Col. Clough then went on to say that he believed the great cause of lameness to be too much corn meal, as being too heating. In the days of hay and oat feed, lameness was not common, but it was now the rule. Bad feet he thought were caused by hard floors.

In the evening Mr. H. W. Green, of Hopkinton, opened the session with a paper on breeding and rearing horses saying that there was no animal so valuable to man as the horse, nor one so generally used and neglected. He believed the horse the most profitable to breed in New Hampshire, on the present stock, was not the draft or trotting horse, but the carriage horse. In breeding a man should consider the defects of his property and breed to remedy them, which would surely entail success, if done with care and thought. The animals bred from should be the very best, not the poor specimens. Mr. G. showed the utter lack of foresight in the general practice of selling the best horses and breeding from inferior stock, and said that the poor animals born in this way had caused the inattention to breeding properly. No unsound horse should ever be bred from, especially those that are blind, the disease seeming hereditary, or from a stallion with unsound feet, which the colt would always take from his sire. He deemed it all-important that one parent should be fully matured, for if both are young or old, the offspring will be weak and small. Attention to such things had made some of the best English racers. Mr. G. concluded his well-put remarks by suggesting more care in relation to the characteristics and disposition of the parents.

Mr. Hawthorne of Hopkinton came down fiercely upon the horse-racing swindles of fairs, the attendant betting and its fascinations and final ruin. He would not offer a red cent in premiums for horse-racing; said the Iowa and Missouri State Fairs having discarded it has nearly doubled their receipts. This well-timed broadside discharged, Mr. B. said it was abuse to work a mare, as is common, up to within three weeks of foaling and begin to use three weeks after. Three months' rest before and after would tell on the colt, and milk at a fever heat never developed the most lively of colts.

Mr. Shepard of Massachusetts believed in large yards for horses, favoring uneven ground.

Mr. Greene of Hopkinton said owners comprised two classes—one aiming to get everything possible from their property, and the other using the animal as a being of sensibility. If a young horse was in the hands of one of the former, he was as good as ruined. He deemed it fallacious to shut up a horse in a stable, but would let him run and feed him up rather than force him to live on hay and water. In weaning colts, he used sweet apples, as he fancied the sweetness of milk, being nourishing and remedying the great trouble of constipation. Once tasted, the colt would follow a man to get an apple.

—An exchange states that the tradition of Herodius relating to the Islands of the Caspian Sea, was verified a year since by the wells of naptha, in which these islands abound, overflowing into the sea and converting for several hours many thousand square miles into a tossing billow of flames. When the inflammable matter was exhausted the sea was thickly covered with dead fish.

—A Parsian lady recently called on her milliner to enquire into the character of a servant. The morality of the latter was beyond questioning. "But is she honest?" asked the lady. "I am not so certain of that," replied the milliner; "I have sent her to you with my bill a dozen times, and she never yet has given me the money."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where favor or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, DEC. 10, 1870.

PROTECTION OF SEAMEN.—Mr. Sumner has introduced into Congress a bill which provides that in case any American vessel is lost, "every seaman belonging thereto shall be entitled to his wages up to the period of such wreck or loss, whether such ship shall or shall not have previously carried freight." This is all right, for the old rule by which seamen are held not to have earned wages until their ship has earned freight is a manifest swindle of the laboring man. But there is a second section to the bill, as follows:—

And be it further enacted, That every stipulation by which any seaman shall consent to abandon his wages in case of the wreck or loss of the ship or vessel, or in case of the failure to earn freight, shall be wholly void.

And this is supposed to be "An Act for the Protection of Seamen!" It is passing strange that Mr. Sumner, whose action shows him to be really interested in the welfare of seamen, and who introduced this same bill into Congress some twenty years ago, when it failed to pass, has not in the lapse of twenty years discovered that the only way to "protect" seamen is to set them free. He early recognized the fact that the only way to better the condition of and to protect the negro slaves, was—not to pile up a lot of special legislation regarding them and their rights or wrongs, but to put them on the same footing and let them be governed by the same laws as other men; in a word, to give them their liberty. And he wrought long and well to effect that desirable end; which makes it still more strange that he should not now battle for the full rights of seamen, instead of wasting time with a paltry bill which at best will but save a few dollars to perhaps one sailor in a thousand, while it still further degrades seamen as a class by declaring them incapable of making a legal contract on their own responsibility!

If Mr. Sumner desires to benefit seamen, let him advocate for them what the colored slaves have already received—equality before the law with other citizens of the United States. Let him work to have stricken from our maritime laws the infamous special legislation which regards the sailor as an inferior being without the attributes and rights of manhood, which declares that he shall not on his part terminate a contract already broken by the other parties to it, and that money he has fairly and hardly earned is not his—however much he may need it—until the owners of his body and soul see fit in their generosity to favor him with a portion of it.—let Mr. Sumner procure the abolition of these special laws and have the sailor recognized as a reasoning and responsible being, and he will have done more for the "protection of seamen" than if he secured the passage of a thousand bills declaring them incompetent to make binding contracts on their own account.

If sailors wish to be fools and sign away their claims, it is a very different affair from being robbed by the law, and they should have the same right to do so that other men have—no more and no less. But to add to laws which have already deprived seamen of all rights under any contracts they may make, an Act declaring them incapable of making contracts legally binding on themselves, is certainly not bringing them any nearer to liberty and manhood.

THE WAR.—The French were utterly defeated at Orleans. Ten thousand were made prisoners, and 77 pieces of artillery, including several mitrailleuses and four gunboats on the Loire, were captured.

The army of the Loire has again started on a forward movement.

The Prussians in their attack hurled over 120,000 men against General Ducrot. In spite of their immense numbers, Ducrot held his ground and repulsed the enemy.

King William accepts the title of "Emperor of Germany."

☞ A very important decision was made in the S. J. Court at Concord, Thursday, which denies the authority of the police courts to naturalize aliens under the United States law, and renders void all naturalizations made by those courts.

☞ An immense herd of buffalo, numbering about ten thousand head, were seen in the neighborhood of Ogallala station, on the Union Pacific Railroad, on Tuesday.

CONGRESS.

Senate.—On Thursday, Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill to prohibit assessments of money for political and other purposes upon government employees.

Mr. Pomeroy, of Kansas introduced a joint resolution proposing as an amendment to the Constitution a new article conferring female suffrage.

Mr. Mattoon, of Ind., introduced a bill to provide that all elections for president, vice president and members of Congress shall be by ballot.

Senator Drake introduced a bill regulating naval rank, which was referred to the Naval Committee.

House.—Mr. Banks of Massachusetts introduced a bill to regulate labor in Navy Yards and the compensation thereof.

The bill abolishing the franking privilege was passed, 98 to 79. Gen. Stevens voted yes and Messrs. Ela and Benton voted no.

New Hampshire Items.

The house of Mr. William Chamberlain in Tuftonborough was burned on Friday last, with its contents. Mr. Chamberlain had been absent for several years.

Michael Cavanaugh, of Mason village, had some trouble with his dog while hunting in the woods on Sunday and raising the butt of his gun to club him, it was discharged into his bowels, from the effects of which he died in five minutes.

There was a busy time at the office of the New Hampshire Insurance Company, in Manchester, on Monday. Over one hundred farm risks were taken, and the premiums amounted to $1056.72. The company has near 4000 risks in this State—and their business is rapidly increasing.

The State woman's suffrage convention will be held at Concord about the middle of next month.

It is understood that Hon. Harry Hibbard of Bath has become insane, and has been taken to the Asylum at Somerville, Mass.

☞ Intelligence from Brussels, received in London from reliable sources, gives the assurance that Prussia positively contemplates and connives for the annexation of Luxembourg, for the following reasons:—

1st. The annexation of Lorraine will be strategetically useless without Luxembourg.

2d. Lord Stanley, in 1867, declared that the guarantees of the neutrality of England as to Luxembourg would not involve the necessity of defending the treaty.

3d. Prussia believes that England would not therefore oppose this annexation.

Prussian agents are at present busily engaged in canvassing the feeling of the inhabitants of the duchy, and, as far as can be ascertained, a majority of the inhabitants are opposed to annexation

☞ The Supreme Court decided on Friday that the contract of the old board of directors of the Concord Railroad, conferring the joint management of the Concord and Northern roads upon Onslow Stearns, was invalid and in violation of the rights of the present board. Other questions have yet to be considered before the final ending of the litigation.

☞ John H. Surratt delivered a lecture recently at Rockville, Md., in which he made a virtual confession of his connection with the plot to assassinate President Lincoln, limiting it however, to the abduction scheme, in which he says he was involved with Booth.

☞ In Florida they are making "orange brandy."

☞ Four persons were burned to death at Newport, Pa., on Wednesday by the explosion of a coal lamp.

☞ Smith has abandoned the contest for the governorship of Alabama, and it is expected that Lindsay will quietly take possession.

☞ It is said that Judge Goldthwait, the new Alabama senator, though a rebel, was not virulent, and very frequently extended aid to Union prisoners.

☞ The breaks in the English cable are ten miles apart, and fifteen miles from American shore. One was grappled and buoyed on Tuesday, and it is expected that the repairs will soon be completed.

☞ The President's message has stirred up the Cannadians a good deal and the Toronto papers are almost defiant in there defence of the position of the Dominion government on the fisheries question.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome, and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this vitalizing tonic will certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawlwd10

GREENE, of the Medical Institute, 34 Temple place, Boston, which should be a sufficient guarantee that it is free from all injurious substances. Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. daw2mn9

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ The Gordon "organ" expended its late windfall on a new dress, Friday. Singular and—timely.

☞ The Dover Enquirer says that the mantle of some one of the old masters has evidently fallen upon Mr. Cushing, violinist, of this city.

☞ Prof. Bidwell's lecture on "Beauty," at the Methodist Church, pleased everybody. It was instructive, witty and eloquent, a model Lyceum lecture. At the request of several, Gen. Wilson of Keene is to lecture on "California," next Thursday evening.

☞ The Gordon "organ" was purchased cheaper than we thought. Go away with your 2300 cents, oh! prophet! Your purchaser hasn't money enough to control our columns—so you can bid higher next time—one cent a line for the campaign, we would suggest.

MASONIC.—The annual communication for election of officers of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, was held at Masonic Hall, Wednesday evening, Dec. 7. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—John H. Cleever, W.M., Wm. B. Grogan, S. W., John W. Dame, J. W., Isaac Dow, Treasurer, George P. Edny, Secretary, Samuel S. Fletcher, Representative to Grand Lodge.

On Wednesday, Nov. 30, the following officers of St. Andrews Lodge, No. 56, were chosen.—Philip S. Mizener, W. M., Robert O. Dennett, S. W., Wingate N. Illsley, Treasurer, D. Webster Barnabee, Secretary, James W. Lord, Representative to Grand Lodge.

☞ The ghost epidemic seems to be widely extended. In addition to our second-rate Vaughan Street apparition and the "boogar-man" at Kittery, we read of a Connecticut spectre that changes itself "from a cat to a man" several times in one night, (something like a ghost, that is,) and the Nashua Telegraph of Thursday says that the town of Franklin "has a sheeted ghost, or something of a mortal nature in snowy habiliments, that follows young men and women about with a recklessness that has suggested bullet holes;" and from the same paper we learn that a "waterproof ghost" has been scaring the feeble-minded in Nashua. The Telegraph thinks their waterproof man and our Vaughan Street muff identical, judging from the size of the latter's boots; but the Portsmouth ninny hasn't managed to frighten anybody as yet. They'll get over it—the ghosts will—as soon as the weather gets colder; probably their residence is at present too hot for their comfort.

City Council—Thursday Evening.

Aldermen.—The application of Frank Jones for leave to relay sidewalk on State Street, including a widening of the walk front of the Rockingham House, was referred to the Mayor and Committee on Streets with power to act.

Voted, That the Committee on Streets be instructed to cause obstructions in Fleet Street to be immediately removed;

That the Committee on Streets and Mayor be directed to purchase a Stone Crusher and Steam Engine;

That the Committee who were authorized to hire or buy a lot on which to locate a Stone Crusher, be requested to report in one week;

That the Committee who were authorized to confer with the Aqueduct Company relative to a water pipe for the use of the Fire Department be requested to report in one week;

That the order relating to the extension of Wibird Street be referred to the Mayor to report next week.

Common Council.—Messrs. Marden, Gardner, Sides and Tibbetts absent. The special Committee to whom was referred the question of concurring with the Aldermen in designating a place near the North Church as the only stand for hacks and wagons, reported adversely to concurrence, which was refused.

Same Committee reported back the Aldermanic bill relating to the Fire Department, with an amendment, which was adopted, and the bill as amended was passed and returned to the Aldermen.

Committee on Streets recommended that the Council concur with the Aldermen in accepting the grade of Union Street, which was done.

Council concurred in the acceptance of the declination of William Simes as Assessor and E. B. Goodall as member of the School Committee.

Adjourned for one week.

☞ Mr. Lougee, of the Sea-View House at Rye Beach, is putting an addition of 60x40 feet to his hotel; and Mr. G. H. Jenness has an elegant French roofed house of 27 rooms well under way, and will have it finished in time for next summer's business.

Communication.

☞ Portsmouth gave nearly 600 majority last March—about one half the Republican majority in the State, and almost the whole majority in this Congressional District. If Mr. Gordon is nominated how much majority will he get in this City?

Echo is waiting for a reply.

☞ The Republicans of Greenland have chosen the following delegates to the various Conventions:—

State, John E. Holmes, Nathaniel Wiggin; County, John P. Weeks, John Plate, Senatorial, J. Clement Weeks, John H. Johnson; Councillor, Daniel Berry, Silas Jenkins; Congressional, Moses Mann, John P. Marston.

FINE GOODS.—Our columns to-day contain a number of announcements of the great Crockery, Glass and China house of Messrs. Clark, Plympton & Co., Boston. Mr. Plympton is long and favorably known in our city, and will be pleased to exhibit to any of our citizens the many rich, rare and elegant articles in their splendid new store, No. 12 Summer Street,—where useful household articles are also to be found in great stock.

☞ At the caucus held at New Castle, Thursday evening, it was voted unanimously to carry out the principle of rotation in office. A vote was unanimously passed instructing the delegates to the Congressional Convention, to vote for Samuel M. Wheeler of Dover, for Representative to Congress. Mahlon Bickford and John W. Amazeen were elected delegates. The other delegates chosen are as follows: State, Wm. A. Meloon, Wm. J. Frost. Senatorial, Charles E. Campbell, Wm. H. Smart. County & Councillor, John E. Yeaton, James Baker. The caucus was the largest ever held in Newcastle.

ONE OF THE CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES.—Mr. Gordon spoke at the Town Hall in Fremont times, in behalf of Fremont, but as an orator he was not pronounced a success, and his name has hardly been mentioned, or he even thought of, until last summer, when as President of the Senate he again attempted the role of a speaker, and delivered the longest speech ever made by a Speaker on taking the chair, and prosy as it was long. The report that has been so extensively circulated, that he has poured out his money like water, will operate badly against him should he be nominated, and would undoubtedly, whether it was true or not, result in the choice of a Democrat to the office.—Rochester Courier.

That seems to be the general impression in this section of the District. Said a leading Democrat of Rye in our office on Friday:—"I hope the Republicans will nominate Mr. Gordon for Representative to Congress, for we can beat him easily."

POLICE COURT.—There was much interest shown at the Police Court on Friday, on the occasion of the trial of one McGafferty for assaulting Mr. Augustus Y. Rand, at Rye. Mr. Rand was employed by Deputy Sheriff Morse to hold the furniture of the Seaside House, at Rye Beach, for a creditor who held a mortgage on the property. Certain Boston creditors also wanted to get hold of the property, and out of their attempt to do so grew the trouble. McGafferty had one fight with Mr. Rand, Wednesday, after which the interested parties settled the affair between themselves, and all was supposed to be nicely fixed up.

The next day the Sheriff allowed the furniture to be removed, and Mr. Rand started to carry McGafferty and a man named Burroughs to North Hampton Depot, but when near the station, without McGafferty giving Mr. Rand any warning or the latter suspecting anything of the kind, the former attacked Mr. K. and both fell from the wagon, getting considerably battered by the fall and the fight which followed it.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.

This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.

1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.

In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, (without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else can touch the cough, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses a few times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your house for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION
——OF THE——
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

A TALE OF THE COLONY TIMES.

"In the good old Colony times,
When we lived under the King."

CHAPTER I.

Even to this day the inhabitants of New England seldom speak of the tyrannical measures of the British government toward the colonies, during the reign of George III., without some show of indignation. Yet any one familiar with their history cannot fail to see that, under the preceding reigns, they had often suffered from far greater wrongs than those illegal taxes that struck the key-note to the revolution.

This was especially true of New Hampshire, under the first royal governors. Mason, the grandson of the famous Captain John, of Pequod memory, had, in asserting his claims to his grandfather's grant, succeeded in separating the colony from Massachusetts, under whose jurisdiction the first settlement had been made. In this he was aided by his relative, Edward Randolph, that "blasted wretch," as one of our old historians terms him, who crossed the Atlantic no less than eight times in nine years, in his indefatigable zeal to procure the downfall of our charter government, in which mischievous errand he but too well succeeded.

A President and Council were appointed, by his Majesty Charles II., for the government of the province; and, as the separation had been in direct opposition to the wishes of the people, he shrewdly nominated several of the most distinguished gentlemen in the colony to the first Council. They were men who had held high offices, both civil and military, under the colonial government, and nothing but the unavoidable necessity of submitting to this change, and the fear that, in case of their refusal, others, less true to the interests of the people, would be substituted, induced them to accept the nomination. Their acceptance was a sore disappointment to Mason and his coadjutors. After striving for some months to intimidate or cajole them into furthering their selfish and ambitious ends, Mason returned to England, where he so completely gained the ear of the voluptuous monarch, that the form of government was once more changed, and Edward Cranfield appointed royal governor.

His commission, which bears the date of May 9th, 1681, gave him almost absolute power, and he was a man little calculated, either by nature or education, to neglect any of the prerogatives of his office. A staunch royalist, a devoted adherent to the forms of the established church, he had little sympathy with the thoughts, end and aims of that singular people whom he came to govern, and his strong prejudices and arrogant manners were ill calculated to win either their love or respect.

He was empowered to appoint all general officers, and to suspend such members of the Council as gave him cause of offence, they being, at the same time, declared not eligible to the General Assembly, the only body elected by the people. It was not long, therefore, before he saw himself supported by a Council wholly subservient to his will.

But the members of the Assembly were sternly true to their trust; and, convoking them twice, and finding them as resolute and firm in maintaining their rights as had been their sires and brothers in the reign of Charles I., like that unhappy monarch, at whose hands very early youth had been spent, and whom he seemed to take for his model, he suddenly dismissed them, and, with his Council, assumed the whole of the legislative power, taxing the people without their consent, and imprisoning such as dared to complain of injustice.

This tyrannical conduct bore heavily upon the inhabitants of Portsmouth and its vicinity. Fifty years had elapsed since the so-called company of "Laconia," headed by Mason and Gorges, had raised the first rude hut near the mouth of the pleasant Piscataqua, yet the inhabitants had lost none of the peculiar traits that distinguished the puritan character. Their patient perseverance their quaint garb and godly modes of speech, and their unshaken confidence in an overruling Providence and his blessing on their cause, were worthy even of the "Mayflower."

Indeed, there were still living in their midst gray-headed old men, who remembered well the falling of the first tree, and the site of the first hut; men who could tell fearful tales of the wanderings of the company through the pathless forest in search of the gleaming river, and who remembered, also, that discreet and godly man, Francis Williams, the first colonial governor, and did not fail to contrast, in no silken phrases, the arbitrary proceedings of the royal governor with his wise and just measures.

But, ardent as was their love of liberty, and keenly as they felt every new aggression upon their rights, they kept the law ever upon their side. In spite of imprisonment, they remonstrated firmly and respectfully with their rulers; but there was no open outbreak—no popular riot; for Puritanism had little sympathy with mobs. But their prayers were marked with greater earnestness, and, perhaps, duration, and there was a general tendency to wait and see what the Lord would do for them in the matter.

But, when the governor began to attack and suppress their religious liberties, one deep, indignant throb passed through the heart of the whole people. But the rulers heeded it not, and soon came an order requiring them, on pain of his Majesty's displeasure, to abstain from all manual labor on the approaching Christmas, and to observe the fasts of the established church. Silent, but strong,—resistless as the mighty undercurrent of the ocean, swelled the spirit of opposition in every heart, and many an old veteran of the commonwealth and the Indian wars glanced grimly at his brightly-polished musket, with the thought that he was not yet too old to strike a blow for freedom.

Such was the state of affairs, and such the feeling with which the colonists greeted the Christmas of 1684. For several weeks the snow had lain deep on the earth, and the well trodden paths had grown hard and smooth as marble. It had been a prosperous and busy season with the people, both on the land and sea, and, had there not been a principle at stake, they could well have afforded to rest one day at the call of their chief magistrate. But to them it seemed a concession to Anti-Christ—a crossing of hands with the woman clothed in scarlet; and more than one face was turned anxiously towards the heavens on Christmas eve, not to seek for the star in the east, but to watch the progress of a storm of sleet and rain which had set in, and which they felt might, if it continued, compel them to yield, in appearance, at least, to the governor's mandate. But, as if in answer to their prayers, the morning broke clear, serene and cold. Long before the low, continuous dropping from the ice-bound trees and shrubs attested the power of the sun, their farm-yards were full of the shows of life and labor. The measured beat of the axe and the flax-broke, the ringing stroke of the sxe at the wood-pile, keeping stroke with those in the woods, echoed far and wide through the clear air, while the long teams of oxen, attached to the clumsy sleds that passed the governor's mansion, and the quick, determined tones of the drivers, might have taught one even less versed in the knowledge of men and things and Governor Cranfield, something of the spirit of the people with whom he had to deal.

Mason and Randolph were both guests at the governor's mansion at that time—the latter holding the office of collector, surveyor and searcher of the customs throughout New England, in which capacity his arbitrary proceedings excited universal contempt and distrust.

Whatever the governor felt at the utter contempt with which his commands were treated, he was too much of a courtier to disturb the festivities of the day by any display of his chagrin. He therefore listened to the indignant remarks of his guests, and the somewhat cutting jests of Randolph, with an air of moderation, though the latter was too well read in the human heart, not to perceive that his end was gained, that this assumed tone of moderation was but the prelude to stronger and more stringent measures towards a people whom he both despised and hated.

The great dining-room of the governor's mansion, or Province House, as it was sometimes termed, presented a gay and brilliant scene on that same Christmas day; and, could those old Puritans have caught one glimpse, from under their steeple-crowned hats, of the rich festoons of evergreens which decked the walls (a custom held in utter abhorrence by them, as savoring strongly of the idolatry that caused Israel to sin under every green tree), and the noble ladies and gay cavaliers who, in the rich costume of the day, thronged the dinner-table—could they have listened, but for one moment, to the light jests, the courtly phrases, the flippant witticisms and ridiculous caricatures of their own speech and manners—they might have had some reasonable doubt, especially after the ladies had withdrawn, as to whether it was indeed a Christian festival, or a sacrifice to not exactly Baal, but Bacchus.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 30 square yds., 2 coats, thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the CHAPTER II.

Perhaps there is nothing more indicative of the character of a people than their architecture. This was peculiarly true of the Puritans. Strength and endurance were among their chief characteristics, and of these qualities their buildings largely partook. There was none of that jumbling together of different ideas and orders, which makes so many of our modern buildings, especially those in country towns, look so much like cob-houses we were wont to build in our childhood; but there was that same signification, independent, self-sustained air about them, that we see looking out from the portraits of the old worthies of that day.

The house of Mr. Moody, that "godly man" who for many years "illuminated" the church of Portsmouth, was an illustration of these remarks. It stood in ample yard, the rear of which was planted with young fruit trees, bearing names whose very sound brought with them, the memory of Old England. Over this yard the white snow lay in a broad unbroken sheet, save where three or four paths, in the direction of the barn, crossed and re-crossed each other like dark threads, and where one, several feet broad, led from the front door to the gate, near which rose an oak of enormous girth, one of the primeval children of the forest; for even the oldest settler did not remember the time when the lightning had blighted its top, and raised those wide, dark seems in its trunk. But the heart of the old giant was still sound, and from the huge bole had risen limbs of a girth and height that might well shame the growth of our own days. On each side of this brave old tree stood a noble specimen of—we were about to say, the American plane-tree; but let us call them by the good old names by which we have known them from infancy—buttonwood. Tall, erect, and symmetrical, their scarred and mottled coats giving evidence of many a wild struggle with the elements, they stood, rustling a few withered leaves, like a banner of defiance in the wind, meet supporters of the hoary monarch. We have been somewhat particular in describing these trees, because, in the out-of-door life which, partly from necessity, and partly from a kind of natural vagabondism, we have led among the New England hills, we have learned to love their whole race, and many a kindly deed have they done for us, both in sunshine and in storm; and, aside from these, we cannot say much for the embellishments of parson Moody's yard. Doubtless, the turf was thickly sown with buttercups, dandelions and daisies, through the golden summer; and, even in that bleak December of which we speak, there were some faint indications there that went to show that somehow, in that roomy old mansion, the spirit of beauty had found shelter; for the gnarled branches of a native grape were twisted like serpents around and above the uncouth porch, and the withered tendrils of the morning glory, the most home-like of all flowers, still hung swaying from the strings that had trained them over the windows. And, surely, no more fitting home could it have found than in the heart of gentle Sibyl Moody. She was the minister's only child; for one sorrowful night the angels of life and death had met beneath his roof, and, within the same hour, the one took from him a beloved wife, and the other laid in his arms a motherless infant.

Mr. Moody had been sternly educated in a stern school. The tenets of his faith, notwithstanding their high spiritual aims, were, as generally understood and taught, little calculated to develope the gentler qualities of the heart; such development being looked upon by those men of iron natures as a weakness little befitting those who had "a great work in hand." Therefore, if he manifested in his younger days more of the zeal of Peter than the gentleness of John, it is not surprising. Late in life he had married a gentlewoman many years younger than himself. She was one of that class of women with whom love seems a necessity of their natures; whose affections spontaneously, as it were, cling round some one or some thing, without any very clear recognition of that stern law of reciprocity so binding upon most of us. With her, it was, indeed, "more blessed to give than receive;" and for a few short years she walked by his side, looking up to him with mingled love and awe, happy in the thought that she was permitted to minister to the comfort of so worthy a man, dreaming little of the wealth of deep, earnest feeling that slept beneath his calm, severe exterior. But it is not to his victims alone that death unveils mysteries. He has lessons for the living, also; and when his shadowy presence darkened so suddenly the minister's dwelling, the miracle of the desert was repeated—from that hitherto calm, self-sustained heart welled up to the light a fountain of pure and earnest love. Then it was that his dead wife became truly united to him, heart and soul, and from out her grave sprang joy and hope, inexpressibly tender, such as he had never known before, and which he felt

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

MONDAY, DEC. 12, 1870.

CONGRESS:

Senate.—On Friday, a bill was introduced by Mr. Spenser to reduce the number of officers in the navy, providing for the discontinuance of the offices of admiral and vice-admiral, after vacancies occur in the same, and a reduction of the number of officers of the grades of rear-admiral and commodore to three and six respectively by the omission to fill a vacancy hereafter occurring. Referred to the committee on naval affairs.

☞ The news from St. Petersburg only confirms the idea that Russia will insist upon the recognition of her demands. The people are firm in their support of the government. Turkey is also preparing herself, that she may not be taken unawares.

THE RAILROAD SUITS.—The Supreme Judicial court rendered a decision at Concord, Friday, in the railroad case of the Concord Railroad vs. George Clough. Judgment was ordered to be entered in that of O. C. Fisher et als. vs. Concord Railroad et als. It was ordered that the defendants and all other persons, except the receiver hereafter named, be hereby strictly prohibited and enjoined from discharging, abandoning, or in any way controlling or directing the management of any pending suit or claims of the Concord Railroad against George Clough, or any other former conductors, or the representatives of any former conductor from indemnifying in any manner said parties against the result of any suits, or the prosecution of such claims, or from applying any funds realized from such suits or claims to any other purpose than to the use and benefit of the stockholders of said Concord Railroad; and that William H. Wheeler, Esq., of Keene, in the County of Cheshire, be and hereby is appointed receiver of all the above-mentioned suits and claims. The receiver will proceed forthwith to collect the judgment against George Clough, and hold the amount collected subject to the order of the court, to be made in term time or in vacation. The receiver will take such course as to other suits and claims as he deems for the interest of the stockholders of the Concord Railroad. The case was marked postponed.

In the case of the Northern Railroad vs. Concord Railroad, Chief Justice Bellows and Justices Sargent, Doe and Smith severally delivered their opinions. Justices Sargent, Doe and Smith hold that the contract of April 29, 1870, was void, on account of the purposes for which it was made, among other reasons. Chief Justice Bellows said he was not prepared at the present time to decide that the contract was not valid. Justices Sargent and Smith were of the opinion that the action should be dismissed at this time. Justices Bellows and Doe were of the opinion that the action should not be dismissed at the present time. Justices Bellows, Doe and Smith held that the practical effect of this division among the members of the court was to let the action remain upon the docket, and that the receivers appointed at the last term must continue to hold the road. In this opinion Justice Sargent non-concurred.

INTERNATIONAL TELEGRAPH CO.—A meeting of the Directors of the above named company was held Tuesday afternoon, the following being present: Messrs. E. C. Bailey of Boston, Woodbury Davis, Israel Washburne, Jr., W. E. Gould, H. P. Wood of Portland, Gen. S. F. Hersey of Bangor, T. J. Southard of Richmond, Capt. Wm. McGilvery of Searsport.

The feasibility and importance of extending the lines to New York City immediately was thoroughly discussed, and a vote was unanimously passed appointing E. C. Bailey, Israel Washburn, Jr., T. J. Southard and the Superintendent, Mr. A. D. Brown, a committee to take all necessary steps in the matter and report with as little delay as possible. This is a very necessary and important step for the interests of Portland, and the names of the parties having the matter in charge guarantees its success.—Portland Press.

New Publications Received.

The Home Circle for January, 1871, commences its third volume and third year, greatly improved, with new heading and new features. Besides the illustrated stories of sea and land, adventures, anecdotes, &c., the Home Circle contains several very interesting and instructive features. Sample copies will be sent free to any one who wishes to see the paper, by addressing F. Gleason, 47 Summer Street, Boston, Mass. $2 a year.

The Maine Farmer, printed at Augusta, has been enlarged in size and has a new font of type.

☞ A telegram from Washington Territory says that Judge Kingman has discharged the petit jury there, and fined the jurors ten dollars each for indulging in a game of "seven up" in the jury room, while deliberating on a case.

☞ The British ship Ocean Wave, from New Orleans for Liverpool, was recently picked up abandoned at sea, and taken into Nassau, N. P. She had on board a full cargo of cotton, which is said to be in good condition. It will prove a rich prize to the sailors who brought her into port.

THE WAR.—The journals of Tours announce changes in the army of the Loire, which is divided into three corps, under Bourbaki, Thesseau and Billot.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.—The Biddeford Journal says that Pierre Bernard, a Frenchman, about 22 years of age, employed in Wallace Bros.' tannery at Somesville, Saco, got his arm caught in a belt he was trying to throw off, which pulled it nearly out near the elbow, broke three of his ribs and so injured him internally that he died in three hours.

A young man in York county recently sold off his hay and stock and some land for $560, nearly all he possessed in the world, went to Biddeford for a glorious drunk, fell among the rum sharpers, and in one week squandered every cent of it.

New Hampshire Items.

On the 3d, in Wolfeborough, Mr. Simeon B. Kenney went into his shop, put a loaded rifle beneath his chin and discharged it. The ball passed through his head and into the ceiling, causing his instant death.

On the 1st, at Tuftonborough Neck, a small house owned by Mrs. William Chamberlain, a widow woman, at present in Dover, was consumed by fire with its contents. Loss and insurance not given. Mrs. C. was grossly outraged some months ago, and it is thought that the fire was set by some person who was concerned in that outrage, who was anxious not to have Mrs. C. return to the place. The house and its contents were all the property she possessed.

Colebrook still has violets.

Mr. John E. Foster, of Nashua, has in his possession a cast-iron fire back, three feet in length by two in width, and one inch thick, brought to this country by Governer Endicott, who settled near Salem in 1628, and used by that family for many years. More than a hundred years ago it was purchased by a member of the Foster family, and has remained in their possession until a few days since. It is in a good condition after 242 years' wear, and is capable of withstanding fire for many years to come.

A new mineral fertilizer has been discovered in Lisbon. It is a siliceous rock, which when pulverized is equal to the best guano, and only costs a quarter as much. Immense beds of it are discovered.

Westmoreland has put up a new school house and finds that the bricks of the old house sold for $1 per thousand more than they cost when new, sixty years or more ago.

Northwood has voted an appropriation of $19,000, to be used in aid of the Concord and Rochester and Nashua railroads, provided the roads are built through that town, the money to be equally divided between the roads.

The contract to build the last six miles of the Great Falls & Conway Railroad extension has been taken and the work begun.

The sixth annual reunion of the Veterans' Union of New Hampshire will take place in Concord on the 3d of January. The exercises will consist of a dinner, speeches, etc.

The State Teachers' Association concluded its session, Friday, and voted to hold the next annual meeting at Dover, on the first Thursday in October, 1871.

The Board of Trustees of the State Normal School voted to extend the time for proposals for the Normal School to January 10. Walpole offers $30,000, which, at present, is the highest bid.

☞ A special dispatch to the New York Herald says the chances of the restoration of Napoleon are steadily increasing.

☞ Five thousand seven hundred Germans arrived at New York during November, against 800 the same time last year.

☞ The complete census shows that the population of California has increased in the last ten years 126,619, and of San Francisco 93,470, the latter being nearly per cent.

☞ McCormick's (Republican) majority for Congress in Arizona is 951.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome, and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this vitalizing tonic will as certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawlwd10

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, its estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 5½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propping motion since its introduction here. ☞ The Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, Co. have just declared their 54th dividend, payable Dec. 15.

☞ The Nashua Telegraph doubts if Mr. Henry C. Barnabee has a rival "in his particular line of character-acting."

☞ The Portsmouth Cornet Band decided at a meeting held on Friday night to maintain their organization for three months longer.

☞ Will not a man who is willing to pay a good round price to buy voters, be just as ready to sell them to further his own private interests?

☞ The three boys who were sent to the House of Correction on Wednesday last for stealing honey from Mr. A. K. Warren, broke out Friday night. They are bad ones; happily they are not black, or the country would be ruined.

☞ On Wednesday, Nov. 30, the following officers of St. Andrews Lodge, No. 56, were chosen.—Philip S. Mizener, W. M., Robert O. Dennett, S. W., James L. Parker, J. W., Wingate N. Ilsley, Treasurer, D. Webster Barnabee, Secretary, Joseph Parry, Representative to Grand Lodge.

☞ Somerville, Mass., has a new weekly called The Somerville Journal, published by W. A. Greenough, Jr. In Mr. Greenough's hands we predict an able and successful career. He is well known as a directory publisher and is withal a sharp business man, as a newspaper publisher must be to succeed. He issued a directory of Portsmouth in 1867 and 1869.

☞ The name of John S. H. Frink, Esq., of Greenland is strongly mentioned for the Democratic nomination for Congress. If Mr. Frink is to run, the Republicans must nominate a man who will receive the entire strength of the party or the District will go Democratic. Mr. Frink has more strength outside of his party than any other Democrat in the District.

P. A. & N. U. LECTURE.—The Army & Navy Union lecture last evening at City Hall was by Rev. G. W. Bicknell of Portsmouth, N. H. The hall was filled with one of the best audiences of the season. Mr. Bicknell is a gentleman but little known in this vicinity as a lecturer, and is of large build with commanding physique and possessing a full, sonorous voice, with easy gesture and eloquent delivery.

The subject of the lecture was "Enthusiasm." The lecture referred in the commencement to two conditions of enthusiasm—1st, healthy, 2d, unhealthy. These divisions he illustrated in a terse manner. Enthusiasm in the first regulated the judgment, and was the inspiration of the poets, artists, orators, authors, and in fact the world's best reformers. Enthusiasm in the second condition (the unhealthy) was that ungoverned by reason, causing one to run wild with the impossible and useless, perverting man's abilities. He then alluded to some of the special characteristics of the two conditions. The noble enthusiasm he graphically illustrated with sketches of Luther, Watt, Guttenburg, Cyrus W. Field, Columbus, Sir Charles Bell, Dr. John Harvey, Franklin, Longfellow, and other great minds. He also referred to later times and cited the glorious and heroic enthusiasm of the soldiers of the recent war.

The unhealthy enthusiasm he vigorously attacked, picturing it in vivid colors. It gives prominence to unworthy objects and ideas. He instanced at this point "great talkers" who were "little doers;" very confiding friends, whose "glad to see you" prefaces "glad you're gone;" sanctimonious people, without real religion; fashionable young men and women; believers in "blood superiority;" seekers after power and self-aggrandisement, and so on. People often gave to such matters enthusiasm worthy of a better cause.

In conclusion he counselled the advocacy of the noble and elevating type of enthusiasm. His description of the battle scene, the charge of brave soldiers upon the foe, was very fine. It was one of the most acceptable lectures of the season.

We would remark that if Portland audiences would show lecturers and artists a trifle of complimentary enthusiasm upon their entree upon the platform, it would perhaps be "in order." Portland Press.

—The controversy between Mr. Fulton, of this city, and Mr. Tilton of yours, as to the personal habits of the former, has about died out, and everybody who had an opinion on the subject at the outset remains of the same opinion still. But I cannot refrain from telling you of the conundrum which took the prize at a social meeting of the young people of Mr. Fulton's congregation in Tremont Temple. Wit and not justice was the criterion by which the competing riddles were judged; and the committee could not refuse to give the prize to the following: "When is Rev Justin D. Fulton like a dead man?—When he lies on his heir."—Boston Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

BRITISH AGAINST AMERICAN LABOR. A few years ago a company of enterprising men of Portsmouth, N. H., organized themselves into a company, for the manufacture of spool cotton, or sewing thread. They commenced operation with a capital of $50,000, and were making a thread equal to the imported article. This did not suit the notion of the foreign manufactures, who, up to that time, had possessed a monopoly of our market.

The Coatses, whose thread was in universal use in this country, resolved to put an end to this piece of Yankee impertinence. They decined the right of Americans to manufacture their own thread. They therefore shipped to their agents here $100,000 worth of thread, with instructions to sell it at a rate so much below the Portsmouth company as to drive their thread from the market, and ultimately to break them down. But with Yankee energy they resolved to give their experiment a trial. So they increased their capital to $100,000 and struggled on against this ruinous competition of the English monopolists and robbers.

But the odds against them were too great. The Coatses had amassed immense wealth, and were ranked among the "cotton lords" of England. The New Hampshire enterprise could not complete with the vast wealth of these insolent monopolizers, aided as they were, too, by the cheap pauper labor at their command. They broke down their competitors, who had sunk all their capital in the contest. They lost all their capital, one hundred hands or more were thrown out of employment and the price of thread went up to a price sufficient to compensate the Coatses for all it had cost them to break down this company.

This was in good old free trade times, under Democratic rule. It was British capital and British pauper labor against American enterprise and high wages. The latter went under. Such fruit free trade would everywhere produce—Washington Era.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

OBITUARY.—The Chronicle has already announced the decease of Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Moulton, for many years highly respected citizens of Portsmouth.

The announcement of Mrs. Moulton's death, especially, recalled to her friends in Portsmouth the memory of a beautiful christian life, long in fellowship with the old North Church. She came into its communion in 1807 under the pastorate of Dr. Buckminster, and her piety was characterized by the sobriety, self-denial and thoughtfulness, by the devout, reverent and obedient spirit, born of the religious culture of that day.

The small beginnings and slow progress of many of the christian organizations which are the strength of our time, she watched with prayerful interest and gave them her hearty confidence and sympathy; especially was this true of Foreign Missions, which she loved with almost a mother's love. How vividly do we recall her, presiding in her elder life, over the Ladies' Missionary Society, her face beaming with interest, and her few but fitly chosen and earnest words quickening attention and faith in the great and good work so dear to her heart.

She, with her husband, left Portsmouth a few years since to spend the evening of their days at the house of a daughter in Charlestown. It was a season of sweet tranquility and mutual comfort to the aged couple, who, after a long and happy life together, in death were not long divided. Mr. Moulton lingered but a few days after his wife's departure, though there was nothing in his feebleness to create alarm until a few moments before his death took place.

They sleep in the same grave, in the dear old city of her birth and ancestry, which she always looked forward to as her final resting place till the resurrection morning. K.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the glow and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.
☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.
ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

were for eternity. From that hour the zeal of the Puritan became tempered by the divine spirit of love.

In this atmosphere of chastened love and faith, Sibyl Moody had grown up to early womanhood. Her father had watched over her with a mother's care and love; she had been his constant companion, and he had developed, guided and trained her rich genial nature, until it had the free grace and symmetry of a young tree of the forest. Her face was one of those which in a crowd might easily be overlooked, or set down as passing fair; but to childhood and old age it was exceedingly beautiful, possibly, because the one was still blessed with faint recollections, and the other with dim foreshadowings, of the bright denizens of their eternal home.

One man-servant and Lament Collins, or Aunty Menta, as she was usually called, made up the minister's household; the latter being housekeeper, as well as maid-of-all-work, and we might add, nurse, watcher, and doctress-general of the whole settlement. Moreover, we take this occasion to say that her name, like a great many others, was a decided misnomer, for never was a more cheerful or contented being than this same herb-gatheriug, syrup-making, salve-concocting old woman.

Like a great many other excellent souls of her day, she had a great horror of any leaning to the forms of Episcopacy, and, firmly believing that "c'est le premier pas qui coute," she had plied her wheel to such good purpose on the aforesaid Christmas day, that nearly twice the number of knots allotted as a day's work had been reeled long before night, and added to the goodly bunch of yarn that graced the wall of the old sitting-room.

Whether Sibyl had meant to give the old dame a quiet lesson in Christmas tolerance, or whether she had been daydreaming (for no one can convince us that those fair shapes that blessed our fathers' households were not sometimes dreamers like ourselves, for woman's heart beat under those prim bodices, and woman's love looked forth from beneath those puritanic caps and bonnets,) we cannot say; but, for some reason, Aunt Menta's last spool was reeled, while hers still lacked many nothes of being full. With her clear eyes glancing occasionally from her thread to the hour-glass on the table, and from thence towards the declining sun, she busily plied her wheel, while Aunt Menta glided here and there, with the velocity and something of the look of a blue dragon-fly, for night was approaching, a puritan Saturday night, when all secular business, instead of being crowded into the last hours of the week, and, perchance, Sunday morning, as is often the case now, was laid aside long before sunset, and each soul left free to commune with itself and its God.

Perhaps, of all the customs that have had an influence in the formation of that peculiar character that makes us New Englanders a marked people wherever we go, none has been more lasting or important than this same habit of "keeping Saturday night."

Though no watcher among the tombs, no worshipper of "linen grave clothes," rather than the risen, glorified spirit, we confess that we see with regret this old custom yielding to the innovations of a new age. Not that we consider one night more holy than another, all time being God's; but it came to check the current of worldliness, it gathered the family beneath the paternal roof, it brought an opportunity for undisturbed reflection and that self-communion so necessary to anything like a true estimate of life and life's ends. It is becoming quite the fashion to speak contemptuously and lightly of these old mile-stones which our fathers erected on the way of life, yet they have still a significance for us, would we but read it.

Sibyl's task was completed, the teatable, with the standing puritanic Saturday-night dish, baked pork and beans, was drawn in front of the blazing fire, when Mr. Moody, accompanied by one of the elders of his church, who had been closeted in his study with him for a long time, entered the room. Their faces were unusually grave, that of the minister's even sad, as he observed, in reply to a remark of the elder:

"Verily, the day of our visitation is not yet passed, for the prince of evil never wearieth of devices, and our enemies are busy, both here and at home. The future looketh dark, and our hearts might well faint, were it not for the blessed assurance that God still reigns. And, as we approve ourselves to Him rather than man, so must we judge in this matter of our offending brothers."

While the minister spoke, Aunt Menta was standing by the window in an attitude of revérent attention; but it must be confessed that the good dame's eyes wandered more than once to the opposite side of the common, along which a train of clumsy but highly ornamented sleighs, or pungs, as they were then termed, were passing at a furious rate.

The younger and gayer portion of the governor's guests were settling their dinner by a ride, and their rapid driving and merry laughter, as they passed through the streets, were sadly at variance with puritanic notions of propriety. As Mr. Moody ceased speaking, a loud cry from the dame cut short the elder's reply, and drew them all to the window. Directly in front of the house the whole train had come to a stand. Some part of the harness attached to the governor's sleigh, had given way, and the spirited horses, so suddenly checked in their mad career, were with difficulty held in by the driver, while their struggles to free themselves were frightful.

The occupants of the sleigh, among whom were several ladies, seemed for a moment paralyzed. Then the gentlemen sprang to the assistance of the driver, and being joined by several of their companions, the horses were soon direntangled, and by the aid of Mr. Moody's man John, the broken harness repaired. Sibyl, in her terror for the young beings in the sleigh, had stood with clasped hands, leaning against the window-frame, watching intently the movements of the frightened horses, unmindful of the admiring gaze of a lady who occupied a sleigh directly in front of the window. She did not hear the lady's words of admiration, or see her touch her cavalier's arm and draw his attention from his impatient horse to herself; but she turned just in time to catch a glimpse of a well-known face and beaming smile, which sent the blood rushing to her very temples.

"Frederic Vane, as true as I live!" exclaimed Aunt Menta, who had also caught a glimpse of the face, using her strongest form of affirmation.

"Frederic Vane," repeated the minister; "you must be mistaken, Menta. The youth still tarrieth in England."

"Nay, I believe she speaketh truly, reverend sir. I met the youth of whom you speak in the hall of the governor's house yesterday, as I returned from my fruitless interview with him," said Elder Hale,

"Indeed!" replied Mr. Moody, while, for a moment, the sad, grave expression of his features relaxed into something like a smile; "perhaps he hath already grown weary of the world's vanities—wealth, honor and ambition—and returned to seek a truer happiness here; for the youth was well taught, and by no means ignorant of the things which pertain to man's highest good. Didst thou learn what brought him to the province again?"

"He came as escort to the governor's ward,—Eleanor Meredith, I think they call her,—to whom men say he is betrothed in marriage."

"Ah, is it so?" said the old minister, sadly. "He often spoke, when with us, of having his fortune to carve out, forgetting, after the manner of men, that though man proposes, God disposes. Yet there was much that was noble in him—much that spoke to our earthly affections; and I grieve," he continued, earnestly, "I deeply grieve to hear that he has chosen his lot among our oppressors. But the power of his world is very strong!"

"Who says it? Who says it?" whispered Sibyl, suddenly laying her hand upon the elder's arm.

The words and manner, so unexpected and so unusual from her, caused both the old men to start.

"My child! my Sibyl!" exclaimed her father, anxiously, as he caught a view of her white cheek, "you are ill. Some water, Menta," he continued, folding his arm abut her for a support. "This fright has been too much for you."

"Nay, I am better, my father," she said; "but you have not replied to my question, Father Hale."

"O, it was only the vain gossip I was compelled to hear at the Province House, while waiting to see the governor. Doubtless you will soon be better informed by the youth himself. But I fear you are little better than a coward, to be so frightened at those horses, for all you have grown into such a tall girl," returned the grim elder, with the nearest approach to a smile that he was ever known to be guilty of on Saturday after twelve o'clock.

The evening meal was over, the chapter read, and the fervent prayer offered, at a much earlier hour in the minister's dwelling than usual, that night, for the thick-gathering troubles of his people weighed heavily upon the old man's spirit, and he would be alone with his God.

"My child," he said, as he laid his hand upon her head in blessing, "you are not looking quite well, and had best seek repose."

Her room adjoined his own, and could he have seen her an hour later, as she knelt there, pressing a richly-chased locket, with its heavy lock of dark hair, to her lips—could he have caught the murmured words, "He false! he wed the governor's ward! O, they do not know him; they cannot know him as I do!"—he would at least have made a discovery which, in the usual routine of their daily life, he seemed likely never to make. He would have felt that his child was a woman—a woman in thought and feeling, with the strongest links in her chain of destiny already forged and pressing upon her heart.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint in use. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—Thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

DOROTHY Q.

A FAMILY PORTRAIT.

The following poom by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, will appear in the January number of the Atlantic Monthly, to be issued on Saturday of this week:—

Grandmother's mother: her age, I guess,
Thirteen summers, or something less;
Girlish bust, but womanly air,
Smooth, square forehead, with uprolled hair,
Lips that lover has never kissed,
Taper fingers and slender wrist,
Hanging sleeves of stiff brocade—
So they painted the little maid.

On her hand a parrot green,
Sits unmoving and broods serene.
Hold up the canvass full in view—
Look! there's a rent the light shines through,
Dark with a century's fringe of dust,—
That was a Red-Coat's rapier thrust!
Such is the tale the lady old,
Dorothy's daughter's daughter told.

Who the painter was none may tell,—
One whose best was not over well;
Hard and dry, it must be confessed;
Flat as a rose that has long been pressed;
Yet in her cheek the hues are bright,
Dainty colors of red and white;
And in her slender shape are seen,
Hint and promise of stately mien.

Look not on her with eyes of scorn,
Dorothy Q. was a lady born!
Ay! since the galloping Normans came,
England's annals have known her name;
And still to the three-hilled rebel town,
Dear is that ancient name's renown,
For many a civic wreath they won,
The youthful sire and the gray-haired son.

O! Damsel Dorothy! Dorothy Q!
Strange is the gift that I owe to you;
Such a gift as never a king,
Save to daughter or son might bring,—
And my tenure of heart and hand,
All my title to house and land;
Mother and sister and child and wife,
And joy and sorrow and death and life!

What if a hundred years ago,
Those close-shut lips had answered No.
When forth the tremulous question came,
That cost the maiden her Norman name,
And under the folds that look so still,
The bodice swelled with the bosom's thrill?
Should I be I, or would it be
One-tenth another, to nine-tenths me?

Soft is the breath of maiden's YES;
Not the light gossamer stirs with less;
But never a cable that holds so fast,
Through all the battles of wave and blast,
And never an echo of speech or song,
That lives in the babbling air so long!
There were tones in the voice that whispered then,
You may hear to-day in a hundred men.

O! lady and lover, how faint and far,
Your images hover—and here we are,
Solid and stirring in flesh and bone—
Edward's and Dorothy's—all their own,—
A goodly record for time to show,
Of a syllable spoken so long ago!
Shall I bless you, Dorothy, or forgive,
For the little whisper that bade me live?

It shall be a blessing, my little maid!
I will heal the stab of the Red-Coat's blade,
And freshen the gold of the tarnished frame,
And gild with a rhyme your household name;
So you shall smile on us brave and bright,
As first you greeted the morning's light,
And live untroubled by woes and fears,
Through a second youth of a hundred years.

☞ The colored cadet, Smith, at West Point, who escaped the punishment awarded by court-martial for insubordinate conduct, because the Secretary of the War considered the sentence inadequate for the offence, has been ordered by the Sec. to be confined to the cadet barracks until February. The Secretary also severley reprimanded Smith for the same offence.

☞ George Frances Train has addressed one of his manifestoes to the President, stating that he is in prison, and demanding that war be declared against the provisional government of France, unless he is released and indemnified.

☞ An explosion in a cartridge factory at Birmingham, England, on Saturday, killed twenty persons and injured twice as many more.

☞ A Farragut monument association, of which General John A. Dix is president and John J. Cisco, treasurer, as formed in New York city.

☞ Rev. Horace Cook has been sentenced to six months at Blackwell's Island for drunkenness.

☞ There has been great loss of life and property by a flood at Victoria, New South Wales.

☞ A nugget of gold weighing 830 ounces has been found at Berlin, in South Australia.

☞ The Camden and Amboy Railroad has been leased to the Pennsylvania Central.

☞ The Navajos are on the war path again in Utah.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as the excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its wonderful character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While it yields to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, DEC. 13, 1870.

THE WAR. — Battles occurred on Thursday and Friday at Meung. Both sides were victorious, as usual.

General Ducrot has issued the following order of the day to his command:—"Vincennes, Dec. 4.—Soldiers: After two days of glorious battles you have recrossed the Marne, having found that your efforts were fruitless. When the enemy has not time to concentrate or prepare to continue the vain sacrifice of life, let us renew the contest with increased animation, and raise our hearts to the level of the sacrifice demanded by the holy cause, for which we must not hesitate to sacrifice our lives."

Preparations for great movements and fresh sorties are being made in Paris. No person is allowed to leave the city. Trochu and Ducrot were outside the walls on the 4th.

Private letters from Versailles say that the German losses before Paris and on the Loire since the 28th instant are immense. Correspondents are forbidden to communicate the truth. The official returns show the losses at over 12,000, with many returns lacking. The result of the fighting in the large circle of the investment in the east, south and southeast is that all the positions taken remain in possession of the French and under the command of their guns.

Prussia has notified the government of Luxembourg that, having allowed France to violate the neutrality of the Duchy, Prussia would no longer respect it.

A Berlin disdatch says there was an anti-war riot of a serious character, Thusday, caused by the resistance to the order drafting married men. The landwehr and police were unable to quell the riot, and the military were called out and suppressed the disorder after using great severity. If the order drafting married men is carried out it will give an additional force of 25,000 to the army. There is great impatience at the delay to conclude the war.

The London clubs are full of rumors of a speedy consummation of arrangements for peace and the restoration of the empire. Great significance is attached to the manner in which the Empress was received by Victoria at Windsor. Private advices from all parts of France indicate a reaction everywhere in favor of the restoration of the Emperor, the people contrasting twenty years of order and prosperity with the present misery and anarchy. The Tours government have proved incompetent either to conduct the war or negotiate peace. Napoleon refuses to give his sanction to any schemes for his restoration at present, saying that his part is silent inaction until the republicans either capitulate or are dispersed.

German advices admit a defeat to the Prussian army in the engagement with the army of the Loire, on the afternoon of Thursday, 8th inst. Gen. Chanzy reports to the Government at Tours that the attack of the Germans extended along the whole line, and after severe fighting the enemy was repulsed, leaving the French in possession of the field, which the latter held until Friday the 9th, when another severe engagement took place, resulting in a victory for the Prussians, under Prince Frederick Charles. There were 3 corps of the French army engaged.

REV. A. J. PATTERSON SPEAKS FOR HIMSELF.

BOSTON HIGHLANDS, Dec. 8.

Eds. Chronicle: In your issue of this morning, I find a brief notice or review of my lecture of Tuesday evening. I am obliged to you for the compliments it contains. But I always prefer justice to praise. It is your privilege of course to take the other side on the general question under discussion (though I can assure you that it was my aim to treat the subject with perfect fairness, and I am sure my position will bear the closest scrutiny and stand vindicated in the light of history). But how you came by the impression that I devoted a considerable part of my lecture to a discussion of the Catholic question, or that I was uncharitable in what I did say is a marvel to me.

I would not put a straw in the way of the Catholic church. I would guarantee to it and its members, every right and privilege which I claim for my own church or for myself. I have examined my lecture to see what occasion there was for the agitation it created on the tranquil waters of Portsmouth society, and here is the result.

In a manuscript of 58 pages I find between three and four pages devoted to the Catholic question. In a lecture of an hour and a quarter, I spoke less than five minutes on this subject. And what is the drift or bearing of that five minutes' talk.

I was speaking of the importance of universal education. This was one of the lessons especially emphasized by the war. Under this head, the real or supposed opposition of the Catholic church to our public schools came in. Now I am not one who believes that our schools are in danger. But there are many good people among us who are alarmed. We hear them often, in public and private, refer to the rapid growth of the Catholic church, and to its attitude with regard to education. As though our entire and civil and educational polity were in peril. It was my aim to quiet this fear. I gave two or three reasons why there is no occasion for alarm, as follows:

1. "If any church or party drops behind the age, and becomes an impediment to its progress, it will be left behind by the progressive spirit of the age.

2. The growth of Catholicism in this country is largely the result of immigration. Many of the descendants of the Catholic immigrants lose their interest in the church and perhaps forsake it altogether.

3. A serious attempt to subvert our system of education would unite the Protestant sects in its behalf, and even arouse in its defence many a nominal Catholic. Under this head I held the following language: "Let the Catholic church, or any church or party strike at our school system and it (not the school system but the church or party) will go to the wall. Such an attempt, resolutely persisted in, would rouse a spirit that would sweep it from the face of the Continent."

These were the positions taken. There is scarcely an intelligent Catholic in the land who will not concede that they are strictly true. I had not the slightest feeling of enmity toward that church, and have not to-day. I employed no harsh epithets in presenting my thoughts. If the Rev. Pastor of St. Mary's church had been as bright as some of his brethren, he would have seen the bearing of my remarks and given them his most hearty approval. By his unceremonious leave taking he seemed to concede, what I did not assume, that his church is behind the age, and that it does intend to interfere with our public education. This only shows how necessary it is for men to keep cool, and hear candidly and judge impartially before they condemn.

I learn that another of your prominent citizens took umbrage at my use of the word Democratic, and departed. I would like to give him in print the paragraph which offended him, so that he can read it out at his leisure. It was as follows:

"Ever since Jesus said, "call no man master, for one is your master even Christ, and all ye are brethren," men have been struggling more and more to gain their birth-right freedom. Thrones have stood in their way, principalities and powers have opposed them, they have been wronged, cheated and deceived: but they have never been defeated. I might show you if I had time, that amid all the revolutions and counter-revolutions of the past 1800 years, the Republican or Democratic principle, has been the one central and progressive principle. In watching its rise and progress in the world, tracing is amid its bloody conflicts, seeing it buried to-day but "like a kernel of wheat cast into the ground" rising to-morrow in a more glorious and fruitful form of life. I have felt that he who would write the future history of our race, must accept it as the central principle which runs through, lives in, pervades and harmonizes history."

If you will allow me a word with your neighbor; I believe I have never had the courtesy to thank him publicly for his notices of me and my endeavors, which have been freely given now for many years. Indeed I believe my name has been kept prominent in that journal from the first week of its publication, and I can say in all sincerity that it has afforded me more amusement, and in one sense, enjoyment, than all newspaper notices combined (and I have received some compliments in my time). It affords me the best endorsement, the most emphatic assurance, that I am on the right track, which I receive from any quarter, when I come to the dear old town in which we had our home for so many years. I know its instincts are essentially and radically evil. I trust the light of eternity may do something for it, but I have no hope of its reformation or improvement in this world. If it failed to meet me in the old spiteful way, I should feel as though I had failed to make myself felt in behalf of truth and righteousness. I wait to see it squirm after having spoken in Portsmouth, with something of the feeling with which a hunter waits to see if his shot has taken effect. If it did not squirm I would be disappointed. It generally squirms and a voice says "well done." I will be obliged to it, if it will respond to these expressions of gratitude, in the old caustic way.

One word further. I supposed the Portsmouth public knew me well enough, to know that I do not turn aside from what I regard as the truth, to spare anybody's pet sins. If they have not found me out, I take this occasion to inform them that when they arrange another "course of lectures," if they expect that the speakers are to echo everybody's opinions, and steer clear of everybody's prejudices, and touch the living questions with gloved fingers, they will oblige me by keeping my name off from the list of speakers. With me life is a very real and serious thing. I feel something of its responsibilities. The interests of truth and country and humanity are a weight on my heart. I have no time for the writing or the uttering of "glittering generalities," that don't mean anything. If the Lyceum Platform is dedicated to fine spun nothings, ask me not to stand upon it for an hour.

Trusting that this little ripple will serve to purify the waters, and wishing you and your city, peace and prosperity. Respectfully Yours. A. J. PATTERSON.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice. The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome, and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this vitalizing tonic will as certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawlwd10

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally bad case of disease of the lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Partridge. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and by medicines, were improving well.

Five hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river and is more healthy, perhaps, impossibleto take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then they do well. At Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in the winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than anywhere else, on account of the temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly. I therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds, such as Jacksonville, etc., or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, enlarged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. As people are apt to say, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and I know my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that people in Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, the population at least of the northern part die from this disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of instances where, if the proper medicines, and in the proper way, had been used, they would have saved a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which is not of sufficient moment to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and more fatal, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give the three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens, and starts, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take the exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as long as his strength will permit, and then lie down and up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact is, I believe, I can safely extend that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of those secreted to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find many good consumptives who have been restored from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave no mercury in the system behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, take one of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or any other fruit, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. They are purely vegetable, harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M., where a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the success of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of present or future irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Temple—P. M. L. A.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ The Ladies of the North Parish will hold a Fair at their new Chapel on Middle Street, Dec. 21st and 22d.

☞ A. M. Payson, Esq., of this city, was chosen one of the Vice Presidents of the State Teachers' Association, last week, at Concord.

☞ The next meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the Methodist Vestry on Daniel Street, to-morrow (Wednesday) evening at half past 7 o'clock.

☞ The Fourth Lyceum entertainment comes off this evening. James P. Bartlett, Esq., is to read Oliver Goldsmith's Comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer." See advertisement.

☞ The prophet says "Gordon knows where to put out his money." The prophet knows, if anybody does. He doesn't see $23 every day of the week, and pocketed it so quick that the "agent" wished he had offered a dollar and a half, instead.

CRYSTAL WEDDING.—Mr. and Mrs. Leander Garland, of Newcastle, were called upon on Saturday evening by a large party of their friends, the occasion being the third anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Morrill made an address that expressed the good wishes of the visitors, and after the company had partaken of the abundance furnished them, Mr. V. Doane, Jr., presented the many beautiful and useful gifts of the visitors, in a neat speech, which was suitably responded to by Mr. Garland. The affair was most agreeable for all concerned.

☞ A correspondent writes us that "The corrupt practices of politicians on your Navy Yard are not only disgusting in the extreme (to the virtuous Democracy, who think it should be run as they always ran it, solely in the interests of the Democratic party), but their contaminating influences are being felt in distant quarters. I see by the New York papers that 'Boss' Tweed, Grand Sachem of the pure Tammany Hall Democracy, has discharged between five and six thousand men from public works since election, and the idea is engendered in the minds of these simple laborers that they were taken on (or taken in) for the sake of their votes, as they were employed just before election. By all means let this Radical corruption be frowned down."

☞ Between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock on Sunday night last, watchman Cate discovered a bright light in the building corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets, occupied by the Mechanics' Protective Union Association. Thinking it might be on fire, or that there was something irregular in the appearance of things, he aroused the owner of the building, Mr. Isaac Dow, who, with the assistance of some others, procured ladders and endeavored to effect an entrance. They failed however to find any window or door whereby they could gain admittance, save by forcing; which latter course was regarded as unnecessary, after it had been ascertained by peering thro' a hole in the shutter that the light seen was that of a gas burner in full blaze. Two watchmen were detailed to watch the premises during the remainder of the night, and the rest of the party went home. There are strong suspicions prevailing that there is something wrong about matters connected with this store, and the case will doubtless bear "working up."

KEENE, Dec. 7th, 1870.

My Dear Sir;—Yours of yesterday is at hand and I hasten to inform you that I will be with you, Providence permitting, on Thursday evening, 15th inst., to talk to the people of "Strawberry Bank" about California. With high regard and esteem, your friend and servant, JAMES WILSON.

THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION for this District meets tomorrow, Wednesday, at Dover, under different circumstances than have ever before been presented. Personally, none of the candidates are very objectionable to their opponents, but the manner in which, it is charged, certain delegates to the Convention have been secured, is so manifestly distasteful to the party at large, that some action seems necessary to prevent future disorganization and demoralization.

The Republicans of this District are not so strong that they can depart from principle without loss. If money has been used to bribe delegates and secure them for any man, the very fact should prove disastrous to any such candidate whose name shall be brought before the Convention. The precedent is all wrong, and if not perceptible to a great extent now, will be found so ere long should an unfortunate nomination result therefrom.

The Republicans of this District are too intelligent and honest to endorse bribery in primary or other elections, which they would readily prove could the Convention be postponed a few weeks and new delegates chosen. As it is, a feeling has been awakened throughout the District, which once aroused is not easily repressed. We expect this feeling to be faithfully reflected by a majority of the delegates in Convention, for with present indications there should be none so blind who cannot see that any candidate who might be nominated by the use of money, would require a greater outlay after his nomination to secure an election than may have been expended before. This may not be as important to persons who would sell themselves or be led around by the nose by whiffling politicians, whose endorsement of Andrew Johnson is not yet forgotten, and who have everything to gain and nothing to lose. We hope a nomination will be made honestly and satisfactorily, not in the interest of any particular clique or faction, and that the nominee will prove an acceptable candidate to the masses of the Republican party of this District.

Our Correspondence.

RYE, Dec. 12th.

It has been generally reported that the delegates to the Congressional Convention from Rye are for Gordon, and it is quite likely that one of them is, at least, and perhaps both, but no preference for any of the candidates was discussed in the caucuses,—unless the reply of one of the delegates to a question as to who he should vote for, is to be regarded of any account. He said he thought that "Wheeler was entitled to the nomination," but whether he is really for him or not, is another thing. Their are many Republicans in Rye who would prefer some other man than Gordon, who—whether it is just or not—has had created a feeling against him by the reported use of his money, in buying up delegates. R.

—The snug little craft "Edith Belle Nason" took her departure for Galveston and a market early in the week from Pierce's wharf, and was last heard of laying at Portsmouth bridge, waiting for the raising of the draw. The day before sailing her master shipped two green hands from the country, who decamped early in the morning with their month's wages in advance, the Captain's quadrant, and the mate's revolver.—Dover Gazette.

☞ A business meeting of the Publishers, Editors and Printers' Association will be held at the Phenix Hotel, Concord, on Monday, Dec. 19, at 4 o'clock, P. M.

☞ Conway has chosen Wheeler delegates.

—"No, my dear Lizzie," said a mother to her daughter, who had been taking a nap before dressing for the evening party, "you needn't rearrange your hair: you couldn't make it more scrambled if you tried."

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

A Y E R ' S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

A TALE OF THE COLONY TIMES.

Continued.

CHAPTER III.

Some months previous to Governor Cranfield's arrival in the province, a young man, bearing the name of Frederic Vane, had arrived at Portsmouth from the colony of New York, with private letters of importance for that gentleman. As the governor was not expected to arrive until October, and the mansion chosen for his residence was undergoing extensive alterations, the youth took up his quarters at the principal inn. The settlement suffered much from an epidemic fever that season, and, among others, the landlord and the young stranger were both seized with it. As was then the custom, the minister and his family were everywhere among the sufferers, not only to sympathize and advise, but to help.

Mr. Moody, seeing that both the patients could not have the necessary care bestowed upon them at the inn, had the young stranger removed to his own house. As was usual with the members of his profession at that time, he possessed considerable knowledge of medicine, and, aided by the excellent nursing of Aunt Menta, to say nothing of her wonderful syrups, prepared after a receipt given to her sainted mother by one of the Bourchier family, and used in the family of the Lord Protector himself, according to the good dame, together with the gentle ministry of Sibyl, what wonder, the crisis once passed, that the youth grew rapidly convalescent? What wonder that the gentle stranger—so patient in his illness, so eloquent in his gratitude—grew as rapidly dear to the minister's family?

Mr. Moody was a scholar, a graduate of one of England's universities. The members of his flock were men of sound sense and respectable attainments, but they cared little for the classic lore of the schools; therefore, the good man the more keenly enjoyed this daily intercourse with a mind so well cultured, so ingenuous, so full of noble aspirations, as that of his young friend and guest.

Ill, a stranger in a strange land, this was, as thank Heaven, it ever has been with woman, sufficient reason for the interest with which Aunt Menta and Sibyl watched over him. But, as the weeks went on, and the flush of health deepened on his cheek and lit up his proud, dark eyes, was it still only this that gave the sudden impetus to the young blood of the maiden at the sound of his step, and sent it, blushing like a rosy dawn, over neck and cheek whenever he stole upon her unawares?

Or, as he read, with his clear, low voice and distinct enunciation, those works which bear fruit for all time—the glorious essays of John Milton—to the delighted old minister, was it mere gratitude, and nothing more, that led him, at each divine truth and sublime thought, to invariably turn to her, as if he sought to gather from her sweet face a double harvest of pleasure?

So they thought; and, perhaps, the whole experience of life does not contain hours of purer, more unalloyed happiness, than this unconscious growth of love, this slow unfolding of the heart's flower, ere passion hath breathed upon its leaves for fruition or decay.

But we cannot dream forever, and the hours, which linger only in the presence of sorrow, soon brought the awakening.

The business which had brought him to Portsmouth was arranged, and on the evening which preceded his departure for England, Sibyl and he found themselves alone in the large old sitting-room of the parsonage. The minister had been suddenly called forth on some errand of mercy, and Aunt Menta was still busy with her household labors in the kitchen. The night was dark and blustering, but a bright fire blazed in the wide fireplace, giving a cheerful aspect to the room, near which sat Sibyl, gazing intently at the glowing embers, while Frederic Vane paced restlessly the oaken floor.

The maiden started suddenly, as a gust of wind drove a shower of heavy rain-drops against the window, and turning her sorrowful face towards him, said, eagerly:

"Hear you that, Frederick? The 'Adventure' will not sail to-morrow. You will stay with us another day; perhaps another week."

"Sibyl," said the young man, suddenly pausing before her, and taking both her hands in his, "you will never forget me?"

"Forget you!—you, my brother!" said the young girl, raising her tear-dimmed eyes to his face.

"Brother!" repeated he, impatiently. "Do not call me so again."

"And why not, Frederic? You promised to be my brother always."

"Because, because," he said impatiently, "there is a love stronger, deeper, truer, even, than a brother's. I have heard of it, but now I know it—I feel it; and you, Sibyl,"—he paused and gazed down into her eyes, until the tremulous, white lids dropped, and the color in her cheek went and came like the changeful lights in the northern sky,—"you, too, feel and know it," he added, as he drew her to him with a glance of joy.

For one moment her fair head rested on his breast as he whispered, "No, we cannot forget, dearest Sibyl. In two years I shall return to claim"—

The quick step of Aunt Menta upon the threshold interrupted his words, but he could not fail to read aright the expression of those beautiful eyes that for one second met his, as she hurriedly slipped from his arms and escaped from the room.

When she returned, she found her father there, and two of the chief men of the town, who wished to avail themselves of the young man's return, to transmit letters to their friends in England.

It is questionable whether either of the young people profited much by the sage remarks of the gentlemen, on the probable length of the "Adventure's" voyage, the prospect of fair weather, etc.; but his silence only raised him in their esteem.

"A very discreet and sensible youth; one who has a proper respect for his elders," observed Mr. Amesbury to his companion, as they left the house.

Mr. Moody had, indeed, noticed the thoughtful silence of his young guest, but even his heart, schooled to submission by many a sore trial, grew sad at the thought of parting, and he did not deem it strange. The slight interruption caused by the departure of the gentlemen had scarcely subsided, and the family once more gathered in silence around the hearth, when they were startled by a message from the captain of the ship, saying, that as there was a prospect of fine weather, and the wind was getting to be fair and steady, the gentleman had best come on board within a half hour or so, as he should probably sail at flood-tide.

His trunks were already on board; still there were bustle and confusion in the minister's quiet dwelling, for each of its members had thought of something more for his comfort. Then they once more gathered in that room, and Sibyl, with the self-restraint peculiar to her puritan training, forced back her sobs, while her father's low voice was heard in fervent petitions for Heaven's blessings upon their young friend in all his wanderings. Then the young man's head was bowed to receive his blessing. Aunt Menta's good wishes responded to, and repeated directions concerning his health listened to with due respect, he turned to Sibyl. For some seconds he pressed her hands in silence, while his lips trembled as he gazed into her tearful eyes. "God bless you, Sibyl! You will not forget," he murmured, at length.

"The child will not be likely to forget," replied the old man, with a smile. "We shall all miss you much, my son, and think of you often with prayers."

"But she should have something to remind her of me," he said, taking from his own neck a locket attached to a light gold chain. "You will permit her to wear this for my sake, dear sir; nor will she prize it the less because it was the gift of my only sister."

The old man smiled, as he replied, "Be it so; youth seeks to remember, old age to forget. Such is life, my children."

The maiden bent her head while the young man threw the chain over her neck, and her cheek glowed like the rose when she again lifted it, for she saw that the light hair of the sister, which she had often seen within the locket, had given place to a lock of darker hue.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to scare it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade, perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 32 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be supplied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and ready for use in Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

A TALE OF THE COLONY TIMES.

CHAPTER IV.

On the day succeeding Christmas, the congregation of the faithful, in the town of Portsmouth, came up to the house of the Lord with countenances grave and severe, for one of their own number had fallen into grievous sin, and moreover, the arbitrary proceedings of General Cranfield weighed heavily upon their hearts. Yet a gleam of stern joy lit up more than one face at the thought of the quiet yet decided rebuke conveyed in the conduct of the people on the preceding day; and the light of eternal truth which they did hold, though oftentimes warped and perverted by human error, never shone more brightly than on that day, darkened as it was by the shadow of future trouble.

The service for the day was over when the minister proceeded to lay before the church the case of John Denney, a member, charged with perjury. He stated the case in detail; but it is sufficient for us to say, that this Denney was the owner of a vessel which had been seized by Randolph, on plea of defrauding the revenue. Her master, however, found means to elude the vigilance of his agents, and one morning she was missing from the harbor. Her owner protested that he knew nothing of the affair, but, upon his trial, there appeared abundant testimony to the contrary. He soon found the means to compound the matter with the governor and Randolph, but the church, of which he had long been a member, were not so easily satisfied.

Mr. Moody, though he knew he was particularly obnoxious to the governor and his party, on account of the plainness and freedom of his speech, shrank from no trial in the way of duty. He felt that the purity of his church was at stake, and addressed a respectable note to the governor, requesting a copy of the evidence against Denney, that he might be tried according to their ecclesiastical discipline. The governor had replied, and, upon this letter, Mr. Moody particularly wished for the opinion and counsel of the brethren. He rose and read it in a firm, unfaltering voice, and with an undisturbed countenance though the faces around him grew dark with indignation. Thus ran the missive:

"We ourselves have pardoned the man, and those to whom we see fit to extend our mercy are not to be questioned by any self-constituted authority; therefore, molest him at your peril."

"My brethren," resumed the old man, after a pause of some moments, "when in my early manhood I dedicated myself to the service of God, to break the bread of life to his scattered and suffering people, I cast from me all fear of bodily peril, and have ever striven to act in all things with a single eye to God's glory. Therefore, I have but one answer to make to this man whom the majesty of England hath set to rule over us. Ye have heard his words, my brethren; and it is reserved unto you to say whether this church, gathered amid suffering and trouble, and nurtured with so many prayers and tears, shall serve God or man. Let such as fear Him, rather than man, arise."

The congregation rose to a man, and the minister looked down on a crowd of faces, seamed and scarred by many a battle with both temporal and spiritual foes, in many cases pale and haggard from illness, but firm and undismayed, ready to strengthen his hands, even as Aaron and Hur strengthened the hands of Moses in the battle of the Lord.

Then followed a unanimous vote to notify the offending brother that his trial would take place on the ensuing week, and a committee was appointed to visit him once more, to urge upon him the duty of confession.

It was the wish of the brethren that the old minister should prepare a sermon upon false swearing for the ensuing Sabbath; and, while he was busy in his study, how sped the time with his daughter?

Still lighted by hope, although, but by that one glance of recognition, Frederic Vane had not as yet manifested a knowledge of her existence, yet, like all her sex, her invention providing excuses for the being she loved, was inexhaustible. A dark tempest was gathering over her own and her old father's head, while she, in her unsuspecting truth and innocence, lived on in hope and trust.

Before another Sabbath, John Denney, touched by the earnest prayers and expostulations of his brethren, came before them, and made ample confession of his guilt, and, with fitting censure, was forgiven. It would be difficult to describe the anger and mortification of the royal governor when he heard of these proceedings. His occasional outbursts were the more frightful from the strong self-control which he was obliged to place upon himself in the presence of his guests, many of whom were spending the holydays with him. Randolph, whose interest in the matter was equal to the governor's, seemed to forget his own anger in the malicious pleasure he took in probing that of the latter.

One evening, after the ladies had withdrawn, and the gentlemen, some
